Bulletin No. 174, lately issued by the Vermont experiment station, tells of the prevention of contagious abortion by the use of methylene blue. During the past year the station has fed this preventive to ninety-two cows that were infected with the disease, and only one aborted. Methylene blue is a strong antiseptic, which is absorbed by the blood and is then given off through the kidneys. While in the blood it kills the germs of abortion. It may be given to the cows infected in their grain or silage or in capsules. From one-third to one-half ounce is given night and morning for a week early in the pregnant period. Following this at intervals of every four weeks this dosing is repeated until calving time. A week's medicine costs about 70 cents, the chemical costing $2.50 per pound. The medicinal grade of methylene blue is used in the treatment.

On the North side of the Columbia the Government is pushing the North Jetty ever farther and farther out into the ocean, hauling and dumping rock at the rate of 4,000 to 5,000 tons every day. A giant pile driver occupies the seaward end of the trestle, steadily hammering great trees into the sand as a support for the rails over which the miniature locomotives haul endless trainloads of boulders which are tumbled into the surf at an average rate of nearly ten tons per minute. The rock is transported on barges from the quarries on the river bank above Vancouver, Washington. Every carload is weighed between the receiving dock and the jetty.

CHERRYVILLE

Wait till the clouds roll by.

Nobody talking about the danger of forest fires at this stage of the game.

One thing certain, and that is the grass and grain are growing at a great rate.

Miss Percy Watkins, a teacher at Ashland, Oregon, is spending her vacation with her brother, Howard Watkins, on the hill north and east of town.

Now that the Court of Appeal at Frisco has sent the railroad land case up to the Supreme court, or court of last resort, the squatters here are hopeful that a final decision in this long-drawn suit will be reached not later than fall or winter. It is inconceivable that the Supreme court will reverse the decision of all the lower courts. The next thing will be the manner in which the government will dispose of the land. One of the railroad's attorneys in his address at Frisco said the stockholders should be first considered and not a squatter living in a shack way up on a rocky mountain side. The poor squatter was trying to found a home and had no money for this "legal blackleg," while the rich bondholder and powerful railroad corporation was giving him $3500 a year to lie and do all manner of dirty tricks. Railroads will soon be owned and run by the government the same as they are in every first class government in Europe.

KELSO

Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Jonsrud and children Lillie and Grant, started on an automobile trip to Corvallis where their son Albert is attending the agricultural college. The latter will accompany his parents home to spend his vacation.

Mrs. Henderson of Latourell Falls visited Mrs. Patterson the last of the week.

This section of the country was visited by a very severe hail storm last Thursday afternoon.

Mrs. Patterson returned from a Portland hospital Thursday and is slowly convalescing.

GILBERT

The graduation exercises of the eight grade in the Gilbert school, took place on Friday, June 5. The pupils who graduated were Irma McTaggart, Maxine Timmens and Ernest Liden. In connection with this they gave under the management of Mr. Mathews, the principal, a play "Topsy-turvy," or "Courtship of the Deacon." Miss Hazel Burse played the leading part and was ably supported by seven others. Special mention should be made of the part played by Delbert Hayes. Not only was his part splendidly given but he was only given his part one week before playing. Calkins hall was filled to overflowing. The band also gave a number of selections which were received with the usual enthusiasm. Every one seemed to enjoy themselves to the fullest capacity.

Miss Clara Huber and her sister, Margaret, have been very sick. We understand they are at present on the way to recovery. The sympathy and kind regards of the community is extended to the parents and the sick ones.

Mrs. Rindie, who has undergone an operation at her home, is doing as well as can be expected. She will, however be confined to her bed at ten days from date.

The ball team will give a basket social at Calkins hall Saturday evening the 13th.
