

Fill with RED CROWN and nothing else

Motorists who follow this rule in their gasoline buying find that they not only save money—because "Red Crown" yields more per gallon mileage—but improve the power and stamina of the motor.

"Red Crown" enables your car to develop the maximum of power that its makers built into it. It vaporizes rapidly and uniformly in the carburetor, and is consumed completely in the cylinders. Uniform wherever and whenever you buy it—hence you don't have to bother with carburetor adjustments.

Fill at the Red Crown sign—at Service Stations, garages, and other dealers.

Too Long Without Paint

Are You Insuring Against Depreciation

THERE'S no middle ground. Either your buildings are well protected by paint or they are going to require costly repairing or rebuilding within a few years.

Paint saves your property. It is an investment in long service—not an expense. The expense results from allowing buildings to rot. Paint now. Save repairs.

The next question is what paint to use. Use the best. It costs less in the long run. It spreads easily—saves labor cost. It covers more surface per gallon than "cheap" paint.

And the best paint will serve you five or more years longer than "cheap" paint.

The best paints are scientific in formula and preparation. We've made them for 73 years—to meet the weather conditions in the West.

The best materials—PIONEER WHITE LEAD, pure linseed oil, pure zinc and pure colors—are combined in Fuller's Paints in scientifically exact proportions with long-time skill.

Dated at Vale, Oregon, September 25, 1922.

Ross W. Soward,

MUST NEVER BE OFF GUARD

Men Who Train or Care for Wild Animals in Circuses Cannot Afford to Relax Vigilance.

There's a saying in the circus zoo when a new attendant, disregarding the warnings of old-timers, becomes careless while working about the cages. "Here's a new animal trainer," the veterans will remark, as they watch the fresh helper peering a tiger or a leopard. They know that it is only a matter of a few days until the "cat" will lash out with its claws unsheathed and rip the arm of the newcomer. They also know that nothing will teach this type of attendant the alert carelessness necessary in handling wild beasts but an ugly scratching. They can only hope that the man's hurts will be slight. He must have a lesson. He must realize that all animals are dangerous at all times, even if some are more so than others. One often hears it contemptuously remarked, writes Frank Braden in Popular Mechanics Magazine, that such and such a beast in an act is "just a mangy, toothless old lion," but often that mangy, toothless old lion, because of its rage, is more dangerous than its mates in their prime. The old lion is testy, and no matter what its years, it carries a wallop backed by ripping claws. Some of the world's foremost trainers, working with the same beasts in acts year after year, have paid for the slight carelessness that familiarity with and affection for their jungle pets have insidiously brought about. At an unexpected diversion—the overturning of a pedestal, for instance—the animals have leaped upon their mentor, but with the element of complete surprise absent, no real wild-animal expert is caught completely unaware by a beast's leap.

KNEW ALL ABOUT "LA GRIPPE"

People of the Eighteenth Century Suffered From Its Attacks as Do Those of Today.

Amid all our sufferings from the "grip," "Russian influenza," "diltz katarrh," "Spanish influenza," "du," or in old omne genus, the name and writings of Sebastian Mercier are too much forgotten. In his picturesque "Tableau de Paris" is to be found the following passage on the "grippe," written in 1787, which might have been written today:

"Almost every year toward the middle of November occur catarrhal indispositions caused by the presence of a humid and cold atmosphere and fogs which suppress transpiration. Many die of it, but the Parisians, who laugh at everything, call these colds the 'grippe,' the 'flirt,' but the laughter three days later is himself 'gripped' by it and goes down to the grave.

"Passing from old rooms and theater halls to the open air makes this suppression of the transpiration almost unavoidable. The new fashion of wearing long cloaks is excellent. It gives protection against the cold. Taking good exercise is even a surer remedy. The women who are compelled to wait some time for their carriages—those charming, delicate women I see shivering along the staircases and porticoes—should consider that their petticoats are not sufficient to protect them against mishaps."

What would he have said to the abbreviated skirts of today?

Steel Has Great Cutting Power.

"High-speed steel" for cutting tools has been well known for years, and an improved form of this material has been introduced in Sheffield, England. It is reported that this steel has four times the cutting power of any other in use. The composition is, it appears, still a secret, but it is said to be the first "high-speed steel" that can be hardened in cold water without danger. It can also be hardened with oil or in a cold blast.

Tools made of it wear out much less rapidly and require much less grinding than those of the older kinds of steel. They will also go on working at high temperature longer. But the makers themselves say that this steel does not by any means mark the final development of "high-speed steel."—Washington Star.
