

Mr. Hoyle was a most indulgent father, but of late he had commenced to think that his son Arthur was taking advantage of his generosity.

"Why, when I was your age young man," he said, "one morning after a particularly urgent demand for more funds, 'I didn't have as much money to spend in a month as you spend in a day.'"

"Well, dad, don't scold me about it," said the youth. "Why don't you go for grandfather?"

The Mayor of St. Paul's town needed water for his actylene lamps one evening and drew up at St. Paul's and said:

"St. Paul, will you let me have a little water for my lamps?"

"Water?" said St. Paul. "You mean oil, don't you?"

"No, I don't," said the Mayor. "I mean water."

St. Paul frowned at the Mayor in silence. Then he said:

"You take my advice and go straight home and sleep it off. The idea—at your age—and you the Mayor, too—ain't you ashamed?"

CHERRYVILLE

The political pot begins to boil and the candidates are boiling over with eloquence.

After all of their time, hard campaigning and money spent, some of these candidates are going to get left.

Some of these so-called patriots who are so certain that they are going to make their calling and election sure will be woefully disappointed on November 3.

Not all of the Republican nominees will win in this race and among those who are in danger of defeat are R. A. Booth for U. S. Senator and Joseph B. Harley, M. C., from this District. The growing favor the people have for Fred Hollister, the Democratic candidate, has reached an alarming stage and as for Booth his name is Dennis as the platform Bill Hanley presents to the public is very attractive.

Ray Murray has gone up to work on the auto road beyond Brightwood, under the care and supervision of Mr. Kern, proprietor of the Mt. Hood Hotel.

Mrs. Hester Johnson returned home last Saturday from eastern Oregon and Camas, Wash., where she has been for the past three months.

A late periodical from Portland contains the statement that millionaire Benson has bought the Mt. Hood auto road from Portland to Government Camp and beyond, and will have the road hard-surfaced with Warrenite—whatever that is—under the charge of John B. Yeon, who took, at his own expense, a party of men back east and inspected all kinds of pavements and reported on this Warrenite paving. If this is true—and we see no reason to doubt it—this will make the road through this place a great thoroughfare. This road will be extended over to The Dalles and then back on the north bank to Portland by another great scenic route.

A business man from Portland was in town the first of the week and said in his opinion the war had settled down to a sort of a seige and would remain so all winter, both sides remaining heavily entrenched and that it would eventually end in a sort of compromise in which neither party or parties would come out conqueror. One thing, however, would come out of it, he thought, and that was the downfall of thrones and royal families. And high time, too, for all of the nonsensical absurdities and utterly preposterous notions that the human mind is possessed of this kind of business is surely the limit.

Some of our people are gathering Oregon Grape root for medicinal purposes as this is a wonderful blood medicine and is being used more and more for other ailments. The buyers do not want to pay more than 4 cents a pound but back east the drug stores want 40 cents an ounce for it. This is usual drug store profits.

Mrs. A. C. Runyan and her two boys arrived this week from Tangent, Oregon, where they have been living and will make their home here as Mr. Runyan, the husband and father, will put up a blacksmith and general repair shop on Main street. Glad to have them here as they are very desirable citizens.

With Senator Chamberlain, Governor West, Millionaire Benson and the mighty host of women in the state, it looks very much as if the state of Oregon is going dry this fall.

Reports are being circulated on the quiet, that the times would be better after election if the people voted right, meaning the complete return to power of the G. O. P. Not in a thousand years will this ever happen as they have had their day in court and sold out completely to the money power, the big bankers and the manufacturers. Resolutions do not go backward.

Mr. Houser of Tygh valley drove his herd of sheep from Wild Cat mountain this week and started them on the road home across the Mt. Hood or Barlow road. He sold the lambs to a Portland firm for $3.00 apiece and there was over 1100 of them from a flock of 1325. The wool sold for nearly $1.50 apiece, thus yielding him a handsome profit. "A man can't help making money on sheep these times," says Mr. Houser, although the Oregonian said last spring that the "Democratic tariff had ruined the sheep industry of Oregon."

We acknowledge the receipt of a copy of the Congressional Record from Senator Chamberlain, also the placing of the writer's name as a regular subscriber on the list by Senator Lane. For these favors we are especially thankful as information contained in the Record is official and cannot be disputed.

BEIROSE

Miss Ethel Barrick was married to Mr. Harry Haight of Salem on Wednesday, September 30, at Vancouver. Mrs. Haight has been her father's right hand helper in the store at this place and has won the confidence and respect of all by her ideal honor in business. We believe we express the general sentiment when we say, may her years of married life be filled with joy and sunshine.

GILBERT

Work on the new school house is being pushed as fast as possible. The ground is already taking on a different look from what it has been—namely a grove of fir trees. The well is being drilled, lumber hauled, and surveys made. The indications according to the plans would say the new school building will be a pleasure and uplift to this community.

Mr. J. W. Dozier, who has been in Washington for about eight weeks, returned on the 2nd. It looks good to see him again.

KELSO

A Prohibition meeting will be held in the Kelso school house, Sunday October 11, from 11 a. m. to 4 p. m. There will be a musical and literary program. A. J. Ware of Oregon City will speak at 2 p. m. There will also be local speakers and the meeting will be free for all. Bring basket dinner. Free barn room will be provided for your horses. Everybody cordially invited.

The Kelso school was awarded the prize for the best school number on the Sandy Fair program given Friday. The number consisted of a costume song, "Three Maids of Lee," by Eunice and Dorothy Jonsrud and Hazel Dunn. The prize was one dollar in cash and an interesting collection of postage stamps donated by Fred Proctor—for which accept the thanks of the Kelso school.

A reading table has been added in the principal's room at school, with a good supply of papers and magazines, making an attractive work for recreation as well as usefulness.

Mrs. Henri Eri and sons have gone to Denver, Colo., for a month's visit with relatives.

R. Jonsrud sold two colts and three head of young stock last week.

Mrs. Barnum and Miss Erickson spent the week-end in Portland.

Do not forget to register before October 15.

The congregation of St. Pauls Church look forward with pleasure to the coming of Dean Summer as Bishop of Oregon. The fact that all the best men in Chicago were using every influence to keep him there is enough to show Oregon what a power for God he will be to this Diocese.

J. P. Johnson and Howard Ramsey returned Tuesday night from Curry County where they have been on a business and pleasure trip. They report the death of four fine deer, due to their skill as hunters. J. C. Micheltree, Charlie Osborn, and Philip Homes are still down there and will not return till next week.

Sandy applied at the store for a job. The manager, after asking him to work, bidding him lift a heavy cask up on to a stand. Sandy struggled vainly with the job for a few moments, then stopped and said: "A told ye ma name, sir, did A no?"

"Yes," replied the manager. "You said it was Tamson. Why?"
"Weel," said Sandy, mopping his brow, "I was just a-wunnerin' if ye thocht A said Sampson."

She was very romantic, and when she saw the scars on his face she jumped at conclusions.

"I think I have discovered your secret," she softly said. "You are a Heidelberg duelist and likewise a German Baron."

He shook his head gloomily.
"I am not a Baron," he said, "and I never heard of Heidelberg. I'm only the fellow the students practice on at the barbers' college."
