or more than one position a day during the entire year. We have had more than 200 calls for bookkeepers and stenographers that we could not supply. Every young man who took the Government examination for stenographers last year, passed it and received an appointment at an initial salary of $1000 a year—six have accepted positions since September 15 at that salary. EVERY STUDENT OF LAST YEAR IS NOW HOLDING A GOOD POSITION. Our students are employed, direct from school, by the best business concerns all over the Great Northwest. We have recently filled several splendid positions and now have four positions for young women at salaries from $59 to $100 a month, and one for a young man at $90 that we cannot fill because every advanced student is already holding a good position.

HERALDS OF THE COMING KING

(By Request of the Seventh Day Adventists.)

Tremendous Awakening.

The glad news of the Master's speedy return, foretold in Matt. 24: 14, is sweeping to earth's remotest bounds. A consecrated company of more than five thousand men and women are devoting their entire time and energy to proclaiming this one mighty fact to every nation,—that the final period is about to be placed upon the last page of earth's sin-stained history. And with the sound of this united army is mingled the sound of a multitude of other voices that here and there help to swell the warning cry. The divine plan is working out. In 1800 there were only four missionary societies in the world. Today there are 995, with a total force of 22,058 foreign missionaries and 88,542 native workers. On May 7, 1804, the British and Foreign Bible Society was organized. May 8, 1816, marked the founding of the American Bible Society. Today these two societies alone have 16,000 auxiliary and affiliated societies. The Bible is printed at the rate of 20,000-000 copies a year, in over five hundred distinct forms of human speech. Such are the preparations for this worldwide work.

ECONOMY IN SCIENCE

The increased extent to which the large industrial corporations of the country now support their own departments of scientific research is a gratifying development of the times.
Science is regarded as a necessity rather than a luxury. And this coming of science into its own as a large factor in the industrial life of the Nation is necessarily followed by a certain reaction of business upon science.
Never before, perhaps, has the demand been so keen for research that is no less than ever scientific in spirit in an method but that has a definite purpose and yields definite results. The idea of making science useful is not new, but the utility of science has become more universally the test of its value.
In the scientific work done under the Federal Government this demand for results is abundantly justified by the public need. If the strongest corporations are making large use of chemists, physicists, and geologists, the general public has similar need in its service for applied science.
The business policy of organizing scientific investigation for effective work, however, is far from novel, for in 1878, in the report to Congress advocating the creation of the United States Geological Survey, the National Academy of Sciences described the ideal plan for a scientific bureau as

TO IMPROVE THE POTATO

New Varieties Developed by Department—Experiments in Control of Diseases.

The department is conducting a number of potato investigations, chiefly at Presque Isle, Me.; Greeley, Colo.; Jerome, Idaho; and Norfolk, Va. One of the main features of the work is the development, from seed, of new varieties of potatoes especially suited for certain purposes and adapted to the special growing regions in which such products can most economically be produced. A large number of seedlings have been grown and those of greatest promise only retained, of which there are some 300 considered of sufficient value to warrant further testing. These are being tried out in cooperation with the various State stations, and as soon as they have proven their worth in any locality arrangements will be made to establish the variety in the region to which it is best adapted.

Experiments leading to a determination of the factors necessary for the production of disease-free potatoes in western irrigated sections have shown that organisms capable of causing diseases of potatoes are probably present in all desert lands, but that land previously in cultivation with grains and alfalfa may, when disease-free seed is planted, produce a crop comparatively free from disease.
In southern Idaho the experiments on the control of powdery dry rot in storage have been completed and show that the losses can be prevented by careful harvesting to avoid mechanical injuries and by keeping the storage cellar at a temperature between 35 and 40 degrees F., with proper ventilation. When it is necessary to store in poorly ventilated or improperly cooled houses the disease may be effectively checked by disinfection with corrosive sublimate or formaldehyde, provided this is done within 24 hours after digging. Further surveys have indicated that the powdery scab disease is confined to six sections of the United States, all of these being northern except one locality in Florida. In every case these areas are in sections with considerable rainfall, where soil conditions are such that poor drainage prevails. It has been found that the disease can be lessened by the application of seed and soil treatments. The cause of potato "leak," a rapid type of decay causing serious loss in the Delta district of California, has been discovered and experiments have shown that it can be controlled by careful harvesting and sorting before shipment.—Annual Report—Chief of Bureau of Plant Industry.

CAPITAL MORE FRIENDLY

The Sentinel was one of the first to come out boldly a few years ago and declare that Oregon had been made an uninviting lace for capital.
We were severely criticized by those who said that instead of helping things we would scare investors away completely. We contended that to keep quiet meant that conditions would get worse, that capital that did come here would soon learn the conditions and warm other capital away and that the only way to accomplish permanent good was to arouse the voters to the conditions that prevailed. That might mean temporary injury, but it would mean that we could achieve our destiny sooner than we would by getting capital here through silent hypocrisy.

Many other papers felt the same way and as a result of a free expression of opinion on the part of newspapers, Oregon voters have served notice that they are done with freak experiments, that single tax election, no matter in what form it is put on the ballot, and that Oregon offers legitimate protection to honest investment.

That the feeling toward Oregon is changing is borne out by the reports of those returning from the east who say capital has been impressed by the results of recent elections and by the signal defeats of single tax and is looking towards the empire of the Pacific for investments of funds being made through the manufacture of war munitions.
Oregon industries can soon look to the east for money with which to expand, but the good work is not yet complete. Industry is yet hedged about with too many senseless regulations that make the danger and expense of doing business too great.— Cottage Grove Sentinel.

Fact vs. Fancy.—A good story is being told of a reply given by a student to a question set in an examination-paper:
"If twenty men reap a field in eight hours," ran the question, "how long will it take fifteen men to reap the same field?"

The student thought long and carefully before setting down the answer, and when he handed in his paper this is what the examiner read:
"The field having already been reaped by the twenty men, could not be reaped by the fifteen."—Tit-Bits.

that which would yield the "best results at the least possible cost." Since that day, moreover, economy in science has become a more pressing issue. (37th Ann. Report, Director U.
S. Geological Survey, Department of the Interior.)

IN THE
SCHOOLS

The high school will issue an annual this year. It will far surpass all previous efforts in that line. Just look at the staff that has been appointed, and be convinced: Walter Taylor, business manager; Albert Murray, Editor in chief; David Ellis, athletics; Grace Wheeler, society; Lillian Davis, local; Helen Mueller, debate; Geo. Glenn and Maurice Jones, jokes.

The annual will be filled with illustrations, writings of the students and cartoons. Arrangements are being completed for the printing, and if things turn out right it will be issued early in the spring.

Basketball opened with a rush. 15 men turned out for practice the first night, much to the pleasure of Coach Williams. The first game of the season was played Thursday night with the Payette Y. M. C. A., and with the following team for Vale: Geo.
Glenn, center; Albert Murray and Mark Fletcher, guards; Geo. Brown and Dave Ellis, forwards. Most of the games will be played away from home this year.

The debaters who are trying out have not gone to the elimination knife just yet. This will happen in a very short time, when those who will represent Vale High in debate this year will be chosen. There are six trying out now. They are: Hazel Daly, Walter Taylor, Clarabelle Zornes, Leonore Stovall, Rachel Beam and N. Beam.

School closed for the Christmas holidays Friday afternoon, and will open on the first Tuesday after the New Year.

Chas. Crandall, Millard Nelsen, Geo.
Taylor, Evangelina Kendall and Carsten Mueller, all Vale High School graduates, are expected home for the holidays this year.
