SELECT RANCHES ON WHICH TO EXPERIMENT

O. A. C. Expert Starts Actual Trials On Fertilizers and On Drainage - In County Three Projects Underway Now - Fund Being Collected

W. W. Johnston who is in charge of the soil investigations being started in this county, under supervision of the Department of Soils of the Agricultural College, has decided on locations for the different experiments and is getting the work under way as fast as possible. The drainage and alkali experiments will be made on a tract of medium loam soil, highly impregnated with alkali on the Burrell farm two miles south of Vale. Mr. Burrell will install the drain and is at work on it at present, the sluicing method being the way in which it is proposed to dig the ditch. A number of different chemicals and various cropping plans will be tried out, all of which will be checked up with chemical tests to determine the rapidity with which the alkali is removed under the respective treatments.

A fertilizer trial with about eight different chemical fertilizers will be made on alfalfa. This work will be done near Vale, probably on the V. T. Herrett farm according to present plans. The material for this experiment arrived by freight a few days ago and will be put on the plate as soon as Mr. Johnston can get them marked off. A three-year rotation of clover, corn and wheat will be started on the T. W. Claggett farm near Ontario. The land will be laid off in plots and various fertilizers used in order to test the value of such materials on more productive soils of the county, when growing staple field crops. If there is any element lacking in the soil, these trials will show it. Virgin soils sometimes contain enough of all the essential elements, but the production of crops soon reduces one or more to a point where yields are affected. It is important to know about any such possibilities in advance in order to correct it before the land becomes "worn out".

This work is being conducted under a cooperative arrangement between the Department of Soils and local people. Owing to lack of sufficient funds to conduct the work here without dropping similar work already started in other places, the College was unable to undertake it without local assistance. Estimates of the cost showed the need of about $700 per year for a two year period. Members of the farm bureau committee on soil improvement have been taking subscriptions on this fund and have been able to secure about fifty per cent of the required sum.

LOCAL PRODUCT SHOW ATTRACTS ATTENTION

Boyer Bros. Window Displays and Food Demonstrations Call Attention to Possibilities of This Region Graphically

One of the best and most varied displays ever shown in an Ontario institution was the Snake River Valley products show which was presented by Boyer Brothers Saturday to Tuesday.

All of the windows on the Oregon street and on the California street sides of the store were replete with evidences of what this region can produce. From seed grains to flour there were samples of the products, as well as from concrete pipe to babies pictures and from canned fruits to bakery bread and pastry.

Many people stopped to view the displays and taste the samples offered by the demonstrators and both what they saw and what they tasted pleased.

Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Hunt of Nyssa were Ontario visitors today.

FORMER ONTARIAN TO RUN STARCH FACTORY

A Von Readen With Associate To Open Plant at Gresham for Manufacture of Starch Says Gresham Outlook

A. Von Readen, who until a year or so ago was a resident of Ontario in the Cairo region, southwest of Ontario with an associate has undertaken the manufacture of starch at a factory in Gresham, near Portland, according to the Gresham Outlook, a copy of which was received by the Argus this week. In telling of the new industry the Outlook says:

A. Von Readen and J. W. Carroll, of Portland, have become interested in the Northwest Potato Starch & Milling company and are preparing to open the factory at Gresham and make it productive this year. J. F. Griffith, who understands the German method of starch manufacture probably better than anyone else in this part of the country, will have charge of the manufacturing end of the plant. The new men are greatly interested in the factory, see its possibilities and are backing up their interest by substantial investments. J. A. Turner was in Gresham early this week with Mr. Von Readen making the latter acquainted with the locality. Mr. Von Readen has been a successful eastern Oregon farmer and thinks Gresham is an admirable location for a starch plant and is taking up the business as financial manager with creditable enthusiasm. He states that Mr. Carroll is to have charge of the sales department. In connection with the new investment arrangements have been made for advances on credits by a Portland bank.

Additions are being made to the machinery. Three new tubs and a belt dryer are being installed which will enable the plant to conserve more of the valuable contents of the potato in the way of potato flour and starch.

It is expected to start the wheels turning early next week. Farmers will be solicited for their cull potatoes, of which there are quantities in the country, and the plant expects a run lasting nearly three months.

The factory has been in financial straits for about a year but adjustments have been made to satisfy all concerned and the factory now starts up with every assurance of permanent and successful operation.

CONVICT PREFERS A PERFUMED REVENGE TO CRUDE VIOLENCE

Killing was too inartistic a revenge to take upon the woman who was threatening his daughter's happiness, according to "Heliotope Harry". He favored something more subtle, something that would inspire terror without involving even the laying on of a hand.

So "Heliotope", the convict, the ex-"lifer", concocted a scheme of revenge marvelously clever and uncannily effective. Just a whiff of heliotrope perfume—that was all that was needed to bring a hardened woman, the accomplice of gangsters and crooks, groveling to his feet.

How? And Why?

The answers will be found at the Majestic Theatre next Sunday and Monday, when "Heliotope", the latest Cosmopolitan photoplay, will be shown. The picture was adopted from a story by Richard Washburn Child, Frederick Burton, Wilfred Lytell, Diana Allen and Julia Swayne Gordon play the chief roles.

"SINS OF ROSANNA" EXCITING PICTURE, UNUSUAL THEME

Ethel Clayton is Star in New Mystery-Romance of Africa

One of the most extraordinary photoplay plots ever conceived is unfolded in "Sins of Rosanna", starring Ethel Clayton and to be shown at the Dreamland Theatre Sunday and Monday. The picture was adapted from a story by Cynthia Stockley well known for her romantic tales of South Africa such as "April Folly", "Blue Aloes", and "The Claw". The action takes place among the European and native colonies at Kimberley, near the famous diamond mines. Rosanna, the heroine, when an infant and dangerously near death, is taken in charge by a native Malayan woman and not only saved, but imbued with an uncanny craving for bright stones and the gift of bringing misfortune upon those whom she dislikes. She becomes involved in a diamond smuggling scheme, but is finally rescued by the love that enters her life from the Malay's charm.
