CHERRYVILLE

This is the week we decorate. Nobody kicking on these fine warm rains.

There is no telling how much good these gentle showers have done. Decoration exercises at the cemetery here on Saturday afternoon at 2:30 p. m.

The Industrial Club met at the school house on Wednesday afternoon of this week.

Mrs. Elizabeth Shank gave a social party and hop at her ranch north and east of town last Saturday night.

Vincent Freil and Charley Lauterback went to the Cascade Locks on the Columbia, on Monday, where they have secured employment in a saw-mill. The President says he has a feeling amounting to a passion for the poor peons of Mexico, who constitute the large mass of the inhabitants and who have been robbed for centuries by the wealthy few and the priests. How about the struggling poor in this country? They need sympathy and they need help.

A young college student from Corvallis passed through here on his way to the mountains. He said Dr. Smith, the Democratic nominee for governor, would easily beat Dr. Whitycombe, the Republican nominee, who he says—from actual contact with him in the college—is nothing but a "hot-air pusher," and although he teaches agriculture, went flat-broke twice as a rancher, and said further that his ranch at Hillsboro is the worst looking ranch in the state.

August Berdenstien will begin the erection of a bank barn on his ranch north and east of town this week. The size of the barn will be 24x48.

Wm. Koenecker, living between Cherryville and Firwood, sold a four year old steer last week for $95. This animal ran on the range the greater part of the year, requiring but little feed in the winter, and then only when there is deep snow on the ground, which seldom occurs.

Plank laying began this week between the post office and the Freil ranch east of town. When the planks are all down between here and Brightwood and on the Cherryville west of town, nearly a mile of good road will be laid and no bonds hanging over our heads either.

Lumber is on the ground for the erection of a bungalow for the postmaster and family. Archie Averill lately returned from Santa Barbara, Cal., and has charge of the work.

CORBETT

Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Rasmussen autoed to Monmouth to attend State Grange and also visited their daughter, Miss Ruby, who is attending Normal school there.

Mr. Patterson went to Portland Saturday to see his wife, who is still confined to the hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. St. Joseph Leland returned from Lake County Friday. Mrs. Leland is suffering from a bruised shoulder, caused by falling from a buggy.

The Misses Susan Shelly and Esther Kincaid were in Portland the first of the week.

Rev. Reeder is painting the church, which adds greatly to its appearance.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Jones visited a daughter at Camas, Thursday.

Mrs. Blackhall of Portland visited her daughter, Mrs. Floyd Reed, the first of the week.

The Brethren are building a Gospel hall at Springdale, the dimensions being 24x48, with a concrete basement.

Fred Reed made a trip to Camas Thursday in his motor boat.

Ralph Kincaid and Miss Iva Reed attended the dance at Troutdale Saturday evening.

Billy Beals is a visitor at the Floyd Reed home.

The run of saffron in the Columbia is now comparatively light. The river is rising and the water is muddy. Very few fish have been caught during the last few days.

Mrs. Rogers returned from a trip up the river Friday.

Miss Laura Reed visited her sister, Mrs. Albert Fox at Troutdale last week.

KELSO

Miss Clara Jonsrud, daughter of Gilbert Jonsrud, and Walter Johanson, son of Chas. Johanson of Orient, were united in marriage Monday, May 18th. After a two weeks tour of the Sound Cities, they will be at home to their many friends, at Orient where Mr. Johanson is engaged in the general merchandise business. The bride was born and raised in this community, and has a host of friends who extend their wishes for happiness to the young couple.

Miss Carrie Lamoreaux has been engaged to teach the primary grades at B-ring next year.

R. Jonsrud and family spent the week end in Portland.

The Union High School petition in this district received a sufficient number of signatures to put the question before the voters at the annual school meeting to be held June 15th.

D. Chesley and family intend to move back to Waldport in the near future. Mrs. M. Eri and daughter Marie are staying with the former's father-in-law John Eri, until after Decoration Day.

Mrs. Joel Jarl has gone to Eastern Oregon.

J. F. Thricke is building a new barn. X. Decker recently moved back to his place at Kelso.

English services were held in the Lutheran church Sunday evening.

Miss Clara Hardison is visiting with Mrs. Minnie Platt at Rainier for a few weeks.

A GOOD POULTRY RATION AND COST FOR ONE YEAR

Oregon Agricultural College, Corvallis, Ore. May.—A perfect ration for laying hens contains the required food elements in approximately the right proportion, and in the forms most economical in the locality where the feeding is done. Professor James Dryden, head of the Poultry department, Oregon Agricultural College, has prepared a list of five more or less exact rations for one laying hen for one year. The following is ration No. 4, considered to be one of the best for most places in Oregon:

Material	No. of Pounds	Cost
Wheat	30	.45
Oats	10	.15
Bran	10	.12½
Corn	5	.10
Beef scrap	5	.20
Corn meal	5	.10
Linseed meal	5	.12½
Middling	5	.07½
Shell	3	.03
Grit	3	.03
Charcoal	2	.05
Green food		.05
Total		1.48½

While the cost of the above ration will vary in different seasons and at different places, it is thought to be very close to the average cost. Most of the material, such as wheat, oats and corn, can be produced more cheaply on the farm, and it marketed more economically when converted into poultry products. Other material such as green food, charcoal, grit and shell or their substitutes, can be furnished from natural sources with but little cost. Often milk and other farm products can be substituted for some of the materials that otherwise would have to be bought. By a careful study of the given rations the poultrymen will be able to supply the necessary food elements by substituting a more economical material. Of course the amounts should vary slightly with the difference in egg production and in size of fowls.

If it is to be conceded that the cost of maintaining a hen for one year is $1.50, the necessity of securing better than the average six dozen-egg hen is at once apparent. The yearly product of such a hen has an average value of about $1.50. The yearly production of a good layer is worth twice that amount; and most of the increase represents a clear profit.

SOME GOOD CURES.

Question.—My driving horse has a disease of the front feet that the horseshoer calls thrush. A very disagreeable odor is present in the region of the frogs. Will you kindly prescribe?—P. M.

Answer.—Clean the stall thoroughly once a day and remove soiled litter, giving the animal a fresh bed each night. Wash the frogs once a day with a solution of creolin, a tablespoonful to a pint of water, then apply freely powdered calomel to affected parts. In the treatment of this disease clean bedding is very important.

Question.—Kindly prescribe an efficient remedy for chronic mange on a dog ten years of age. This dog, a blooded Scotch collie, has large sores on different parts of his body. Have used different mange remedies without success.

Answer.—Mange is a very difficult disease to eradicate. Persistent treatment is the only means of checking it. The following prescription for chronic mange has given excellent results: Beta naphthol, 1 dram; carbolic acid, 1 dram; precipitated sulphur, 1 oz; lard, 2 oz.

This is an effectual remedy if the animal is not inclined to lick, but when taken internally in sufficient quantities, it is poisonous. If the animal is inclined to lick the affected parts, I would recommend, instead of the above prescription, the use of compound sulphur ointment, national formula. Apply to affected parts once a day. Before using either of these ointments, the affected parts should be washed with boric acid solution—a teaspoonful of boric acid to a pint of warm water, applied with a toothbrush. The above treatment will be beneficial in almost all cases of mange, concerning which inquiries are so frequently made.

One of the newest and most interesting crops raised in Oregon is the mint from which peppermint oil is extracted. In other sections of the country where this oil is an established product, the oil sells at $3 to $4 per pound. Experiments conducted in the vicinity of West Stayton, Marion County, indicates that this crop, when grown under irrigation, will yield at the rate of $120 per acre. It is expected that a plant for distilling the oil will be erected at West Stayton and a profitable business in the shipping of plants to other sections built up.
