WORD is out that Mrs. Duniway has received a neat sum to support the opposition to the Oregon Dry movement. Whether this is true or not there is indication of the truth of the supposition. Her interest in promoting the liquor interests are considerable when she takes the trouble to attend meetings around Portland or over the state with the motive of influencing voters in favor of the liquor interests. Her appeals to the women of the state to support the saloons of the state in preference to the moral regeneration proposed by the anti-saloon citizens and reciting the statement that Oregon dry would be a severe blow to the suffrage movement looks anything but rational. One of the allegations held against extending the right of suffrage to women has been that they would not align themselves in opposition to immoral conditions, particularly those conditions fostered by the liquor interests. If the citizenship of the country were assured they would stand rigidly for better conditions the ranks of the suffragettes would be doubled within a day. Mrs. Duniway now offers as an argument in support of the liquor interest claiming it should have the support of the women. There must be something entirely wrong with Mrs. Duniway. From her age we might suspect her of being in her dotage. It is to be regretted that in her last days she should yield support to that interest that has enslaved more women and caused her sex more misery than any other. Even man's most brutal passion has not given such a world of misery as commercialized degradation of women as fostered by the liquor trade. Close up the grills, the percentage houses, and the wine-rooms made attractive by enslaved women, and liquor dealing would lose its prosperous position.

ONE of the most unpopular things to befall our suburb is the decision of the city commissioners, expressed through Mr. Daly, that the city would not assume the obligation due on support of street lights from July to November of last year, amounting to over $900. The city of Portland collected a city tax from this district this year; it began collecting licenses and fees for permits promptly, collected from the date of going into the city. For this we have received a paltry police service, fifteen dollars a month to the support of our local volunteer fire department, a mile of refuse water pipe, laid on Gilbert avenue merely to give employment to otherwise idle workmen, and about the same amount of good pipe laid on Main street and Mt. Scott avenue. We have been supplied with some second hand hydrants and a lot of old hose that barely stands the gravity pressure, stuff absolutely useless in any other part of the city. And a few public spirited citizens who backed the welfare of the district are now informed that they must meet the delinquency named. If it was right for the city to assume the payment in November why was it not equally as proper for the city to assume the obligation the date this section became a part of the city?

Daily Oregonian, Herald, McCall's Magazine and Sunset, all for $7.50 if aken at the Herald office.

The editor wishes to correct an impression that seems to have grown out of a misunderstanding of a remark in an article last week relative to the Yeager theatre and the Oddfellows, whereby some of the members gained an idea that the lodge or some of its members were being criticised in relation to their attitude toward that house. Such was not the intention. We have no desire to dictate or criticise anyone's views or actions relative to the matter. In fact do not consider that the lodge as such had anything to do with it.

EXEMPTION HITS LESS PROSPEROUS Land Owners Would Only Add it to The Rent and The Poorer Class Would Foot The Bill.

In a letter to the Oregonian Hon. F. M. Gill, progressive candidate for governor showed in a concrete example how the adoption of the $1500 exemption will make harder the lot of a man who has just taken over a run-down farm having few or no improvements thereon, while his already prosperous neighbors would have his taxes decreased. The letter was similar to numerous other arguments advanced against this measure, not one of which, except by appeals to prejudice, or impingement of motives, has been answered. A few days ago the Oregonian quoted the leading exponent of the amendment as saying that the landlord passes his taxes on to the renter and it pointed out that there would be no exemption under the proposed amendment on rented property, that in fact taxes thereon would be increased as a result of its adoption and thereby fall in greater force on the renter. What was the reply of the leading exponent of the amendment? Not one word was said by this friend of a measure proffered as a poor man's amendment to refute or destroy the conclusion that its adoption would burden the lot of those who form a large percent of the poor, the renters.

The argument presented for publication in the state pamphlet is of similar order. It makes the bald assertion that the amendment would benefit the poor, but does not say how. It speaks sneeringly of "great landowners" and "special privilege." Moreover it contains false and misleading statements. Several organizations, by committee or otherwise, have endorsed this measure. Among them are the electrical workers and the carpenters. These organizations owe to their members and to the public an explanation of their position. A statement would be in order as to their opinion of the total amount of property that would be exempted under the amendment; as to the increase in tax levy that would necessarily result; as to the identity of those who would suffer and those who would profit by the change in rate; as to how it would effect the renter, and effect such land-buyers who must postpone improvements until they have acquired larger equity than they now own. Above all they should tell why, in the opinion, some should contribute more to the public revenues than they now do and some should contribute less.

ADVERTISED LETTERS

Advertised letters for week ending August 1, 1914: Becker, Lizzie; Bonie, J. H.; Bowen, Mrs. Lizzie; Carsons, Ruth; Fine, J. D. (2); Haggy, Mrs. Julia A.; Sheehan, Mrs. Lillian; View, Madame G. R.; Wilson, James R. 7: 103 4th Ave.; Mr. Advertiser, 110 Johnson Ave.

G. W. Spring, Postmaster.

Mrs. Hennessey was entertaining a neighbor one afternoon, when the latter inquired:

"An' what does your old man do, Mrs. Hennessey?"

"Sure, he's a diamond cutter."

"Yes, he cuts th' grass off th' baseball grounds."

"Ye don't mane it!"

Constipation Causes Sickness

Don't permit yourself to become constipated, as your system immediately begins to absorb poison from the backed-up waste matter. Use Dr. King's New Life Pills and keep well. There is no better safeguard against illness. Just take one dose to-night. 25c. at your Druggist.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

John Van Zante was a Lents visitor Thursday.

Curtis Darnell of Imperial Valley California, is here due to his father's illness.

The park board has had gravel hauled to the public watering trough which will be underlaid with it to drain Foster Road.

Wm. Elechpp has gone to Estacada on business connected with his wood saw.

Dr. Berney is fitting up offices over the Lents Pharmacy, in the Hashim building.

The Lents Building corner Main and Car line is receiving a new coat of paint, also a new roof.

John and Miss Emma Eggiman, Mr. and Mrs. Kaser and family left Wednesday to spend the balance of the month in the mountains around Mt. Jefferson, Oregon.

Mrs. Bright has a new Real Estate next to Chester's Shop. She proposes to do a general Real Estate and building business.

The new road which the County has been building near Killgore had the improvement of Lincoln Street is about completed. These roads will be of great benefit to the farmers during the coming winter.

R. S. Hummel writes from Cleveland, Ohio, that he will be back in Lents soon. He apparently is feeling fine as he challenges the editor of the Herald to a ten-round boxing match or a foot race.

Miss Rosine Orsile of Chester, Ill., who has been staying with friends for several weeks in Lents is now with friends at Mt. Tabor. She expects to stay in Oregon until the first of September, then she will return to take charge of her school work, where she has been the past five years.

Mr. Edward Goodman and wife and two daughters, Hazel and Saura of Fairbault Minnesota, visited their cousins Mr. R. J. Goodman, Mrs. J. Neal and Mrs. J. Maffett all of Lents, from Saturday until Tuesday, when they left for Tacoma and other points before returning home, they took in Yellow Stone Park on their way out.

Beware of the man who knows too much, especially if it happens to be yourself.—Life.
