A CHANCE FOR THE BOY

The world's record for corn raising belongs to Walter L. Deenson, an Alabama boy, yet in his early teens. Last year this boy raised 232 bushels of corn on a single acre of land, which is the largest yield per acre ever recorded. This remarkable record was made by an ordinary boy on ordinary land. He became interested in corn raising and studied in to the matter of the kind and proper use of fertilizers and proper cultivation. As a result of putting his knowledge to practical use, he has raised 232 bushels of corn on one acre of land, thereby winning the championship of the world. What Walter L. Deenson has done serves to show what a common everyday, out-and-out boy can do if he is given the chance. There are thousands of ambitious boys on the rich farms of this state who never know what it is to be encouraged to take an interest in agriculture or stockraising. If these boys were given a small plot of land and some seed-corn, for example—to plant and cultivate, a circus would not be able to turn their thoughts very far away from the "enchanted spot" where a wonderful harvest will be theirs to reap. A boy may not be able to raise 232 bushels of corn on an acre of his father's land, but he can do well enough to make his efforts worth while. What boy in this county is going after that world's championship next year?

A LONESOME TEXAS EDITOR

The editor of the Guadalupe Gazette, published at Seguin, Texas, is a lonesome young man. Girls are scarce in Texas, down by the Rio Grande, and Editor Wood years for their society—even at long distance. In the latest issue of his paper arises this mournful cry:

"In opening a bundle of paper at the office of the Gonzales Inquirer, the names and addresses of two young ladies living in Maine were found, and the 'devil' on the Inquirer promptly got out his paper and a romance started. Why can't something like that happen to us? Something to disturb the even tenor of our monotonous way. If by any possible chance this would occur here at the Gazette office, you can bet the 'devil' would have to 'fork over those names and addresses.'"

We hope that Mr. Wood will awaken some morning to find that the monotony has fled—that "something has happened to disturb the even tenor" of his way—and it will happen, probably, if some ladies we know happen to read this article.
