WIRELESS MUSICAL CONCERT
IS HEARD IN FRUITLAND

The W. J. Russell home the past week has been a mecca for those interested in hearing the wireless messages received in that home. Lewis Russell, the son, is a student in the State University at Moscow, who is home for the holidays, brot with him a wireless receiving instrument which he had constructed in part himself which he installed in the kitchen of his home. From this instrument he has a 100 foot wire twenty feet high run to the derrick and over the wire and thru the instrument with receivers, four of them attached, a party of seventy five gathered there Monday evening heard distinctly a musical concert sent out from San Francisco. There was hand music, jazz music, sacred songs and plainly was heard the announcement of the musical numbers. Through the past week concerts sent out from Denver, Los Angeles, Avalon, Paito Alto have been picked up at the Russell home thru this instrument and great interest has been evinced in the result. A party from Payette was out Monday evening, among them teachers to hear their first wireless concert. Lewis is taking a course in electrical engineering in the University and has always been interested in such matters.

Open up Dressmaking Shop
Two Fruitland young ladies will go to Ontario this week where on Wednesday they will open up a dress making shop in the Moore building. They are the Misses Lena Roenfeld and Martha Gramm.

Miss Bertha Blind went to District No. 8 where she teaches the primary grades in the new school building recently completed there.

Saturday December 31st seventeen of the friends of Francis Childs went to the home of his parents and helped him to celebrate his 17th birthday. All sorts of games and music and good times helped to make the evening a delightful one.
