MORAL HEROISM STERNEST TEST OF MAN'S CHARACTER

No Greater Character Portrayal Ever Devised Than That in "His Own Law" in Which Hobart
Bosworth Is Star

Lovers of tough-fisted and strong-minded heroes will find Hobart Bosworth's impersonation of J. C. MacNeir, construction engineer, in the latest Goldwyn-J. Parker Road, Jr. production, "His Own Law," one of the surest and truest delineations of the able, sturdy hero that this finished actor has made for the screen. J. C. MacNeir, a successful construction engineer, has formed the habit of going on a spree at the conclusion of every successful job. On one of these, he has an encounter with a young Frenchman, with whom he later makes friends and bunks for the night in a cheap lodging house. Upon MacNeir's return to his business, he is called upon to undertake a long engineering task in Chinook, Alaska. He takes his acquaintance with him, and together they begin the long job.

From the other end of the world comes Sylvia to settle the matter of a deed for an aunt back home. Neir, construction engineer, in the meets the girl and the inevitable call of youth to youth follows.

During the progress of their summer idyll comes the awful summons to France: "Report at once to the for transportation to Bordeaux where you will join your regiment."

The first few months of Jean's absence came to a crashing climax for Sylvia in the receipt of a telegram saying that her lover had been killed in action.

Four years passed, during which Jean Savat's little son had awakened a great love in the heart of MacNeir.

And then, Jean Savat came back. He found Sylvia and MacNeir and little Jean. The situation was plain to him. His friend—and Sylvia even—had betrayed him he thought.

In the end, it was Sylvia who decided. What she decided and who was the stronger to bear the burden of defeat, forms the powerful climax of this thrilling photodrama. It will be presented at the Majestic theatre Tuesday, June 21.

DOUGLAS MACLEAN, DORIS MAY STAR IN SPARKLING COMEDY

Youthful Ince Players Are Pair
Of Newlyweds in "Let's
Be Fashionable"

Douglas MacLean and Doris May will be the attraction at the Majestic Theatre next Sunday and Monday in their latest screen comedy, "Let's Be Fashionable."

It is the story of a young married pair with limited means and their efforts to keep up with the social swim at a swell summer resort. To be in style, both secure themselves "affinities" and get into all sorts of humorous complications. When they have at last extricated themselves from the mess, they decide that it is better to be happy than to be fashionable.

ROBERT WARWICK IS GAY ADVENTURER IN NEW STORY

"The Fourteenth Man," Adapted
From English Play, Is Lively Love Story

A new romantic comedy picture, "The Fourteenth Man," featuring Robert Warwick, will be the attraction at the Majestic Theatre Thursday.

The story centers around one Captain Gordon, of a Highland regiment, whose chivalric penchant for championing the underdog leads him to assault a superior officer and leave England speedily to avoid the consequences. In New York he encounters Marjory Seaton, who is being influenced by her unscrupulous guardians to marry a man she doesn't love. Through a sudden friendship for her Captain Gordon is plunged into a new series of adventures, including a ten-round prize fight with a professional. Matters are finally cleared up happily, with the Captain, of course, claiming Marjory for his own.

The cast surrounding Robert Warwick includes pretty Bebe Daniels.

HARRY CAREY

The Stranger came galloping over the ridge and dipped down into the hollow that shielded the wicked town of Broken-Buckle from the eyes of the world.

The first woman that he saw was Zoe Whipple. She liked his flashing smile and his air of bravado, yet, after a few moments' conversation she turned away from him as though he were accursed.

A few days later she stopped the stranger in front of the Headlight Saloon and Gambling Hall and lashed him with a horsewhip. As the stinging lash bit into his flesh he smiled a strange smile. When she had spent her fury he turned away and laughed.

Who was the stranger? Why did he come so unexpectedly to Broken Buckle and why did Zoe Whipple hate him and love him, horsewhip him and kiss him?

For one of the strangest reasons that you can imagine. To tell it now would be unfair to several thousands who will make it a point to be here next Saturday when the first local screening will be had of Harry Carey's latest Universal action-drama, "The Freeze Out." The dashing Universal star is in a new dramatic mood in "The Freeze Out" and Helen Ferguson plays opposite—all of which makes the picture one of the best western features of the year.

NEW FOX PLAY STARS COWBOY BUCK JONES

The attraction at the Majestic Theatre Friday will be "Two Moons" starring Buck Jones, the Fox cowboy star. Great things in the way of a treat for the thousands of admirers of this handsome young actor are promised in this picture.

New stunts of daring, new situations to stir the blood and thrill the heart, are said to have been used in "Two Moons," with the star himself at his best. Jones' winning personality and his prowess as a daredevil never were given fuller play in any picture.
