Luella Twining, One of Best Informed and Fluent Speakers Will Deliver an Address at the Bungalow

LUELLA TWINING

Luella Twining is known internationally as the Joan of Arc of the working class. Her achievements are so numerous that if recounted they would comprise a large volume. During the general strike in Philadelphia she organized 18,000 women. For two years she spoke in behalf of Meyer, Haywood and Pettibone, and led many protest demonstrations, the most notable of which was on the Boston Common, with one hundred thousand participants. She toured Great Britain for the Socialist party and spoke with Tom Mann during the transport workers' strike in Dublin.

It has been frequently said that no woman has done more for the working class in the way of producing immediate and visible improvements than has Luella Twining. She possesses magnetism in a high degree, and conveys the message of hope to the working people with powerful reasoning and eloquence.

An English tourist who was telling an Irish peasant about the British empire said: "Well, Pat, you know that the sun never sets on the king's dominions, but do you know the reason?"

Pat immediately answered: "I suppose it is because heaven is afraid to trust an Englishman in the dark."
