HERALDS OF THE COMING KING

(By Request of the Seventh Day Adventists.)

The Signboards. A cluster of signs which are the precursors of His coming stand out boldly in the foreground. Twenty-five centuries of fulfilled prophecy form the background. With one voice, they proclaim the coming of our King. God has written it in heaven above and in earth beneath, announcing in advance certain unmistakable characteristics that will identify the last generation.

Unlimited in their scope, and unparalleled in their intensity, these characteristics will be found in every clime, and recognized in every walk of life. There are world signs, conspicuous and indisputable because of their universality and their intensity. Doubtless each one has been witnessed in certain localities, in a minor degree, at some time. But the time prophesied must come, when they will meet in the superlative degree, and in a single generation.

The generation now living is witnessing the incontrovertible signs which identify it as the last. This generation is marked. The living God has placed His signboards in every walk of life,—in the industrial world, the financial world, the social world, the physical world, the political world, the religious world, the scientific world, and in every other sphere of human activity, that all men everywhere may read and heed these portents of our times.

Occasionally one encounters a genius who seems to have trouble making a living at it.
