A FLYING TRIP THRU HAWAII
 "A Flying Trip Thru Hawaii" with Hawaiians playing incidental music is something different for the patrons of the Majestic theatre goes to enjoy.

The thousand feet of film shows native scenes in all their tropical splendor, the famous beach at Waikiki and the brown skinned natives diving for coconuts, the sugar cane fields and a team of twenty oxen drawing in the product, the rainbow falls of boiling water together with the actual scenes of boiling pots, shark hunt in native manner, the active and roaring volcano of old Kilauea both at night and daytime taken with a nine inch telephoto lens, and last and best one of the cleverest animated cartoons with an Hawaiian orchestra and Hula Hula dancer in burlesque.

The incidental music is furnished by real Hawaiian boys whose clever manipulating of the steel guitar and ukulele makes the whole of the picture very effective and if one has ever been fortunate enough to have visited the "Paradise of the Pacific" it will take one back and bring fond memories of that "Isle of golden dreams".

After the film is shown the two boys end the act with topical tunes and songs on the stage.

Also feature picture "Across the Divide," Majestic Wednesday March 1st.

Every married person living with husband or wife, in order to claim the exemption of $2,500 and $400 for each dependent, must make a return, although his actual net income for 1921 may have been only $2,000.

In computing his income tax, the farmer may deduct all amounts paid in the production, harvesting, and marketing of crops, including labor, cost seed and fertilizer used, cost of minor repairs to farm buildings (other than the dwelling), cost of repairs to fences and machinery and the cost of small tools used in the course of the year, such as pitchforks, hayrakes, hoes, axes etc.

NO TIME EXTENSION GIVEN TO INDIVIDUAL INCOME RETURNS

There still seems to be some uncertainty relative to an extension of time for filing 1921 income tax returns.

The only extension of time granted has been for partnerships and personal service corporations, who file on Form 1065; for fiduciaries, who file on Form 1041; and for 1099's and 1096's (information returns) only in connection with fiduciary or partnership returns.

No extension has been granted corporations who file on Form 1120.

FARMERS WILL GROW OWN SEED POTATOES

Oregon Slope Farm Bureau to Get Carload Certified Idaho Rurals of Extra Quality—Expects Lower Seed Cost One Half in 1925.

The Oregon Slope farm bureau, acting through J. L. Brown as committee man, has completed pooling orders for a car load of certified Idaho Rural potato seed of the celebrated Cater strain, grown by E. Nicholas of Burley, Idaho, and the deal has been closed for the seed. The farmers of that community are going to make an effort to get away from having to pay fancy prices every spring for potato seed of more or less doubtful value through having to ship it in from Idaho points, and will therefore plant this certified stuff late in the spring and grow it for seed to be used for the commercial crop in 1923. In order that it may be of the best quality, it is planned to pull what few diseased plants which show up in the fields out by hand while the plants are young.

While it will cost a little more to grow good seed than to grow table stock, yet the cost of home grown seed is estimated at only about half of imported stuff, which in itself is quite an item. The satisfaction of actually having seed and knowing the quality of it first hand is also considered worth consideration by those who have gone through certain experiences incident to stocking up on seed grown at a distance. It may prove advisable to secure some extra high grade stock each year for planting the seed fields, in order to keep up the vigor and quality of the stock. This however would not add materially to the ultimate cost of production in the commercial field. That the Oregon Slope ranchers will succeed in cutting their production costs by this move seems certain from the experiences of several farmers who have grown big crops of potatoes from locally produced seed stock in former years, without the care in producing it which is planned in this instance.

COULDN'T EAT THIS BUN

The Britisher's failure to understand American slang, is a difficulty which faces picture production in England. Leslie Hiscott, assistant director to Geo. Fitzmaurice, Paramount Producer, was looking over the script of "Three Live Ghosts" which will be shown at the Majestic Theatre next Friday, with a view of giving the the property man his instructions when he came upon the direction, "enter Old Sweetheart with a beautiful bun."

Hiscott made note of the item with the result that on the following morning a particularly fine sample of the confectioner's are was prominently featured among the day's 'props'. Mr. Fitzmaurice's amazement on being unexpectedly confronted with a display of cream buns was so genuine that his assistant was not slow in grasping that there had been some mistake. Then it was explained to him that in America there were buns and buns, and that the bun in the script was not the kind you eat.
