CHERRYVILLE

The Autumn leaves are turning. And the summer is past and gone.

Mr. Ezra Trueman and wife move this week to their new home in Portland on the east side. Having sold their ranch they intend to retire and will spend their declining years at their ease.

Miss Nash, the teacher, came up from San Pedro, Calif., the harbor port of Los Angeles, on the ill-fated steamer Leggett, which upon her return trip was wrecked off the Oregon coast with all on board save two. It has been charged that this wreck was caused by overloading the deck with heavy green lumber and the employment of green hands, all because of greed.

The weather prophets are now out with a prediction of a hard winter approaching. They go according to the goosebone and say we will have a white Christmas alright.

Mr. McCormick, the District school supervisor, was in town last week visiting our school. It appears that this gentleman was employed by the Government as a teacher in the Philippines for a term of years and upon his return came home through Asia and Europe. That was before the great war and he said that he was greatly surprised at the agricultural resources of Siberia, which very much resembled our western prairies, and would support a vast population in comfort and plenty if it wasn't so miserably misgoverned and the people were not kept in such deplorable ignorance under the combined rule of kingcraft and priestcraft. The people of Germany and France (i. e.) the farming class, seemed to be in much better shape than those in England which he attributes to the system of rural credits prevailing in those countries by which farmers are furnished financial aid on long time and at a low rate of interest.

Mr. McCormick says in view of this terrible war in Europe in so-called Christian countries that it looks like Christianity has failed. Not Christianity but Churchianity has failed. While in Moscow, the so-called Holy City of Russia, Mr. McCormick visited the Kremlin, an immense cathedral covering a large area, that cost, it is estimated, nearly half a billion dollars, filled with sacred images and ikons covered with jewels and diadems and the entire structure glittering with gold, silver, and precious stones. Built by a people who never had a square meal in their lives and are worked to the limit and are now dying by the thousands for a rotten government.

END OF THE EARTH.

The Latest Figuring Puts it Only Two Million Years Away.

Scientists tell us that life on the earth began about 2,000,000 years ago. It has generally been accepted that life will last for 65,000,000 years.

Ninety-five million years is a fairly long time. None of us who are alive today need worry about what will take place 95,000,000 years hence. Even the most altruistic can scarcely be inspired by love for an inconceivably remote posterity.

But the French savants are altogether disturbing. Here comes one, M. Verronet, who says that the earth will permanently freeze within the next 2,000,000 years and that life will vanish. This is bringing the tragedy nearer home. We would gladly accept the older reckoning.

Verronet places mankind of today about midway between the beginning and the end. He computes that in the future life will exist as long as it has already existed. He specifies only one forty-eighth as long a life as those who have studied in the past.

There is only one consolation to be derived from the Verronet reckoning. As far as the influence of today is concerned 2,000,000 years is as good as 95,000,000. In either event those who are comfortably laboring today cannot expect to be lovingly remembered when the cataclysm of ice makes the earth a barren wilderness.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

HIS TWO TENSE MOMENTS.

One Was a Ninth Inning and the Other at a Dinner Table.

I heard a prominent Cambridge man tell of the two most tense moments of his life yesterday. But the tension in each case was different.

"I doubt if I ever shall forget either occasion," he said reflectively. "They were big moments.

"The first was when I was in college. I was captain of the baseball team that year. We came to the end of the ninth. We needed one run to tie the score and another to win the game. Two men were down and two on the sacks when I came to bat. And for once in my career I did it. I lined out a three bagger, right over the railroad track. When I felt it go—well, that was one occasion.

"And the other." He chuckled, but a slow flush crept over his cheeks. "It was thirty years ago, soon after I left college. I went over to see a girl I thought was pretty nice and to meet her folks for the first time. I went on a Sunday. All the men were away. And they had duck for dinner." He stopped. "Ever carve a duck?" he asked meaningly. "No, neither had I before. Nor have I since." His flush deepened. "I never even went to see that girl again," he added plaintively.—Boston Journal.

Men and Oaks.

Once as I was botanizing under an oak I found among a number of other plants of similar height one that was dark in color with tightly closed leaves and a stalk that was very straight and stiff. When I touched it, it said to me in firm tones: "Let me alone. I am not for your collection, like other plants to which nature has given only a single year of life. I am a little oak."

So it is with a man whose influence is to last for hundreds of years. As a child, as a youth, often even as a full grown man—nay, his whole life long—he goes about among his fellows, looking like them and seemingly as unimportant. But let him alone. He will not die. Time will come and bring those who know how to value him.—Schopenhauer.

View From Mount Rigi.

The mountain of the Rigi, in Switzerland, commands a panorama of 400 miles in circumference, which includes the lovely lake of Lucerne, and is unsurpassed for beauty. The Rigi was known to only a few travelers in the eighteenth century, but after the peace of 1815 it became a resort for the curious, the first dwelling having been erected in 1814. Now many hotels are in a flourishing condition, and it is popular even in winter. There is a little chapel, with its walls covered with votive tablets, for many have been the victims in the ice gorges of this lofty peak.

Pipefish.

The pipefish take care of their young in a manner that is entirely peculiar. The newly laid eggs are taken care of by the male, which has a sort of fold on each side of its body. Beneath the "flaps" he keeps the eggs until the young are hatched and sufficiently grown to take care of themselves. While in the "flap" they are fed by the mother, upon whom falls the duty of foraging around for food.

No Postmortem Touch.

"Lonn me $5 until Thursday, old man. If I live till then I'll surely pay you."

Cordovan Leather Boots.

At the court of Elizabeth the wide topped Spanish boot, handsome and, to our eyes, theatrical, became popular among the rival courtiers, each endeavoring to outvie the other in the queen's eyes. The most handsome and admired of all were made of white Cordova leather, edged with costly lace and having gold spurs. Sometimes buff and red and much more rarely the now prevalent black leather was the material. Boots for men seem to have gone out of fashion during the Stuart era, so far as the upper classes went. Your plain citizen always adhered to a more or less substantial shoe when at home and seldom drew on boots save when on a journey.—London Saturday Review.
