BIG BEE BROOD, FOOD, PROTECTION ARE NEEDED

Three Primary Factors in Successful
 Wintering Honey Makers in Oregon Outlined by Scullen

A large number of young workers to form the winter bee cluster, plenty of food to last through the winter, and reasonable protection from cold and dampness, are three primary factors in successful beekeeping in Oregon, according to H. A. Scullen, commercial bee man and extension specialist at O. A. C.

Every colony should have been headed by a vigorous young Italian queen bred from the best, Mr. Scullen declares. She should be provided with stores and comb enough to rear at least 15,000 young workers.

The leading honey plants of the state—fireweed, alfalfa and sweet clover—are good for wintering. Unless the bees are supplied with 40 to 50 pounds of honey in the latter part of October or first of November in most parts of the state, a thick syrup of 1 part water to 2 1/2 parts sugar should be fed them. A teaspoon of tartaric acid is added to 15 to 20 pounds of sugar, and care must be taken that the sugar is not scorched in the making. Heating is continued only till all the sugar is melted.

The kind and amount of protection needed will vary in different parts of the state. Mr. Scullen thinks packing of some kind pays. The packing case of lumber filled with dry shavings or like matter, or building paper wrapped about the hive with some packing between and some packing below and above, is commended for the wet districts. More protection may be needed in the colder parts of the state.

Care is advised to prevent the prevailing winds from blowing into the entrances. If sheds are used the roofs should be high enough to allow manipulation of the bees and entrance of the morning and evening sun.

$10,000,000 AID FOR VETERANS

Red Cross Provides Friendly Service of Many Kinds to Army of Disabled.

BULK OF WORK BY CHAPTERS

2,397 of These Are Helping Ex-
 Service Men Obtain Benefits U. S. Provides.

One field of Red Cross service alone, that of assisting disabled veterans of the World War, entails expenditures $4,000,000 greater than the aggregate receipts of the Annual Roll Call of 1920, the American Red Cross announces in a statement urging a wide spread increase in membership at the Annual Roll Call, November 11 to 24. At the present time National Headquarters and the national-wide chain of Chapters of the Red Cross is spending approximately $10,000,000 annually for the relief of disabled ex-service men and their families, while the aggregate receipts from last year's Roll Call were approximately $6,000,000.

It is in the 2,397 of the 3,600 Red Cross Chapters which still are helping solve the veteran's problem of adjusting himself to a normal civilian status that the greater part of the cost of this service is borne. Of the total sum spent for veterans' relief last year, National Headquarters expended a total of more than $2,900,000, while the remaining disbursement of approximately $7,000,000 represents the contribution of Chapters in this country-wide effort to assist the Government in providing the aid sorely needed by these men and their families.

An Ever Expanding Problem

That the problem of the disabled service man is ever-expanding and probably will not reach the peak before 1925, is the assertion of well-informed Government officials and that 2,397 Red Cross Chapters regard it as their most important work is evidence that the expansion is in nowise confined to a particular section but is, on the contrary, nation-wide. At the end of the fiscal year, June 30, 1921, there were 20,300 disabled service men in the 1,602 United States Public Health Service, Contract and Government Hospitals and Soldiers Homes, and that number is increasing at a rate of 1,000 a month.

Thousands of these men receiving medical treatment, compensation and vocational training from the Government today, started their efforts to obtain them through the Red Cross Chapter. The Chapter, acting as the disabled man's agent in claims against the Government, informs the man as to the procedure necessary to gain for him that which is provided him by Federal statute. His applications for compensation, medical treatment and training are properly filed with the aid of the Red Cross Chapter.

Many Forms of Assistance

If there is delay before the man's claim is acted upon, the Red Cross Chapter lends the man money to meet the imperative needs of himself and his dependents.

Most vital to the man's gaining full benefit from the Government's care is keeping his mind free from worry about his home. Keeping the veteran's family from hardship of every kind and informing him of its welfare is another province of the Chapter. Free from fear on this score, the man's recovery and advancement usually is rapid.

Every month during the last year, the American Red Cross has given service of one kind or another to an average of 129,215 former service men and their families. An indication of the extent of the faith reposed in the Red Cross Chapter is to be found in the fact that there were 356,544 requests for friendly aid in the solution of personal problems.

448 Workers in Hospitals

While the man prior to entering Government care deals largely with the Chapter, afterward he comes into contact with the service provided by National Headquarters. There are 448 Red Cross workers in the United States Public Health Service and contract hospitals and other institutions in which these men are being cared for, whose duty is to provide for his recreation, help him with his compensation claims, keep him in touch with his family; in short, meeting his every need outside of that provided by the Government. While these are a few of the responsibilities of the National Organization, they are by no means all. Among other Red Cross accomplishments for the year are:

It handled 70,732 allotment and allowance claims.

It delivered through its Chapter organization 93,655 allotment checks to veterans who had moved from the addresses furnished to the Bureau of War Risk Insurance.

It provided a special fund of $10,000 for medical assistance to men under vocational training.

It made 32,495 loans totaling $450,000 to men taking vocational training, of which 85 per cent has been repaid.

RED CROSS WORKING FOR HEALTHIER U. S.

Thousands Aided by Instruction in Care of the Sick, Food Selection and First Aid.

How the American Red Cross guides thousands of persons to health is shown in a summary of the society's activities in the health field based upon the annual report for the last fiscal year. Through its Nursing Service, its Home Hygiene and Care of the Sick courses, nutrition classes, First Aid classes, Life-Saving classes and Health Centers and in numerous other ways designed to acquaint masses of citizens with proper methods of living, the Red Cross carried its message of health into all parts of the country.

The work of the Red Cross during the war in its traditional field of nursing, furnishing the military and naval establishments of the nation with 19,877 nurses, is well known. And there are today 37,787 nurses registered with the American Red Cross and subject to call in emergency. During the fiscal year, 1,551 Red Cross nurses were accepted for assignment to Government service, 388 by the Army and Navy and 1,163 by the United States Public Health Service.

In addition to the nurses enrolled by the Red Cross for Government service, the Red Cross itself employed a total of 1,348 public health nurses in the United States and Europe. By far the greatest number was employed in the United States, 1,257, while 91 were in foreign service.

Home Hygiene and Care of the Sick classes, giving thorough instruction in the proper care of the sick in instances where the illness is not so serious as to require professional nursing care, during the fiscal year numbered 5,178. A statistical picture of the Red Cross operations in this field follows:

New classes formed during year	5,178
Classes completed during year	9,959
New students enrolled	101,008
Students completing course	73,432

What the Red Cross accomplished in giving proper instruction through its Nutrition Service is indicated by the following table:

New classes formed during year	142
Classes completed during year	186
New students enrolled	2,341
Students completing course	2,013

In addition to the above, a total of 22,000 children were given instruction in the proper selection and preparation of foods.

Through its 200 Health Centers, the Red Cross reached 90,232 persons. In these Health Centers, 4,015 health lectures were given and 780 health exhibits held.

In the United States last year, 75,432 persons were killed and 3,500,000 injured in industrial accidents. To prevent this enormous waste the Red Cross held 5,100 first aid classes with a total of 104,000 students enrolled.

Champion Ewe at Live Stock Exposition

The Pacific International Live Stock Exposition which will be held at North Portland this year, November 5-12, will probably contain the largest sheep show in its history. Manager O. M. Plummer believes that there may be 1000 head. In view of the fact that all the fairs and shows in the Northwest this year are showing greatly increased sheep exhibits, his prophecy is apt to come true.

Western Oregon has long been famous for its middle wool sheep, and already this year notable winnings have been made by exhibits from this section at fairs and expositions throughout Canada and the eastern part of the United States.

Perhaps it was not altogether a fable about Jason adventuring his life in search of the golden fleece. While the wool growers of the Northwest have had a hard time since the war, the ultimate future of wool and mutton production is certain to be financially profitable. The day will come when no farm will be considered fully stocked without a small flock of sheep.

There is bound to be a great demand for breeding stock and the Pacific International will furnish an opportunity unequalled for securing foundation stock.
