Statement and Platform

In announcing myself as a candid date for nomination for Governor on the Republican ticket at the primary election to be held on May 17, 1918, I desire to appeal to the voters of Oregon as individuals, who, as such, are well qualified to judge the issues of the day and who can and will vote as their judgment shall direct.

I am a Republican and believe in the principles of the Republican party, and above everything I am an American and believe in the principles of my country. I am not a member of, nor affiliated with, any particular faction or part of the Republican party; nor am I pledged to support any of the candidates for office at the coming primary election. I pledge the people of Oregon, that, in conducting my campaign I will not support any particular candidate for office in preference to the other candidate for the same office; that I will not promise appointment to office or political patronage to anyone; that if nominated and elected I shall enter office with neither promise nor pledge to redeem, except those which I give to the people themselves; reserving the right to make such appointments and to conduct the office with whatever unprejudiced independence the best interests of the people of Oregon and the development, peace and welfare of the State shall demand. If the voters decide that they do not desire that I be their candidate I will give my undivided support to the Republican candidate of their choice.

I shall, as far as possible, make a personal campaign, with the object of meeting as many individuals as time will permit, and shall endeavor to establish and maintain a close personal relationship with the people of the State, so that I may the better know and understand their needs and requirements.

In the present struggle for world peace, democracy and the very existence of the nation itself, the first solemn obligation of every man, woman and child is to the land of their birth or adoption. Faithful to that obligation Oregon is proud of its contribution in men, money, food, lumber and ships. The entire wealth and all of the resources of the State have been placed at the disposal of the Government, and if nominated and elected, I shall accord the nation and the administration that full and complete measure of support and assistance which its patriotic citizenship has already exacted.

The people of Oregon have placed upon the State books certain laws which if nominated and elected, I shall with all the power and authority of the office of Governor, rigidly and uncompromisingly enforce. The spirit of the times and the vital importance of state-wide prosecution of the Government's war activities require that law and order shall prevail. I shall consider it my sacred duty to preserve such a condition.

I favor the establishment of a national, universal eight hour day for all classes of labor except for agriculture, the very nature of which, makes it impossible to restrict the working hours of any set number.

I am firmly convinced that the

WANTED----- A MANAGER for the State's Biggest Industry

NAMELY; THE STATE OF OREGON ITSELF Viewed in the light of current events there is a feeling which grows stronger from day to day, that Oregon must have a business administration of state's affairs. It is imperative that politics, in the ordinary sense be placed on the shelf, long enough to give to Oregon an administration which shall make development and construction, the matter of first importance, such that the affairs of state and country may be advanced under the same spirit of cooperation and progress.

We realize more and more that Washington to the North and California to the South are today enjoying the fruits of greater development though the potential possibilities of each are in many instances less than those of Oregon.

We realize that state's administration must understand and guide on sound business principles the needed development.

But men of experience and ability must be called on to successfully foster a sound business administration.

L. J. SIMPSON Republican Candidate for Governor is by 19 years successful conduct of his own interests and an active broad-minded conduct of community development pre-eminently fitted to give just this sort of needed administration.

Consider him as a man who wants to be the manager of the state's biggest industry—the state itself.

Hire him on the record he has established, the success he has made of his own affairs and the ability to foster such development that he has shown in his own community.

He is "Your kind of a Man for Governor."
