

OBITUARY

VIVIAN FRANCIS MALLET

Vivian Francis Mallett, son of Charles W. Mallett and Mary W. Mallett, was born January 6th, 1896 at the Mallett home, located between Vale and Ontario, Malheur County, Oregon. He was their fifth and youngest son.

Charles W. Mallett and family were of the early settlers in the Malheur River Valley, locating here in the year 1881, at the place where they now reside, the family being of New England ancestry.

At the time the United States entered the World's War, the object of this obituary was in the Forestry Service in California, preparing for entering the University of California at Berkeley, to complete his education, but upon his country's call he volunteered his services, and on August 5th, 1917, he was duly mustered in at San Francisco, California, and assigned to Battery "C" of the 144th Field Artillery, being organized at Camp Tanforan, near San Francisco, and known as the "California Grizzlies." Battery "C" being under the command of Captain Stewart Edward White.

In December, 1917, Vivian was taken ill and suffered through a seige of pneumonia, which confined him to the army hospital at that camp for several weeks, and as he was convalescing a mastoid abscess developed necessitating an operation for relief, which was performed on January 26th, 1918.

On March 18th, 1919, he was honorably discharged from the service on account of total disability, to San Diego, California, and taken into the care of his mother, and brother Harold, where he continued to receive treatment until June 9th, 1919, when he was removed to his parents' home in this county, where he remained and received treatment until December 4th, 1920, on which date he was taken to the United States Public Health Service Hospital, Boise, Idaho, and placed under the care of that institution up to the time of his death, which occurred July 29th, 1921, his demise resulting from such affliction.

From his first entrance into Camp Kearney Hospital until the time of his death, his physical condition was that of helplessness, requiring constant attention and skillful treatment; and requiring assistance to even change his position in bed. No words can properly describe the pain, suffering and torture which he was compelled to endure, but he was uncomplaining through those many months, exemplifying a power of fortitude that could not be surpassed by human being. To his family, friends and attendants, he was cheerful to an extent that filled all with hope for his ultimate relief but all knew that he could never be restored to prime physical manhood, they felt, however, that his mentality was such that with such relief as reasonably could be expected, his life would be one of usefulness and assistance to his fellow-beings.

After confession of faith he was baptized in and united with the United Presbyterian Church, at San Diego, California, in June, 1918, and the inspiration of a Christian faith brought to his support an endurance that produced that strength and fortitude that has Divinely sanctified Christian martyrs.

Funeral services over his remains were held at the Presbyterian Church in Ontario, Oregon, July 22, 1921, under the auspices of the American Legion Posts of Ontario, and Vale, Oregon, the deceased being a member of Julian Lowe Post of the American Legion, at Vale, Oregon.

Interment was made at the cemetery at Ontario, Oregon, under military form, with farewell volleys and bugle taps, and under the colors of his Country, that he had respected and loved to the last, and for which he made what might justly be termed a superhuman sacrifice. Requiescat in Pace.

Of his immediate family he leaves the following to mourn his early and lamentable demise: Mr. and Mrs. Mallett, his parents; four brothers, Albert Howard, Harold and Stanley; and five sisters, Panay, Alice, Isabelle, Mary and Mrs. P. W. Campbell.

During about all the time of his suffering and affliction his most constant attendant was his noble and loving mother, who by her faithfulness of administering to his needs held him with us for such length of time, she having more to do therewith than all others combined, again evidencing that highest degree of love and constancy that God only delegated to a mother's keeping, because of its purity and sacredness, through all ages.

His bravery as a soldier in the cause of right and justice, while not tested and proven upon the field of battle or in conflict, was most certainly tested and thoroughly proven when combating with war's greatest ally, dread disease, for to the last he was loyal to his Country's need, and complained not of its cause, and is truly one of its heroes.

We shall only think that he has passed beyond the mists that blind us here and has come to the end of the Rainbow of Promise; "Not for ourselves, but for our Country," and has crossed the Barrier to greet the dawn of eternal peace.

"To do is to succeed—our fight is waged in Heaven's approving sight—
The smile of God is victory."

BEND CAPTURES ITS CONVENTION GUESTS

around the campfire on the shores of that mountain lake will be the choicest memory of years to those present.

At this dinner A. Whelan, editor of the Bend Press presided and a quartette from Bend from a boat on the lake furnished a musical obligation to the speakers.

After a piping breakfast of hotcakes and bacon many of the party took hikes into the mountains or fished while others returned to Bend homeward bound.

Everywhere that men of the convention gathered following the convention there was but one subject discussed—the Bend spirit of hospitality and co-operation. This was indeed an inspiration. Though Bend has mills that can produce two hundred million feet of lumber per year, though she has box factories that can turn out 100 car loads of box shoots per month, though she has unlimited water power, yet her greatest resource is the will-to-do of her people, and the inspiration of the glorious mountain scenery of the Cascades.

GROWERS' ASSOCIATION TO HANDLE WHEAT

In a letter just received from Edgar L. Ludwig, organization manager, Oregon Cooperative Grain Growers' Association, by L. R. Brethaupt, County Agent, the following information concerning this organization was given:

"Grain Growers Association Now Handling Wheat"
"Twenty-one hundred farmers have signed the Association contract and will turn over to the Association some five million bushels of wheat this harvest. Approximately 800 of these men are from the Willamette Valley."

At the recent election of the Board of directors A. R. Shumway of Milton was again chosen President and he, together with C. A. Harth of The Dalles and V. H. Smith of Wasco, constitute the executive committee.

The first 1921 wheat to be handled was two cars of Turkey Red consigned by Wash McKinney of Blalock, and O. J. Cox of Ione. 1920 wheat was received from Leo Niederer of Summerville, H. R. Shintaffer of Lostine, Nothnagel Brothers of Alice and E. S. Kruse of Sherwood. A cash advance of approximately 70% of the value of this wheat was made immediately upon receipt of the wheat tickets or the bills of lading.

The Oregon Association have opened offices at 207 Title and Trust Bldg. and the Northwest Wheat Growers Association, which is the sales agency of the Oregon, Washington, Idaho and Montana Grain Growers Associations have also opened a branch office in the Railway Exchange Bldg. and members of the Association are invited to call at these offices whenever they are in Portland.

The Directors of the Oregon Association and General Manager Jewett, of the Northwest Sales Agency, are bending every effort in perfecting satisfactory arrangements for adequately financing the growers as fast as their wheat tickets are turned over to the Association. Mr. Jewett has just returned from the East where he has spent some time in arranging for money from Eastern capitalists to be used in supplementing finances obtainable from the Oregon banks and the Association at this time plans to advance to the grower approximately 70% of the sales value of the wheat when the wheat tickets are turned over to the Association. Where a crop mortgage is held on the grain, the Association will apply any portion of the advance value necessary to permit the moving of the grain, this payment being made directly to the parties holding the mortgage where it is so desired and arranged for.

The Association will not be in a position to handle sacks this year except in emergency cases. The grower will obtain them where ever most convenient for himself. If necessary, the grower can give a "grower's order" on the Association for the payment of the sack bill, but unless this is demanded by the firm handling the sacks, it will probably be more convenient for the grower to make the payment from his advance money. In emergency cases, where the grower is absolutely unable to obtain his sacks at home, the Association will assist him in obtaining them.

Walter Cobick and family went to Starkey Hot Springs, Sunday. Mr. Cobick returned Monday leaving his family there for a while.

FORMER ONTARIO GIRL MARRIED

A wedding of interest to Ontario people was reported to the Argus, when Miss Jean Conklin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Conklin of Ontario, was united in marriage to Richard Leonidas Young of Charlotte, North, Carolina. Miss Conklin is well known in this community, having graduated from the High School here several years ago, and is a very charming girl with a host of friends.

Following is a report of the ceremony taken from the society columns of the Charlotte Observer, of Wednesday, July 20, Charlotte, North Carolina:

"In a ceremony characterized by beauty and charming simplicity Miss Jean Conklin, of Ontario, Oregon, and Mr. Richard Leonidas Young, of this city, were married yesterday afternoon at 4:15 o'clock at Ninth Avenue Baptist church, the pastor Rev. Dr. L. R. Pruett, officiating.

"A mass of palms and ferns formed the background for the wedding. Miss Louise Young, sister of the bridegroom, presided at the organ. Prior to the ceremony she rendered "Cavatina" with violin obligato by Mr. C. A. Workman. There were no attendants.

"When the notes of "The Bridal Chorus" from "Lohengrin" were sounded the officiating minister entered the church from the rear of the pulpit. The bride and bridegroom entered together passing down the right aisle. The bride was pretty in handsome traveling suit of dark blue tulle and jade hat. She wore a corsage of bride roses and swansons.

"The ring ceremony was used and during the service "Souvenir" was played by Miss Young and Mr. Workman. Mendelssohn's march was rendered for the recessional.

"The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene B. Conklin, of Ontario, Oregon, the former a prominent rancher of eastern Oregon and formerly superintendent of the schools at Pendleton and Ontario. Her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Otto Eckersley, of Cove, Oregon, were among the pioneers in Oregon. Mrs. Young was educated at the Oregon State college, where she was a member of Pi Beta Phi sorority. During the world war she volunteered for nursing service and was called during the height of the influenza epidemic. She was stationed at the base hospital at Camp Lewis, Tacoma, Washington, and while there first met Mr. Young. She spent last winter in Charlotte and was a valuable and popular member of the faculty of the city schools, teaching at the First Ward school. She is a young woman of bright intellect and is pretty and attractive with winning personality, and during her stay in Charlotte has won many friends.

Mr. Young is the only son of Mrs. Margaret Leonora Ross and comes from a well known South Carolina family. He was graduated from the University of North Carolina and is a young man of splendid ability and sterling qualities of character. He is a national officer of the Pi Kappa Phi fraternity. During the world war he was commissioned second lieutenant of field artillery, receiving his instruction from the field artillery central officers' training school, Camp Taylor, Louisville, Ky., and from there was ordered to Camp Lewis, Wash. Mr. Young has been a member of the reportorial staff of The Charlotte Observer for the past two years and is a young newspaper man of much promise. He possesses genial manners and a pleasing personality and commands a wide circle of friends throughout the Carolinas.

"On their return to the city Mr. and Mrs. Young will make their home with Mr. Young's mother, Mrs. Ross, on Beaumont Avenue, Piedmont Park.
