"THE DEVIL'S DAUGHTER" TO SHOW AT THE REX

Famous Wm. Fox Production With The Most Beautifully Wicked Actress, Oct. 6.

The Devil's Daughter, pictured by William Fox, from Gabriele D'Annunzio's most exotic and famous work, the world-known "La Gioconda" is a screen play of tremendous force and forgetfully powerful in its depiction of an evil beautiful siren, who like the Lamia of ancient Greek mythology, is half serpent and half woman in her nature. Even if D'Annunzio had not insisted on the famed Theda Bara, the "Vampire Woman" of the Theatre Antoine, Paris, being cast for the part before he would sign the film rights over to William Fox, it is doubtful if anywhere on earth an actress could have been found, except Mlle Bara, possessed of the febrile art and sinister beauty requisite to portray "The Devil's Daughter." Miss Bara's work in parts of this type has become world famous from such William Fox productions as The Clemenceau Case, A Fool There Was, etc., in each of which the French leading woman in the part of a fascinating diabolical temptress has won international fame. Mlle Bara's striking and beautiful face has been called "The Wickedest in the World." In "The Devil's Daughter" she portrays a character even more insidiously evil than in any of her other great successes. If D'Annunzio had had Mlle Bara in mind when he penned Gioconda he could not have written a drama that more subtly suits this great actress's methods and temperament.

"The Devil's Daughter" opens with the theft of La Gioconda's beautiful jewels by Luigi, a former lover while she is being embraced by Antonio who has superseded Luigi in her capricious affections. Luigi leaves a note telling her that he has stolen the jewels out of vengeance and she will never see him again. La Gioconda discovers the note after Antonio has left. Her passionate rage is tigerish over the theft.

"As he has done to me so shall I now do to all men," she exclaims. "From now on my heart is ice, my passion as fire. Let all men beware." Time passes and we see Gaddi an old sculptor modeling the beautifully formed hands of Sylvia Doni, the daughter of a neighbor, while Francesca, her sister looks on. Lucio Sattello, a young sculptor and pupil of Gaddi's is struck by Sylvia's pure beauty, as fragrant with youth and sweetness as the white lillies she is holding. With Sylvia and Lucio the course of love runs smoothly and they are married. Lucio becomes a great sculptor; but his beautiful wife and his little daughter Beata mean more to him than all the applause of the outside world.

Then in an evil day La Gioconda comes to the quiet seaside retreat of the famed sculptor. Lucio, discontented with his model, takes a stroll on the beach and tries to quiet his mind by gazing out over the turquoise waters of the placid bay. Suddenly he comes upon "The Devil's Daughter" stretched out in the sun with an animal-like enjoyment of life. She transfixes Lucio with a glance from her heavily-lidded eyes and the sculptor returns her glance. Gioconda determines to ruin Lucio, who, as a celebrated sculptor, is a shining mark for her ambition.

"The Devil's Daughter" comes to Lucio's studio. She asks him if he is in need of a model. Struck by her extraordinary beauty Lucio begs her to pose for him as The Sphinx. Sylvia becomes jealous of the beautiful model with whom Lucio is more and more fascinated every day. Finally the Vampire dominates his life completely. He is her abject slave. Sylvia begs her husband to go away somewhere with herself and little Beata; but Lucio, too infatuated to realize that he is on the brink of a chasm filled with The Vampire's victims, refuses. At last driven insane by The Vampire's wiles Lucio tries to end his life by shooting himself before the statue of The Sphinx which is now completed.

"The Devil's Daughter" laughs cruelly when Sylvia, having nursed Lucio back to health forgetful of her pride and thinking only of her husband begs his enslaver to depart.

"I recognize no right on earth but the right to love!" she cries. The two women, for Sylvia's gentle nature is goaded to desperation have a furious quarrel. Finally Gioconda in a transport of rage rushes at the statue of The Sphinx seeking to destroy it. Sylvia intervenes. The statue is toppled from its base and falls upon Sylvia's beautiful hands crushing them into a shapeless pulp. Lucio goes insane when he learns what has happened but La Gioconda gloats over the wreck she has made of two lives. Sylvia leaves Lucio as soon as she is able, taking with her little Beata. Lucio is a prey to fearful visions and constantly seeks the mocking form of La Gioconda taunting him in his fits of delirium. The climax comes startlingly and rises to great dramatic heights. La Gioconda's evil career marked by ruined careers and withered hopes suffers a fearful end in a scene of overwhelming power and another sensational climax brings this most impressive modern drama to a dramatic close. This beautiful picture will be shown at The Rex on Oct. 6, No one should miss it.

SCHOOL NOTES.

With the addition of two new teachers, the courses of study in the Vale High School this year are progressing very rapidly. Mr. Kopp and Miss Ryder are the new teachers, taking the respective places of Mr. Pottle and Miss Stansbury, of the preceding semester.

Mr. Kopp is an excellent football coach, and the showing the boys make on the gridiron at the present time indicates a marked improvement since the arrival of the new coach. This week the work in training has been mainly scrimmage and signal practice, with the result that a game will in all probability be played on the home grounds last of next week.

Prof. Ruring, who is in correspondence with the different leagues, will arrange the schedule for the season. The College of Idaho refused Vale's offer to play at Vale Friday, on the grounds that they were not prepared. However, as interested teams are showing up at Boise, Parma, Fruitland, Ontario, New Plymouth and Weiser, it goes to show that more interest is being shown in football all over the country.

That Vale High school will produce an orchestra of consequence in the future was demonstrated by the amount of talent that turned out at the first meeting Monday night. A regular practice hour was set, and work will commence in dead earnest from now on.

The death of Hazel Thomson came as a distinct shock to the whole school, and many of her friends attended the funeral held Tuesday, six High School boys being selected as pallbearers.

Word comes from our old friend, Arthur Pottle, that he has secured a school in South Dakota, and is getting along well with his new pupils.

Self-government has been chosen in the assembly room. Regular student body officers have been elected, with Freeman Kirwin as president; Jack High, vice-president; Eva Neely, secretary; and Floyd Powell, treasurer and yell-leader.

The football boys have been talking of giving a minstrel show soon, to raise more funds to carry on the work of the club.

James Cook took up school work again this week, but has not gone into active training yet. Between Julian Hurley, Mr. Kopp, Dr. Williams and Cookie, no stone is left unturned in making a good eleven this year.

Miss Erna Hope is taking a post graduate course.

Mrs. Bennett Williams conducts the domestic science classes in the afternoon.
