ITEMS OF INTEREST ABOUT THE BOYS AND GIRLS.

Kitchen Queens Hold Demonstration.
Members of the "Kitchen Queens" Cooking club held two demonstrations Friday evening. The parents and other persons in the community interested in the club work were invited.

The team, consisting of Ethel Hickoy, Irene Brumback and Marian Roberts, demonstrated the proper way to make a cake. Each team member took their turn in explaining the different steps while the other two girls actually did the work. Making white sauce was demonstrated by the other team, consisting of Anna Phelan, Marie Tate and Mary Samar. Both demonstrations were exceptionally good. The girls in this club under the capable leadership of Mrs. Eachus are receiving the fundamentals in cooking in a practical way.

After the demonstrations the young folks enjoyed a couple hours of dancing and the parents played bridge. The evening was declared a decided success when the cooking club members served delicious ice-cream and cake.

Pig Club Organized at Oregon Slope.
Ten boys at Oregon Slope have enrolled for the Pig Club work. At a recent meeting Curtis Carico was elected president. Gerald Frost, vice-president, Archie Tomlin, secretary, Merie Vannatta, captain, and Junior Miller, manager of the baseball team. James Atterbury was unanimous selection for local leader. The other members of the club are Kenneth Frost, John Conner, Edgar Tomlin, George Davis and Clifford Putnam. A team from this club won first place in the judging contest at the county fair last year and should show up exceptionally well in that part of the work again this year. Archie Tomlin is the only member of the team who is now living in the community, but John Conner, Edgar Tomlin, Junior Miller and George Davis were in the club last year and while they did not make the team they did very good work and will undoubtedly put up a strong fight for a place this year.

Warren Pig Club Meets at Sitton's.
Members of the Warren Pig club met at Sitton's on Saturday to discuss the selection, feeding and housing of pigs. It was universally agreed that a club member could not afford to buy a grade pig and that the only way to make hog raising profitable was to get into the purebred game. The value of pasture to provide green feed and exercise was especially emphasized.

ORPHANS ARE HOPE OF THE NEAR EAST

Oregon Teacher Tells of the 110,000 Children in American Orphanages "Over There."

The hope of the entire Near East country, according to Miss Margaret Reid, teacher in Jefferson High School of Portland, who recently returned from a term of service in the Near East Relief orphanages in Russian Armenia, is bound up in the 110,000 orphans being fed, clothed, educated and trained for farming and the industrial trades.

The continuous wars which have swept this unfortunate country since 1914, she says, have left it devastated and its people helpless, starving and in despair before the staggering task of reconstruction.

"They are plodding on as best they can," says Miss Reid, "but are centering all their hopes for the future of the Armenian and Syrian races upon the 110,000 children in the American orphanages who are receiving careful American training. Outside the orphanages there is practically no schooling or training to be had. Every effort must be directed towards the difficult objective of mere physical survival. Many 12 year old children can neither read nor write. This is because war has swept that country ever since 1914. These boys and girls are from well-educated families, and realizing how handicapped they are, they come to the orphanages and offer to give up part of their food if they can be given schooling. From the destitute families come mothers in rags and tatters, thin and hollow-eyed from hunger, offering to make any sacrifice if we will only establish schools for their children. . . . In all the orphanages the children are being taught to read, write and figure in their own language. The older, and brighter children receive instruction in geography, history and English. Because bread is needed so much more than education, we cannot afford a sufficient number of teachers to teach personally all the children, so our few teachers give their extra time to the bright pupils, who are able, in a short time, to serve as teachers for the others. These children are marvellously industrious. Practically all the work of my orphanage was carried on by the children, who did all the cleaning, sewing, cooking and laundry work, also helping in the hospital work and clinical treatments. They realize that every penny of American money must go for their support and to help other children keep alive, so the boys of our orphanage, when they wanted a swimming pool, dug the hole themselves and then went without supper twice a week for many weeks in order to buy the cement and the labor of the workmen to finish it.

"When the little refugee children come into our orphanages they are always in a most pitiable condition—dirty, covered with vermin, clad only in filthy rags, and many of them afflicted with scabies, trachoma and other diseases resulting from starvation, exposure and lack of care. The first task is to clean the child thoroughly, shave its head, and treat the eyes and scabies sores. Next comes a system of careful feeding, but the food proves fatal to the famished and emaciated little bodies. In about two weeks the little waifs are able to run about, but it takes a year or more to make them over into normal, wholesome children. Their joy and happiness in the paradise of an American orphanage is the thing that makes it possible for an American worker to endure the sights that must be seen on the outside of the orphanage walls every day. But happy as they are, these little ones never seem to forget the awful things they have been through. We had one little boy named John, four years old, who for weeks after being admitted, would steal the shoes of the other boys, their books, food from the kitchen, everything. This was because the only way he had of keeping alive all his life, had been by stealing. Another boy of six years would sit by the door, for days after he came, with his hands out begging for food, despite the fact that he was receiving three meals a day. It was hard to make him understand that he still did not have to beg for food. A four-year-old boy who had spent the previous winter begging in a ruined village and sleeping at night among the sheep, had a perfect horror of being sent away from the orphanage. One day he recognized two women visitors who came from the ruined village where he had begged when scarcely more than a baby, and he ran to me sobbing and in terror, pleading with me not to let them take him away. The boy who ran my errands was 13 years old, an Armenian. He had seen his entire family killed before his eyes in a Turkish massacre. Hiding among the ruins, he escaped massacre, but next day was found by some Arabs, who took him into the desert and made him their slave for two years. Then he was rescued by the English and brought to our orphanage.

"The personal history of each little orphan is a tragedy in itself and no one but those in close touch with these little ones can know their deep gratitude and reverence for anything American. This gratitude and reverence is universal throughout all that land of sorrow, where the helping hand of America, through the Near East Relief, has saved hundreds of thousands from death by starvation and today offers the only hope for the survival and rehabilitation of these tragically stricken races."

Chicks Get Overheated.
Young chicks in brooders are easily overheated after they get to be three or four weeks old unless the temperature is greatly reduced from that maintained the first few days. If kept too warm chicks will not feather out properly. Roosts should be provided when the chicks are about a month old, or a deep bank of straw may be placed at the side of the brooder house which will tend to spread the chicks out.—O. A. C. Experiment Station.

HARPER HAS BIG DAY

WESTFALL AND HARPER STUDENTS PARTICIPATE IN ENTERTAINMENT

The pupils and teachers of the Harper and Westfall schools united on Arbor Day, April 14, and the day was devoted to programs, sports and tree planting. The grounds of the Harper school have been leveled, and playground apparatus installed. A tennis court, croquet grounds and baseball kept the visitors and home pupils busy. At lunch time a picnic of the parents and townspeople were in attendance. After luncheon trees were planted around the grounds and all adjourned to watch the races. Considerable rivalry was shown between the two schools with a proper amount of school spirit which tended to make the day a great success. A ball game was held in the afternoon, Harper vs. Westfall, which was won by Westfall.

A dance was given last Friday in honor of the Westfall visitors to the Arbor Day exercises and a good time was reported by all.

C. G. Griffin spent the middle of the week in Vale visiting his family. On his return he brought a car load of shade trees which were planted at the school house.

Claud Wells left on Saturday to visit his family in Vale who are staying at the James Roberts ranch. Many hands of sheep have arrived upon the spring range surrounding Harper. On account of the cold weather feed is not so plentiful, and those who are April lambing are losing quite a few lambs.

Mrs. Jones arrived last week to assist Mrs. S. A. Welch in the Harper restaurant. Mrs. Jones home is in Enterprise Ore.

Miss May Rowley is now attending school in Harper. She has been attending at Juntura, but came here where she will be nearer her family.

Mrs. R. R. Yeoman and little daughter, Adine, left Tuesday for a visit with relatives at Baker.

Rev. P. M. Marple held his regular bi-monthly services at Riverside last Sunday and will hold services here this coming Sunday.

Mrs. Ernest Roethler arrived today from Haines, Ore., for a visit with her parents.

E. L. Morton returned Monday from Ontario where his wife recently underwent an operation at the hospital. Mrs. Morton is steadily recuperating and expects to return home soon.

Mrs. Laura Purcell returned to Harper Wednesday from Ontario where she was nursing Mrs. Morton. A baby son was born April 12th to Mr. and Mrs. Dave Kime at Ontario.

Mrs. Frank Kime left on Saturday for medical treatment in Ontario.

Mrs. Orrin Rowley visited friends in Harper this week, returning to Westfall Wednesday.

Mrs. Annie Fenton and daughter spent the week at the Pierce Shrader home.

The quarters of the Harper State Bank are undergoing an overhauling and more room is being added by the rearrangement of fixtures. The interior is being calcolined and painted, which will add much to the attractiveness to the bank.

Mr. Frank Kime was suddenly taken ill the first of the week and was rushed to the hospital in Ontario.

The Harper Confectionery is showing up more brightly owing to a new coat of paint being put on by the owner, William Welch.

James Graham of Westfall is a Harper visitor this week, attending to the assessing in this part of the county.

Chas. W. Pierce arrived last week from Payette for a visit with his sister, Mrs. Louis Hucker.

STIRRING LIFE IS CALLED 'HUM-DRUM'

Oregon Woman Fights Typhoid, Saves 1000 Children and Runs Special Trains.

"My life has been so hum-drum and so nothing has happened to me out of the ordinary I am sure there is nothing in what I have done the last two years in the Near East that would be of interest to my Oregon friends," stated Mrs. Amy Anthony Burt of Bend, Oregon, to J. J. Handsaker, State Director of the Near East Relief when he met her in Constantinople last summer.

"After much effort," says Mr. Handsaker, "I persuaded her to tell me some of the things of this hum-drum life of hers. Sitting in a Constantinople coffee-house she told me of some of the events of her life since March 1919, when she arrived in the Near East."

"Her first work was at Karakliss, where with her sister, Miss Gertrude Anthony, she had charge of a large orphanage and a territory 75 miles square for general relief. During the time she was there she nursed her sister through both typhoid and typhus. The two women were alone in this station.

"After going through this experience they went to Alexandropol and there one day received a message from the English that they were evacuating Baku, some 500 miles away. The British had been feeding about 1,000 children, and unless they were transferred immediately they would starve as soon as the British left. This Oregon woman whose life was so hum-drum quietly secured two special trains, putting a man in charge of one, and taking the other herself. On arriving at Baku, she began loading the children at 10 o'clock a. m. and had the children and their supplies all aboard by 6:30 p. m. She read the riot act to the Turkish captain in charge of the train and he compelled the guards to cease attempting to enter the cars where the older girls and women were. The round trip took nearly two weeks, but Mrs. Burt returned to Alexandropol with her two train loads of children without having lost a single child.

Pear Fruit Worm Serious.
Pear growers are advised to examine blossom clusters carefully for small, greenish worms. If evidence of their presence is found it is entirely practical to add arsenate of lead to the pink spray for scab control. These worms are the early stages of the pear fruit worm which causes much more injury in Oregon than is generally believed.—O. A. C. Experiment Station.

It Costs You More to rot buildings than it does to let paint save them

CHECK the costs. Compare the prices of lumber and paint. They will show you how extravagant it is to allow buildings to depreciate for lack of paint. And buildings do depreciate rapidly unless they are painted when they need to be. Paint saves the lumber. It protects your investment.

To enjoy the biggest saving in painting, use the best paint. It spreads more easily—saves labor cost. It covers more surface per gallon than "cheap" paint.

It serves five or more years longer than "cheap" paint.

The best paint is most economical because it is scientific in formula and preparation. We have been making best paints for 73 years.
