FARM REMINDERS
 Female canker worm moths, which appear late in the fall or early in spring, cannot fly and so must crawl into the branches where they deposit eggs. This they may be prevented from doing by encircling the trunk of the trees with bands of tree tangiefoot or with mechanical protectors.—O. A. C. Experiment station.

Rose mildew may be kept under control in warm weather by dusting frequently with the finest of dust sulfur. As the disease is carried by spores borne on infected leaves all old leaves should be removed and destroyed when the rose bushes are pruned in the spring. If the disease is kept down till blooming time it is not likely except in very rainy weather to cause trouble later.—O. A. C. Ex. Station.

 A very good pasture mixture for lands that are somewhat flat and wet is English rye grass, 6 pounds, red top, 2 pounds, timothy, 3 pounds, meadow fescue 3 pounds, orchard grass 2 pounds, Alsike clover 2 pounds, and white clover 1 pound. When grass is seeded in the fall if a seed bed of dry ashes may be prepared, or if conditions are such that a little loose ground may be stirred up so that there will be a place for the seed to find lodgment, it is easier to get a stand.—O. A. C. Experiment station.

Carson-Rutherford
 C. L. Carson and Miss Mary Rutherford of Ontario were married in Vale last week at the home of Mrs. A. E. McGillivray, Rev. Milton of the Christian church officiating. Miss Rutherford is a well known Ontario girl whose brothers, Mark and Edgar are among the big cattlemen of the upper country. Mr. Carson, who has lived here for several years now operates a fruit orchard near Cairo where they will make their home.

Ralston-Taylor
 At the parsonage of the Methodist Episcopal church of Caldwell last Wednesday Rev. Ewing read the marriage service for Harry Ralston of this city and Miss Jessie Taylor of Joplin, Missouri. The ceremony was witnessed by a few immediate friends and relatives of the bride and groom.

Following the wedding the party motored to Middleton, Idaho, where a wedding dinner was served at the Rodenbaugh home, following which Mr. and Mrs. Ralston drove to Weiser where they spent several days on a honeymoon trip and then came to Ontario where they are at home in apartments in the John Brosnan residence on the Eastside.

The bride, though a Missouri girl, is not a stranger to the west, having spent the last year with relatives in Caldwell. The groom is well known in Ontario for except the time he was in the service during the war, he has been a member of the force at the Ontario Pharmacy for the past six years, and member of the Oregon Club, in fact has for years been a prominent one of the charter members of that organization.

SEED CORN SELECTION BEST MADE IN FIELD

The season for selecting corn for seed is about here, says G. R. Heslop, chief of the O. A. C. experiment station farm crops.

"The seed should be selected first for yield and early maturity, second for forage quality of the stalk, and third for freedom from disease.

"The eastern corn belt states are now suffering from the selection of seed corn tending toward a diseased type, and many growers have sacrificed maturity in their over-anxiety to get an extremely deep kernel.

"In selecting corn only the stalks that stand up well and are separated from all fallen stalks should be taken.

"Choose ears from plants in the full hill and surrounded by full hills. Select from erect, leafy stalks, free from discoloration."

By taking two to four times as many ears as will be needed for next year's seed, growers may sort out the ears for actual use in planting according to the score card, a copy of which may be had by application to the agricultural college at Corvallis.

Miss Charlotte Clagett leaves Wednesday for Ann Arbor to attend F. C. Oxman and his son Don were down from Jamieson today to view the fair.
 Attention Modern Woodmen and Royal Neighbors, Monday night, September 19th, a big feed. Everybody Come.

HUBBY AT THE COOKSTOVE

Some Excellent Reasons Advanced Why Head of the House Should Know How to Prepare Food.

Cooking has been added to the curriculum of male students at Pennsylvania State college. Cooking is something that all men should know something about.

Some men should know all about it. Particularly should married men have the necessary knowledge so that in the pinch they can escallop a pan of potatoes or stir up a mess of fluffy biscuits.

There is no telling when the good wife may be absent from home at meal time.

As time goes on the legitimate reasons for this are growing.

And what is more pleasing to the average wife than to return from the bridge party or the polling place, a trifle late, perhaps, and worried for fear that she'll not be able to have dinner on the dot—what is more pleasing than to be greeted at the door by the man of the house, all informed up in a long overall apron, a dab of flour on his beaming countenance, string for dear life at a bowl of embryo drop biscuits?
 And the teakettle steaming its heart out?
 And the smell of burning beefsteak permeating the otherwise hopeful atmosphere?
 Man should know how to cook!—St. Joseph Gazette.

Man Shoulders Not Level.
 To the majority of persons the statement that their shoulders are not of the same height will come as a surprise, but tailors know that almost invariably the left shoulder is higher than the right.

If a baby's shoulders are measured it will be found that they are exactly even. That they do not remain so is blamed upon parents, who as a rule lead their young and growing children by the left hand.

This is a natural manner of leading the child, and it shields it from bumps of persons met in their walks, but the muscles and bones are thus continually raised and in the end drawn permanently out of position, although the change is so slight that it is not noticeable unless accurate measurements are taken.

Road Building in India.
 There is considerable activity in road making in various cities in India, depending upon the local authorities. In some places stone rollers, pulled by gangs of men, are used, and in other places steam rollers are to be found. A very useful machine is used in Lucknow, that has two rollers, the front one a steering roller. The rear chain is driven by a gasoline engine. It has a large gasoline tank and is well adapted for light work.
