CHERRYVILLE

Frank Rhodes, with one assistant, one half day last week, sawed 8000 shingles at his saw mill 3 miles north of town and he says from one cedar log he sawed 40,000 shingles. He says his claim contains fully $15000 worth of shingles and lumber of cedar alone. There are fully 100 so-called railroad claims around here that have fully as many cedar logs and stumps on them that no one can use on account of litigation.

In a recent issue of the Sunday Oregon Journal there is an article commenting on a letter received by the writer from Robert Lincoln stating that the old lady at Eugene, 104 years of age, who claimed she was an aunt of Lincoln is mistaken as his only aunt lives in Ky. Acting upon this the Journal got in touch with the aunt at Louisville, Ky., who says she never had a brother, Frank Todd, living in Mo., and that all three of her brothers were killed in the Civil war.

U. S. Senator Lane in writing to your correspondent says he will continue to stir up the animals in the U. S. Senate, no matter how much it shocks their pretended dignity nor smug self-complacency. No one is well enough versed in the dead language to insult Root or Gallinger.

While Portland is still dallying about their new post office building, Cherryville has its new post office building nearly finished and it will be ready for business next week. Nothing like push when you want to push things.

Two teams from the school here will engage in a spelling contest at Sandy on Thursday of this week with teams at Sandy and from Kelso, Firwood, and the Bluffs.

GILBERT

The Ramapo Musical and Literary Club met on Tuesday evening at the home of Mr. Lynn, but the storm of the afternoon kept the crowd at home. Those present report a pleasant time. The next meeting will be at the residence of Mr. J. L. Johnson on Lenox avenue.

Mrs. Rindie led the meeting at Bennett Chapel Sunday evening. Say, it was good—like old times.

Mr. F. E. Dano who has been living on Lenox avenue near Ramapo station has bought a fruit farm at the Dalles. He leaves here to take up a position which he held there in the past. They want him back, and it certainly is not to be wondered at, as he is a splendidly refined, educated man. The whole family will be missed by those who knew them best. We are sorry to have them leave this locality.

Calkins, the poultry man is putting up a hall on Buckley avenue. He requests those in the vicinity to help erect it and offers the hall free for all respectable use or entertainment. We can stand lots of that socialism eh?

Eugenia Park

Mr. and Mrs. Chas Isaacson, have recently moved into their new cottage on 10th. Ave., between Leiser and Holly streets.

Mr. and Mrs. John Brown have started preparations for an attractive bungalow on their property on 9th Ave. near Rose St.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sterne, of 831 E. Everett St. came over Sunday in their auto, as visitors of Mr. H. C. Richmond of 10th. Ave. They contemplate building on their property on 9th. Ave., this spring, and we all welcome them back in our midst.

Mr. H. C. Richmond of 10th Ave has now completed the interior of his house and as soon as the weather permits will paint exterior, making it one of the most attractive homes in Eugenia Park addition.

Mrs. S. Montgomery of 8th avenue is recovering from a bad case of la grippe.

Friends of Mrs. N. Y. Richmond, of 8 th. Ave. will be glad to hear, that she is steadily improving in health, and the best wishes of the Herald, and its patrons are with her, for her speedy recovery.

Mrs. D. Arbuckle, of 8th. Ave. is steadily improving, after her seige of grippe of the past two weeks.

Measles seem to be very prevalent in this vicinity causing many vacancies in the school rooms.

Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Porter, have returned to their home on the Oregon City road between Rose and Lesser Sts. They have been on a ranch near Mosier Oregon, the past year.

Residents of Grays Crossing and vicinity, certainly appreciate the gravel strewn on the path on the Oregon City road, by the city, and would heartily be in favor of more arc lights

HOW TO MAKE SOAP CUREALL FOR PLANTS.

To keep plants that can be grown indoors in fine condition shave a pound of a good white soap very finely into a gallon of boiling water. When dissolved add twenty-four gallons of cold water and use without delay. If a small quantity is wanted dissolve one-sixth of a small cake of soap in a pint of boiling water and add a gallon and a half of cold water.

Apply to rose plants, carnations, violet leaves and the like. Half an hour after applying rinse off the solution with soft, clear water.

For begonias, fuchsias, ferns and all tender and bulbous plants add a third more water to the solution so that it will be about three-fourths as strong as the one mentioned above and again, after half an hour, rinse off with clear, soft water. Be careful always to reach the under as well as the upper side of the leaves.

HALLOWEEN PARTY.

How to Have Jolly Good Fun on Oct. 31.

This jolly Halloween party given last year may offer suggestions to the hostess of 1913. On the invitations to the party were inscribed the following jingle done in fantastic lettering:

When you arrive next Tuesday night,
 Oh, be prepared to tell
 The worst adventure, fearful fright,
 That ever you befell!

The rooms were gorgeous with autumn leaves, golden yellow pumpkin jack-o'-lanterns and fantastic black cat candle shades. An upstairs room which was occupied had been turned into a "chamber of horrors." The walls were hung with sheets, then witches, spiders, bats, owls and cats had been cut from black paper, almost life sized, and pasted on them; the lights were shaded with a green paper that gave a most ghastly glow. In this weird place the guests were assembled to relate their "horror" tales. A black cat and her family of jet black kittens played about, adding interest to the scene.

As the people entered this spooky place a ghostly figure held out its hand in greeting. A white kid glove had been stuffed with fine sawdust and laid on ice for hours, a round stick was fastened to it, which the ghost had concealed under the flowing sleeve draperies. This is an old trick, but one that always works well.

When the stories were about finished a strange rattling was heard at the door and two little scarlet clad imps rushed into the room and chased everybody down to the dining room. The table was lovely with a huge pumpkin coach drawn by twelve chocolate mice, which cavorted about the table driven by a black cat coachman. The coach was filled with grapes and yellow chrysanthemums. At each place there was an individual lantern made from an orange. The bonbon holders were yellow ice cups attached to pumpkin wheels drawn by black cats. The hostess said she had made these from crape paper, cutting out the figures, mounting them on cardboard, then touching them up a bit with black and gold paint. These wonderful crape papers are a great help to hostesses, as the napkins come decorated for nearly every special day in the calendar and they are very decorative.

A simple but "Halloweeny" menu was served, consisting of coffee, crab meat a la Newburg in the chafin dishes, cheese, olives, cider, popcorn, salad (Waldorf) in red hollowed out apples, gingercakes and a huge cake containing the usual mystic symbols—namely, a ring, riddle, coin and button.

On a stand by the fireplace there was a huge bowl filled with chestnuts, raisins and apples for roasting. It was all jolly and informal, as Halloween parties should be.

How to Lessen Tire Trouble.

One-half the enjoyment of touring is immunity from tire troubles. The average owner-driver can enjoy this immunity by exercising care in making his preparations. Blowouts, punctures and other tire troubles are holdups that he looks forward to with no degree of enjoyment, whereas a little preparation in the way of accessories for temporary repairs obviates unnecessary delay.

In the first place, he should be sure that his castings and tubes are in good condition and that he has an extra supply of both. Then, with a good air pump, a tire gauge to test the air pressure in his tires and a supply of tire repair devices, he can go on his way confident that he has taken every precaution to sidestep tire troubles. He will find that thus prepared the tour will be more enjoyable both for himself and his guests.

How to Make Lemonade Sirup.

Many housewives have found that it is wiser and more economical to make lemonade sirup than to rely on making lemonade impromptu. Make a sirup by using one cupful of sugar to one pint of water and boil about ten minutes. Add lemon juice, strained, or other juice and bottle. Use as required and dilute if necessary to individual tastes.

Woodmere Circle Meets

The Woodmere Parent-Teachers Circle met at the school house last Friday evening. Geo. M. Weister entertained them in an educational way with his stereopticon views of the wonder sights of Oregon accompanied by interesting descriptions and anecdotes of his travels. The Boys Orchestra under the skillful leadership of Miss Ewing one of the teachers gave several delightful musical numbers. A business meeting of parents and teachers concluded the evening.

The circle meets every third Friday of the month in the school auditorium at 8 o'clock, Mr. Frank Melvin is President and Mrs. Chas Thomas secretary.

The Mothers Club meets at the school house every second Tuesday afternoon at about 2:30. Parents interested in the school life of their children should attend these meetings when ever it is possible to do so.

Whitewashing the interior of the poultry house will not rid it of lice unless a little carbolic acid is added to the wash.
