A GAIN the friends of the old regime are industriously working to subvert the established order. The germs of defection have never entirely died out and they are now coming forth with new vigor. Dr. Withycombe announces his preference for a preliminary convention where candidates will be endorsed. He permitted his name to come before the assembly four years ago and was defeated. The mere fact that he allowed his name to be mentioned in that body hurt his popularity. To again advocate this position will not win him many votes.

Conceding that the primary law may not be perfect, we cannot see how an assembly with a lot of political fixers will improve conditions. The fact that a small "private assembly" succeeded in putting over a bunch of its nominees for the legislature at the recent primary election is only small reason for supposing they will be elected in November. As a further reason for opposing the proposed convention let us note that these legislative nominees were promoted by a small group of politicians. It might as well have been a small group as a big convention for a small group always "fixes" things in a convention anyway, and there is no reason to believe that a small group would not continue to dominate the conventions of the future.

The talk of solidarity is all buncombe. Solidarity in party means safety for the fixers. The independence of the individual voter is the corrupt political fixers worst dread. The trouble with partisanship in Oregon is that a number of "fixers" find the primary uncontrollable except through an assembly. Their continual attempt to force their choice on the people is what places minority candidates in public positions and reduces the majority party to ridiculous humiliation.

The primary law needs some fixing but that will not be accomplished by an assembly. The only real objectionable part of the nominating process is the petition feature. The state would be ahead and the candidate too, if a filing fee of five percent of the official first year salary were charged each political aspirant, and the people would be none the losers. Then there is a way to handle other features that will be satisfactory to all.

Communications.

Mr. Editor.—I think we are justifiable in congratulating ourselves on the success of our Lents Fourth of July celebration.

The idea was a good one and it was well carried out. The business people of Lents deserve great credit for the interest they took, and the time and money they spent in preparing and executing a program that would be a credit to a much larger community. But for the benefit of similar occasions in the future there are some things that should be said in the way of criticism. The success of an enterprise of this character depends on voluntary contributions of time and money from those who take part and as an inducement prizes are offered for the best efforts, and it is only fair and just that those who are willing to go to the expense and trouble to produce something worth while should receive proper recognition from the judges. While each contestant may excel all others in some point, or points, the prizes should not be awarded on one or two alone, but rather on a general summing up of all the points.

From the viewpoint of a good many who saw the parade, the Rose City Van Co. had the best all-round float, besides having three others, which helped out the general appearance of the parade very materially, and yet this Company received no recognition whatever from the judges. Of course those to whom the prizes were given are not to blame, and on the other hand the Van Co., in not making any complaint, but justice is justice, and should be handed out to all alike, without fear or favor.

LAFFERTY AT LENTS

Public Ownership Cheered by 3000 at July 4th Celebration.

Fully 3000 people heard the 4th of July address of Congressman Lafferty at the Lents picnic Saturday. It required Mr. Lafferty only seven minutes to deliver his address. He was frequently interrupted by cheers, and at the conclusion the applause lasted several minutes. Mr. Lafferty said:

"Mr. Chairman, Ladies and Gentlemen:—After all, conditions have not changed so much in the last 138 years. July 4, 1776, found 3,000,000 Americans scattered along our Atlantic seaboard, all subjects of the Money Power of London, and nominally ruled by a King and a Parliament. King George was merely a tool of the money power then, just as our Government is a tool of the Money Power now. That power then desired to keep Americans under subjection indefinitely. It expected to reap untold wealth from the toil of the poor who had fled from England, Ireland, France, Germany and Holland to make homes in a new world.

"The patriots of 1776 refused to stand for what they knew to be outrageous. They refused to be enslaved. They declined to stand idly by and see the chains forged for their children's children. So it happened that on July 4, 138 years ago to day, the American patriots, through their representatives in Continental Congress, declared their independence, and they made good that declaration upon the field of battle.

"Only a short time has passed since that—less than a century and a half—and while a great republic has been filled with people, and these people have created tremendous wealth and made many inventions, the same Money Power is with us still, and it has received nearly all the financial benefits of our progress and invention. It has accomplished by bribery and corruption what its hirelings were unable to do upon the field of battle. It has completely enslaved the American people. Seventy per cent of the wealth of America today is owned by 200,000 men, and many of them residents of London.

"Today each of the 48 States of this Union are mortgaged to the Money Power, through public utility corporations which are over-capitalized billions of dollars. Our farm lands alone are mortgaged to the manipulators of credit for eight billions of dollars, while our total stock of money in the United States is only one third of that amount. Unless these mortgages be removed by fair legislation, provided for Government and municipal ownership of public utilities, and for agricultural asset currency, it is my opinion that our children and our children's children will remain enslaved to the Money Power for all the long future.

"Representing the people of Multnomah County in the American Congress, I have proposed laws for Government ownership, agricultural asset currency, and for an interstate trade commission with power to control industrial monopolies, even to the extent of fixing maximum prices. I have proposed a law giving to Oregon all the profits from her forest reserves, which would reduce taxes in this state one-half, as one-half of the taxable wealth of the state is now kept off the tax rolls by being included in the forest reserves. I have started and pushed to the Supreme Court the railroad land-grant suit, which, if won in that high tribunal, as I believe it will be inside of the next year, will result in the opening up to actual settlers 2,300,000 acres of the best lands in Western Oregon. No plainer law was ever passed than the one making this land grant, and, if it cannot be enforced, there is no use for Congress to pass any laws in the future. And now, that the interests have found that I am in dead earnest, and that I cannot be bribed, they propose to retire me, and put in my place one of their tools or a nonentity.

"The same blood that coursed hot through the veins of American patriots in 1776, is now beginning again to boil in the Americans of today. A new declaration of independence is long overdue. Multnomah County has sounded the battle cry in this new revolution. The eyes of Congress and of the Nation are upon the pending struggle in this district. The issues involved are clear cut. Let the battle of Concord be refought and won in Multnomah County, November 3d, next, and victory will follow in the entire Nation inside of five years."—Paid Adv.
