Side Lights on Trip to Summer School

An hour after the time set three cars full of club members were ready to start for the Boys' and Girls' Summer School at Corvallis. The first 20 miles out of Ontario was uneventful, when things began to happen. Atterbury had a puncture, then Eachus had three punctures, and we were two hours late getting into Huntington. It began to rain at Huntington and continued to do so off and on, mostly on, until we got to LaGrande. The roads were decidedly muddy. To aid matters a cloud burst had placed about 3 feet of soft mud in the road 5 miles south of Durkee.

As it had been raining for about four days in the Blue Mountains, we decided to wait in LaGrande until noon the next day and give old Sol a chance to do a little missionary work in drying out the roads. One of the tourists, after spending 12 hours going the 52 miles from Pendleton to LaGrande (calmly informed us that if we didn't want to buy a new Ford we had better not try it. We did try it however, and much to our surprise, made it in five hours.

At Pendleton Eachus, Wilbur Roberts, Lee Johnston, Carl Parker and Ira Brumback decided to take in a show. After being inside five minutes the whole bunch of them went soundly to sleep and when they woke up they were the only ones there.

The run from Pendleton to Portland was made the next day. By postponing breakfast and eating while riding Eachus and his bunch got an early start, which enabled them to take in most of the sights along the Columbia River Highway.

The Story of My Work

When I started to work at Dairy Herd Record Keeping, I didn't know very much about it. The club leader told us to bring some milk to school and we would test it. I saved some milk from each cow in the morning and at night.

We got a Babcock tester to use until we had finished our first years of testing. We tested about two times in a month and made out our records which were very difficult at first. The county club agent took all the children which belonged to the club around and showed them how to score dairy cows. I have certainly enjoyed the Dairy Herd Record Keeping Club.

Signed: Lois Wilson.

The pin cushion was the first article I made. It was made out of pink sateen and was four inches square and was sewed by hand. The tea towel was out of a flour sack. I made a hem on the edges, which was 1-4 inch wide and was hemmed by hand with the hemming stitch. The bag was made out of green flowered goods. It was six by nine inches and made according to directions. The hot dish holder was made out of gingham. It was six inches square with a little ring in one corner to hang it up by. I darned four holes in my stockings before making the sample stocking darn. I made just a plain apron it was out of striped percale.

MONTHLY REPORT OF CO. AGRICULTURAL AGENT

For the Period, June 5 to July 1

The projects receiving major attention during the period of this report were in connection with alfalfa weevil, crop improvement and horticulture. Some time was devoted to rodent pest control and in holding meetings in the more remote communities of the county. Individual farm visits and checking up on demonstrations required several days' time, as did miscellaneous and routine work.

At the suggestion of President Van Petten of the Ontario Commercial club and at the expense of that organization, a portion of the tract on the Homer Utley farm which was sprayed for alfalfa weevil on June 2 as reported in the last monthly report, was again sprayed on June 11 for the purpose of determining the value of a second spraying on sprayed hay and the comparative merits of late vs. early spraying. On June 16 the agent made counts of the number of live alfalfa weevil larva on the different treatments, and on June 25 weights of hay from measured plots were taken from which to estimate yields. These results are given below. The figures are only approximately correct, yet quite conclusive as to the value of the treatments given. The quality of the early sprayed was far superior to the late sprayed hay, while the unsprayed hay was almost worthless.

Sprayed June 2, single application, June 16: Live larva 260, approximate yield in tons per acre, 2.

Sprayed June 2, double application, June 16: Live larva, 110.

Sprayed June 11 single application, June 16: Live larva 550, approximate yield tons per acre 1.4.

Sprayed June 2 and 11, June 16: Live larva 300.

Not sprayed, check, June 16: Live larva 1100, approximate yield in tons per acre 1.1.

Investigation of the spread of this pest into the more remote sections of the county was made in the Jordan Valley, Ruby and Rome districts in the south end, and the Birch Creek, Basin Creek, Malheur, Ironside, Bonita, Brogan and Jamleson sections in the north end of the county. No weevil were found south of the center of the county although persons were observed hauling hay for feed, while enroute, from the infested areas of Oregon and Idaho, by which means, if no other, the weevil will certainly be introduced before long. Infestations varying in degree of advancement were found in all the northern part of the county as far as the Baker county line. In connection with this survey, a series of meetings were held at which the distribution of the weevil was made known and its habits and methods of control explained. The stockmen of the interior communities are particularly interested in checking the ravages of the pest as they realize that hay is the backbone of their industry. While the hay growers of the lower and higher priced irrigated lands are inclined to turn to other crops rather than to fight the pest to save a crop which has not been particularly attractive to them of late years, it becomes doubly important to the stockman of the interior that his own acres do not fail. To preserve the meadows of the stockmen calls for organized action along lines which are known to be effective.

Crop Improvement

Work on this project consisted of checking up on a large number of demonstrations and in holding three community demonstration meetings for the inspection of crop demonstrations. These meetings were held at Oregon Slope, Kingman and Vale. While not largely attended owing to the rush of work on the farms at the time, a number of the farmers turned out to each meeting, and considerable interest was manifested. Among the demonstrations inspected were soy beans, peas for cannery purposes, potato seed experiments, Hybrid No. 128 winter wheat, Federation spring wheat vs. other spring wheat varieties, field beans, Ladino clover and red clover in communities just introducing these crops.

Horticulture

Three demonstration meetings were held on thinning fruit with extension Specialist O. L. Long in charge. These meetings were held at Brogan, Nyssa and Oregon Slope and were well attended. Mr. Long gave several sets of figures which are the result of experimental work in thinning to show his hearers what the effects of thinning distances between apples of various varieties are, on the size, color and value of the crop, its effect on the total yield, and the effect of thinning at different stages of the fruit development on the alternate bearing habit. He also gave instructions for bringing an orchard which has become an alternate bearer, back into an annual bearer and profitable production through properly timed pruning and fertilization. Following the lecture, a field demonstration of the method and practice of thinning was given at each point.

Miscellaneous and Personal Service

Seventeen days were spent in the field and seven days in the office; 90 persons called at the office on business; 95 personal letters and 10 circular letters of 1700 copies were written; 5 articles were prepared for the local press; 890 miles traveled by auto; 42 farm visits were made of which 25 were the first this year; 30 demonstration visits were made; 6 demonstration meetings and 6 other meetings were held.

The new Goodyear Cross-Rib Tread Cord

Did You Get the Bottom Price, After All?

The man who buys a "long discount" tire usually finds himself troubled by the above question.

Did he pay less for the tire than his neighbor might have paid, or actually did he pay more?

Did he get the bottom price, when all is said and done, or could he perhaps have driven a sharper bargain?

Was the net price really more than he might have had to pay for a tire of established reputation and value?

In the belief that the average motorist prefers a frank and open transaction, we built the new Goodyear Cross-Rib Tread Cord and discounted the "discount" in advance.

Instead of listing it at a high price, to enable the dealer to attract you with a so-called "long discount," we list it as low as we profitably can.

We build it of high-grade long-staple cotton, using the patented Goodyear method of group-ply construction, and sell it at a lower price than you are asked to pay for many "long discount" tires of unknown worth.

If you want a quality tire, and a reliable value, call today on any of the Goodyear Service Station Dealers listed here.

Compare these prices with NET prices you are asked to pay for "long discount" tires
