VALE LYCEUM COURSE

MANAGER'S ANNOUNCEMENT

The Vale Entertainment Course is able to make the following statement, all bills paid last year and $30.00 in the bank for this year's course of entertainments. We congratulate ourselves upon the success of the last year, and wish to thank the patrons of the city and vicinity, who loyally supported the course, which is destined to be of vital importance to the educational center of Vale and vicinity.

These entertainments are not to be known as shows; they haven't any elements of a show. These people (19 coming this year) are educational in whatever line they follow. In other places where the entertainment course has run successfully for a while, Chautauquas have developed and educational centers have been established, and it is with this in view that the effort is made upon the part of the management to present to the people of Vale the high class of entertainment which we now outline in brief.

The dates on which entertainments will be held in Vale the coming fall and winter will be as follows: Nov. 8-22, Dec. 1-31, Feb. 16, March 20. The place where the entertainments will be given is The Bungalow, the most available and suitable place, has been selected.

THIS YEAR'S COURSE

Of Lyceum Concerts, Lectures and Entertainments.

Good Things in Store For Local People Who Attend—Lyceum Movement Throughout America Growing With Marvelous Rapidity.

The concerts, lectures and entertainments which are pictured and described herewith represent a group of good things which are in store for the patrons of the local Lyceum course this season. They are booked through the oldest and largest bureau in the world—the Redpath—a bureau which guarantees every one of its attractions to make good.

In all parts of the American continent the Lyceum movement is growing, and as it grows in size it is likewise growing in popularity. There are today more than 12,000 Lyceum courses in the United States, besides some 1,500 Chautauquas. Incidentally it is of interest that more than 600 of all the Chautauquas in this country are managed by the same bureau, from which the attractions described on this page are booked.

Lyceum entertainments differ from any other types of public amusements, in that they leave the community life better for their having come and gone. Every Lyceum lecturer has a message which he believes will benefit his hearers. The aim of Lyceum musical companies or entertainers is to help maintain or raise the standard of the art they represent in all the towns and cities they visit.

The following are the Lyceum course attractions which are to be heard here this season:

WEATHERWAX BROTHERS' QUARTET.

The Weatherwax Brothers' first public work was in the fall of '06, when they sang throughout northern Iowa in the notable McKinley campaign. They made such a hit everywhere that year that there was an immediate demand for them to do other public work.

This quartet, in addition to vocal music, also appears in a trumpet quartet which always brings forth the admiration of those who love rich, heroic music. Trumpets are comparatively seldom used on the Lyceum platform, and it is a treat to hear them when well played. The trumpets which they use were made specially for this

KELLOGG-HAINES SINGING PARTY IN "THE SINGING MASTER"

As to their vocal work, all four brothers have fine voices and have had years of practice together, which has resulted in most excellent intonation. They have all been national medalists from their infancy, and as some may not know this fact, "That's why they've

THE DIXIE QUINTETTE.

The Dixie Quintette is composed of men of many years' experience on the American platform. The personnel of the company is as follows: Edward Goodbar, first tenor; Edward Williams, second tenor and baritone; Louis Turner, baritone and reader; John Turner, bass; Joseph Gray, pianist.

Four of the men who compose this organization were leading artists in the Dixie Chorus, the big attraction which has been out for the past two years under Redpath management, appearing in the "Epic of the Negro" on large courses throughout the country.

In the program of the Dixie Quintette there will be vocal solos and instrumental work in addition to the quartette work and jubilee music which is always so enjoyable in a colored organization. Mr. Goodbar's tenor solos, Mr. Williams' characteristic songs, with banjo accompaniment, Mr. Turner's famous interpretations of Paul Lawrence Dunbar's works and Mr. Turner's deep bass voice will all be featured. There will also be laughable negro sketches in dialect.

THE DIXIE QUINTETTE.

The quartette will have as an accompanist Joseph Gray, who will also play piano solos. Mr. Gray has been on the Lyceum platform for some two or three years and is therefore no expert.

THE KELLOGG-HAINES SINGING PARTY.

There are five in the Kellogg-Haines Singing Party—three gentlemen and two ladies. Much of their program is given in elegant and appropriate costumes. Some of these numbers are the best examples of humor and wit that good literature has to offer. Scenes are also given in grand opera.

The chief claim that is made for this company is that they present entertaining concerts of such solid musical character and fresh wholesomeness that they are sure to captivate the musical layman, while winning admiration from the musical critic of the severest type. It is doubtful if any other mixed quartet in America can approach the Kellogg-Haines Party in that sinking of individuality and perfect blending of voices that comprise ideal quartet work. It is heard in the singing of the foremost male quartets.

Professor Charles A. Prosser, superintendent of the New Albany (Ind.) Chautauquas, says: "The Kellogg-Haines Singing Party have given the greatest satisfaction of all the musical organizations that have appeared at our assembly in the last four years."

form who will discuss this topic. Dr. George H. Bradford, chancellor of the Methodist University of Oklahoma, will discuss educational problems widely the coming year through.

CHANCELLOR G. H. BRADFORD.

out this country. He has spent his whole life studying educational problems along original lines and the results of this study are today peculiarly valuable.

Mr. Bradford is a self made man. He once drove a cab for a rich man and has shovelled ashes out of a dark cellar at 4 o'clock in the morning while getting his own education.

D. ERNEST RANDALL,

the cartoonist and chalk talker, a native of Indiana; studied a number of years at Art Institute, Chicago; had charge of the summer art school of the working men's institute at New Harmony, Indiana, for two years, and the past year as director of the St. Paul School of Fine Arts, his ability as an artist is established.

THE FLOYDS

P. T. Barnum said the American people love to be fooled, and we have found that every community occasionally likes a Magician. We have secured a company of three known as "The Floyds," who have for the last twenty years been in the front rank of the Lyceum entertainment of the United States, Canada and Mexico.

With a most complete outfit, elaborate stage settings, many beautiful costumes, and possessed of real ability, their program combines every possible point of excellence.

We take genuine pleasure in announcing a renewal of the contract.

We believe this course is worthy of the ardent support of every citizen in Vale.—Season Tickets $2.50.—The Manager.

CHILDREN MAY OBTAIN PRIZES

Government Offers Children Opportunity to Gain Medal by Good Essay on the Subject of Roads.

Washington, D. C.—The Director of the Office of Public Roads, Logan Walker Page, has announced that the time in which children may submit essays on the repair and maintenance of earth roads, in competition for the gold medal and the two silver medals, has been extended to March 2, 1914.

The conditions for the essay contest are as follows:

1. The subject of the essay will be the repair and keeping up of earth roads.
2. It is open only to children from 10 to 15 years, inclusive, who are actually living on farms and who are actually attending some school.
3. The essay should not be more than eight hundred words in length, in the handwriting of the child, and should be written on only one side of the paper.
4. In the upper left hand corner of the first page should appear the following statement: Essay on Earth Roads by (name of child; age of child; actual residence of child; school attended by child.)
5. The essays will be rated by an impartial committee according to the understanding of the subject shown by child and according to the penmanship, English and spelling. The writer of the best essay will receive a gold medal; the writer of the next best essay, a silver medal; and the writer of the third best essay, a silver medal.
6. All essays should be plainly addressed, in an envelope stamped with a two-cent stamp, to: Committee on Children's Road Essay Contest, Office of Public Roads, U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C., and should be mailed to reach that office not later than 9 a. m. on Monday, March 2, 1914.

HOW TO TELL A GOOD ROAD FROM A BAD ROAD.

To the children: In getting facts to write your essays for the prize contest on the repair and maintenance of earth roads, use your eyes. Look at a bad piece of road and a good piece of road when both are dry. Study, particularly, the ruts and holes and uneven places in the road to see whether they make it easier or harder for the wheels of a loaded wagon to go along. Study the kind of footing that the two roads give to the horses.

Now study the same stretches of road after a good rainstorm. You will see that one road holds small puddles, or pools, of water that keep the road soft and so allow it to be cut up by the wheels of the wagons and the hoofs of the horses. How do road builders keep water from gathering on the traveled way of the road? Should the road slope to the side ditches? How much higher should the center, or crown, of the road be than the outside edges of the road? Why do good ditches at the side of the road help make the center of the road better for hauling? What happens when ditches get full of rubbish or weeds? When a ditch along a road holds water or collects it into pools, how does this injure the road?

USING A DRAG ON EARTH ROADS.

Have you ever seen a home-made road drag? It is made by splitting in two a log six or eight inches in thickness and about six or eight feet long. The two halves of the log are set three feet apart with their smooth faces forward and upright. They are fastened together with braces. A span of horses are hitched to a chain fastened to the front half of the log. Should these logs be drawn straight down the road or should it be dragged at a slant so that a little of the loose earth will slide toward the center of the road? Should the dragging be started next to the ditch, or at the center of the road? Should you drag the whole road in one way, or drag each half of it in an opposite direction? Should the dragging be done when the road is dry, or after it has rained? A good, strong team of horses with a well built drag can drag about three or four miles of road in a day. What would it cost a farmer to drag four miles of road? How would he be paid for the cost of his labor.
