WHAT YOUR BOND PURCHASE WILL ACCOMPLISH.

The following figures give one a definite idea of what his or her loss to the Government by the purchase of Liberty Bonds will accomplish when used by the War Department:

- One $50 bond will buy trench knives for a rifle company, or 23 hand grenades, or 14 rifle grenades, or 37 cases of surgical instruments for enlisted men's belts, or 10 cases of surgical instruments for officers' belts.

$100 bond will clothe a soldier, or feed a soldier for eight months, or pur chase 5 rifles or 30 rifle grenades, or 43 hand grenades, or 25 pounds of ether, or 145 hot-water bags, or 2,000 surgical needles. A $100 and a $50 bond will clothe and equip an Infantry soldier for service overseas, or feed a soldier for a year. Two $100 bonds will purchase a horse or mule for Calvary, Artillery, or other service. Three $100 bonds will clothe a soldier and feed him for one year in France, or buy a motorcycle for a machine-gun company.

Four $100 bonds will buy an X-ray outfit. One $500 bond will supply bicycles for the headquarters company of an Infantry regiment.

LOAFING A CRIME.

Under the spur of war-conditions Maryland, West Virginia, and New Jersey have passed laws penalizing idleness, and a similar bill has been introduced in the New York legislature by Senator Theodore Douglas Robinson a nephew of Colonel Roosevelt, says the Literary Digest. These laws apply to unemployed males between the ages of eighteen and fifty, and make no distinction between the millionaire idler and the hobo. And from Georgia comes word that Governor Dorsey is "preparing to take the lead in a movement to round up all the vagrants and idlers in the State and put them to work." These States, notes the Minneapolis Journal, are out after "the loafers and slackers who have inherited the railings and steps at the stationplatform, the comfortable boxes in the stores, and the favored observationposts around the pool-table," and "even the historical chair-warmers in the hotels are to be disturbed in their ancient privilege." This leisure population The Journal goes on to say, is not all concentrated in the big cities:

"Every town, village, and hamlet has its quota of idlers. Some live or their 'folks', others have enough 'to get along,' and still others do just enough work to provide food and clothing for themselves alone, and they rest and recreate for the remainder of the year. As a rule, these natural resters are not vicious. It is simple inertia that imposes idleness upon them Their lives follow the lines of least resistance, and they sit by the side of the road of life and 'muse upon the world that wavers by.' Farm work would be 'just splendid' for them, the perhaps none of them suffer much from ill health."

The man who is able to work and will not work is entitled to little consideration, remarks, the Troy Times, which thinks that there will be "wide-spread approval of efforts directed toward making him get busy. And in the Cincinnati Times-Star we read:

"The United States has more need for workers today than ever before The tasks we have before us are almost beyond calculation. We not only need the services of every man who can be brought to these tasks, but we have no time to bother with or be handicapped by the idle and slothful."

THE SCHOOL HOUSE AND A BETTER WORLD.

The war for democracy is bringing democracy home to the people. One of the latest evidence of this is the response that the school directors all that they give the use of the school buildings under their control for meetings on the night of April 12, when it is planned to hold 100,000 Liberty loan rallies in the rural school houses clear across the country.

For years past various organizations of women and men too have been trying to impress school boards with the idea that school houses should be common property since they are kept up by community taxes, and the fact that the tax-payer has neither chick nor child does not relieve him from the necessity of paying his school tax. And for years various otdurate directors have complained of the dirt tracked in, the coal burned and the oil consumed. With Mr. McAdoo succeeding where they have failed, it may be easier for them to carry their point later on. With every individual and industry taxed to the utmost to do its bit, it seems as if the schools should be called upon to give a little overtime for their country. If they show some wear and tear they can never show it for a better cause.

Directly in line with this is the announcement made by Dr. Henry E. Jackson at the anniversary celebration of Columbia University, New York

"The war is making a challenge to all thoughtful people to organize a better sort of world," D. Jackson said. "The best answer to this challenge is the organization of school districts into little democracies with the school houses as their capitals. The natural center of any American community is the free public school building. It is the ideal platform for a community forum where citizens may go to school to one another and freely discuss all social and economic questions in order to fit themselves for the responsibilities of citizenship. It is the social center for all enterprises. Several national agencies working to meet the present national need have simultaneously discovered, the United States Bureau of Education and the Council of National Defense have agreed to unite their forces. We expect to send letters to all state and county superintendents of schools and all state and county councils of defense suggesting the best methods of procedure."

National war work, Dr. Jackson said, will be future conducted from the school house of each community. In this develment D. Jackson will represen the Bureau of Education and Elliott Smith will represent the Council o National Defense.
