According to advises he has received from Harney county the stockmen in that section are reporting heavy losses of sheep due to the recent storms.

Judge Dalton Biggs is to hear the case of H. C. Boyer et al against the City of Ontario tomorrow at the city hall. The case is an injunction proceeding to compel the city to vacate the use of the ditches along the alley leading to the park near the station for irrigation water. The water seeps into the basements of several of the buildings and the owners are seeking to have the system abandoned.

BIG MORTGAGE FILED UPON LANDS IN SEVERAL COUNTIES

The largest mortgage filed in several years was recorded last week at Vale when the Malheur Live Stock and Land Company had such an instrument filed covering lands of the company in Malheur, Grant and Baker counties. The mortgage was given to the Security Savings and Trust company of Portland, for the consideration of $625,000.00. At the same time a number of large chattel mortgages were given by several sheep companies in which is in the Malheur Live Stock and Land Company, Senator R. N. Stanfield is interested.

It is understood that a Portland bond house is issuing gold bonds based upon the property mortgaged to the Security Savings & Trust company.

ORIGINALITY AND NOVELTY MAKES DOUG'S PICTURE UNIQUE

An optical feast is promised to picture patrons when Douglas Fairbanks new photo-feature, "The Nut" opens next Sunday and Monday at the Majestic Theatre.

According to advance reports regarding this production, the public may expect to view a real celluloid innovation. For originality and novelty of treatment, this picture is said to excel anything yet attempted by the ingenious "Doug." Although no announcement has been made of the exact nature of the photoplay, it is understood to provide a new type of characterization for the popular star.

With Kenneth Davenport, author of the piece, the star lived two weeks in the famous Bohemian quarters of the metropolis and made an intimate study of those eccentric talented people who live in the Village.

It is believed that as a result of these observations the picture-going public will be given the most life-like interpretation of the characteristics and mannerisms of these remarkable folk that has ever yet been shown.

HAVE NEW IDEA OF MARRIAGE

Public Discussion of the Subject in the Japanese Press is Regarded as Significant.

A series of articles on love and marriage is appearing in Japanese newspapers and magazines, as a sign of the modern tendencies of the Japanese mentality. Professors in psychology, school teachers and writers of note are prominent in the discussion on reforming the old matrimonial system, all advocating more freedom for personal choice.

According to the old custom, the parents chose bride and bridegroom and the interested parties having known each other, marriage was considered a duty towards country and family, the religion of ancestor worship being its principle. The young couples lived with the parents and the bride owed complete obedience to her mother-in-law.

The custom is now prevalent for the young people to meet long before the marriage takes place so that they may know each other, and to live apart from the family is no longer considered undutiful. Yet, of late, the tendency appeared to marry for love's sake and out of personal choice. This new and romantic ideal is so strong that all means are tried to obtain it, entailing elopements, suicides and notorious family dissensions. Hence the discussion for greater liberty and more social life, which are quite opposed to the old social system of Confucius, that men and women should keep apart and marry for duty's sake and not for love.
