EMINENT GEOLOGIST VISITS RELATIVES AND VIEWS FIELD

Dr. Edward L. Troxell of Yale Faculty Visits Brother—He Discovers Valuable Fossils Proving Evolution of Horse

Dr. Edward L. Troxell, brother of Irwin Troxell of this city, who is now associate professor of paleontology at Yale and lecturer in geology at Trinity University, both at New Haven, Conn., was in Ontario last week for a short visit.

Dr. Troxell, who is one of the nationally known investigators in the buried history of evolution, is credited with some of the most remarkable discoveries of recent years. He it was who unearthed the missing link between the two-toe horse and the horse of today. His specimen is now displayed at the American Museum at New York. He also uncovered three specimens of the cloven footed horse just a few weeks before he came to Ontario, in the Bridger Basin, Wyoming, he found the remains of a nine foot alligator, thus proving that once that section was either tropical or semi-tropical.

Dr. Troxell spent most of his time while here in the hills seeking specimens to add to his collections, and next year plans on returning to Oregon to explore the John Day region.

REPORT OF COUNTY CLUB AGENT FOR AUGUST, 1922

This report covers a period of 31 days from August 1st to August 31 inclusive. The projects worked on during this time were Pig, Poultry, Corn, Sewing, County Fair, County Agent Work, Club picnics, and Dairy Herd Record Keeping. During the month 17 days were spent in the field and 10 days in the office.

Pig Project
Two meetings were held with the Brogan Pig club and one meeting held with the Oregon Slope Pig club. At these meetings the judging of pigs and dairy cows was taken up. Each Pig club is planning on entering a team at the County Fair judging contest. Twenty-two personal visits were made and assistance given the members in keeping their records and in fitting their pig or the Fair.

Poultry Project
Ten personal visits were made to Poultry club members at Moore's Hollow and Vale. The majority of the boys and girls are taking fine care of their birds and should be able to put on a very creditable exhibit at the County Fair. The Moore's Hollow Poultry club was given assistance in preparing a demonstration for the local Fair, and one meeting was held with the Valley View Poultry club.

Corn Project
One meeting was held with the Big Bend Corn club and one tour was conducted during which the entire club visited the members' corn fields. The fields of 13 corn club members were visited, pictures taken and suggestions made on the selection of corn for exhibition.

Sewing Project
The Bonita Sewing club held a sewing demonstration and exhibit on the 16th. Four girls demonstrated how to make the different kinds of stitches and told their uses. The farm bureau offered prizes on the exhibits.

Dairy Herd Record Keeping
Two and one-half days were spent in collecting the equipment from the various clubs and in returning that which was borrowed from various people in the different communities.

ONTARIANS GUESTS OF PAYETTE BUSINESS MEN

also read letters from several of the eastern experts who were here which more enthusiastically than ever pronounced their conviction that this is an ideal dairy region.

R. J. Davis of Weiser, discussed the dairy question from the marketing standpoint and presented figures showing the marked advantage resulting from the operations of the Co-operative Creamery. George K. Aiken of Ontario also spoke reviewing some of the many observations made by the eastern dairymen on the trip. J. A. Lakness told the Idahoans of the Malheur County Fair and brought the house down with his funny stories.

The musical entertainment was furnished by the Sage Brush Quartette of Ontario; Messrs. Quant, Jimmerson, Turner and Jenkins. As usual this was a real hit. B. W. Hillyer led the community singing. There were large delegations from Weiser and Fruitland at the meeting.
