River Names.
Nansemond, the name of a river in Virginia, is from the Indian word Nansschmund, "the place from which we were driven away." The Flint, in Michigan, was called by the Indians Perwonigo, "the river of the flint," from the abundance of this stone on its banks. Humboldt river, in Nevada, was named by Fremont in honor of Baron Humboldt.

wood into furniture for the house of the young people.

SAVE LIVES AT SEA

Lighthouse Keepers Worthy of the Highest Praise.

Arduous Duty, Demanding Extreme Self-Sacrifice, Cheerfully Performed—Examples of Bravery That Are Without Equal.

Although the pay is small and the life often lonely, the lighthouse service attracts as a rule an excellent class of faithful men, willing to take large risks in doing their duty and also in helping those in distress. There are many cases of faithful service and bravery.

There are a number of woman lightkeepers. One of these, the keeper of Angel Island light in San Francisco bay, reported that after the machinery of the fog signal was disabled on July 2, 1906, she "had struck the bell by hand for 20 hours and 35 minutes until the fog lifted," and that on July 4, when the machinery was further disabled, she stood all night on the platform outside and "struck the bell with a nail hammer with all my might.
The fog was dense."

A widely known woman lightkeeper was Ida Lewis, who died about three years ago. She lived at Lime Rock lighthouse, on a ledge in Newport harbor, for 57 years, her father having been appointed keeper when she was twelve years old. She was keeper of the light for 32 years. There are reports of her having rescued 13 persons from drowning. On one occasion it is said, she saved three men who were swamped in attempting to pick up a sheep, and then she rescued the sheep also.

Because of the difficult life, keepers at isolated stations are granted shore liberty and leave 72 days a year, and crews of light vessels 90 days a year.

The first lighthouse on this continent was built by Massachusetts, in 1715-1716, on an island in the entrance to Boston harbor.

The first class light and fog signal stations are located at the more prominent and dangerous points along the seaboard, and on a well-lighted coast such stations should be sufficiently close that a coasting vessel may always be in sight of a light. The smaller lights are placed to mark harbors, inside channels and dangers.

Along the navigable rivers numerous post lights are maintained to indicate the channels.

For New York harbor and immediate approaches alone 268 aids to navigation are required, including 46 shore lights, two light vessels and 36 lighted buoys; there are 192 buoys of all classes and 37 fog signals, including sounding buoys.

Among the lighthouses of the country may be found examples of great engineering skill and of dignified and simple design. Some of the tall light-house structures are of beautiful architecture, suited to the purpose, and set off by picturesque location on headland or rock overlooking the sea.
The tower must be built to give the light a suitable height above the wa-

One of the Cape Hatteras Lights.

ter, and hence tall lighthouses are required on low-lying coasts.

A light must be 200 feet above the sea level to be seen from the deck of a vessel 20 nautical miles distant. Beyond that distance the curvature of the earth would prevent a light at this elevation being seen.

Hitting a Brother Barrister.
In the Stokes trial A. B. Boardman, Stokes' attorney, said:
"My client is tired of lawyers. They have cheated him enough, and now he prefers to put the matter before a jury."

"I hope," said Joseph H. Choate, the opposing attorney, with that everyday smile and suave tone so well known, "that my brother has done nothing to forfeit his client's confidence," and even the grave justices had to smile, while Boardman bit his lip.

Calculation.
"She said she would be content with love in a cottage," said the young man with a calculating mind.
"That's a fine sentiment."
"Perhaps. But I can't help wondering whether a cottage is the best her father intends to do for us."

BEST OF APHORISMS

AMERICAN HAS GATHERED SEN-TENCES THAT ARE ALIVE

Have Epigrammatic Quality Surprisingly High—For Instance, "Never a Great Saint That Lacked a Sense of Humor."

The successful aphorist is about ten thousand times scarcer than the successful essayist or story teller or Assyriologist, remarks the New York Sun. The man who without borrowing directly from the few really great maxim makers of the world's literature, or without appropriating the letter or the spirit of those folk proverbs which contain the quintessence of human wisdom, can put into eight hitherto uncombined words the entire pathology of human hypocrisy and cant merits especial notice and more or less gratitude of mankind:

"In the truly good all gout is rheumatism."
We commend to the discerning everywhere the small and perhaps not very happily named book, "Keystones of Thought," in which Dr. Austin O'Malley of Pennsylvania has gathered from fifteen hundred to two thousand of these "conclusions which spare you the labor of tramping in moist relentment thought's syllogistic mazes." This small army of aphorisms are not all so good as those which we now proceed to exhibit as examples; but the average of epigrammatic quality is surprisingly high:

Autumn is a hint from God to Old Age.

A fallen lighthouse is more dangerous than a reef.

We are plated with piety, not al-loyed with it.

Style is not the setting of the diamond thought; it is the glitter itself of the diamond.

Atheism is a disease of the mind caused by eating underdone philosophy.

It is a long snake that has no tail.
If you snub conscience a few times she will cut your acquaintance.

Memory is a crazy woman that boards colored rags and throws away food.

Writers on the spiritual life are constantly mistaking the liver for the devil.

Possess your soul without fussing; your guardian angel does not lose half the sleep over you you think he does.

It is as easy to give advice to yourself as to others, and as useless.

Cunning is a short blanket; if you pull it over your face you expose your feet.

The new is what has been forgotten.

In holding an eel a gentle grip is foolishness.

Distance lends amity to cousins.
The most dangerous savages live in cities.

What is called a weak will is commonly a flabby intellect.

There never was a great saint that lacked a sense of humor.

A gentleman never heard a story before.

Many social visits you think paid to yourself are paid to your bottles.
Most women wear their looks like trousers.
A college can bluff like any poker player.
Humor without effort, wit without bitterness, philosophy without pretension; Doctor O'Malley has printed a book that is worth possessing.

BELLS

HOW DID HE KNOW THE SIZE?

Happy Thought Comes to Assistance of Young Man Who Wished to Purchase Jeweled Belt.

A man who had recently become engaged to a charming young girl chanced to be in a fashionable shop when his eye caught a glimpse of a jeweled belt that seemed to him an acceptable gift for his fiancée. He asked a clerk to place an assortment of the belts on the counter.

"Ladies' belt?" queried the polite salesman. "Certainly, sir; what size?" The young man blushed. "Really," he stammered. "I don't know." And he gazed about him helplessly for a moment or so. Finally a happy thought appeared to strike him. "Can't you let me have a yardstick for a moment?" he asked.

The yardstick being forthcoming, he placed it along the inside of his arm from shoulder to wrist.
Then, looking up at the clerk, he exclaimed triumphantly, "Twenty inches,"—Philadelphia Ledger.

Not in His Line.
Manager (of intelligence office)— What kind of a place would you like?
Cook Lady—Oh, a place where I can have anything I want, with but little to do and no one to boss me.

Manager—You have strayed into the wrong place. This is an employment office, not a matrimonial agency.

Knew Her.
"Can I see the manager?" asked the caller.
"Why, he's just been called to the telephone," replied the assistant.
"Will he be long?"
"His wife said she just wanted to speak to him for a minute. I guess he'll be back in an hour."

Reason for Speed.
Rankin—Beanbrough has bought himself a $5,000 racing car.
Phyle—But he couldn't afford one worth half that amount.

Rankin—That's why he bought it.
He wants something that can go fast enough to keep away from the collectors.—Puck.

Hadn't Noticed.
First Gurgle—Did you notice that good-looking fellow who sat right back of us at the Orpheum?
Second Gurgle—Oh, the handsome chap with the red necktie and tan suit, who wore his hair pompadour?
No. Why?—Nebraska Awgwan.

To the Point.
Her Father—Young man, I must ask your object in coming here so often?
Young Man—I love your daughter, sir. She is adorable, a queen.
Her Father—Then, I take it, your object is to become her subject. Very well, she's yours.

MORE IMPORTANT.

Wangs—What are Brown's chances in the coming election?
Bangs—Very slight. He hasn't anything back of him.

Wangs—He's got a family tree.
Bangs—Yes, but his opposition has the plum tree.

College Life.
"Yes, some of us fellows keep house at the fraternity home."
"Don't you hate to wash dishes?"
"We don't have to. We have plenty of candidates for the fraternity, and dishwashing is great as an initiation stunt."

Too Risky.
"Why didn't you employ that beautiful stenographer?"
"Didn't care to take the risk. She was sure to break a lot of hearts in the office, and then I s'pose I'd be held under the employers' liability law"

Quickly Driven Away

Astonishing Results With the Greatest Blood Purifier Ever Discovered.

Strength, Power, Accomplishment are all Typified in S. S. S.

Some blood disorders become deeply rooted in the glands and tissues, and the mistake is made of resorting to drastic drugs. These only aggravate by causing other and worse troubles. A host of people know this to be true. They know from painful experience.
To get right down into where the blood is vitiated requires S. S. S., the greatest blood purifier ever discovered.
This remarkable remedy contains one ingredient, the active purpose of which is to stimulate the tissues to the healthy selection of its own essential nutriment and the medicinal elements of this matchless blood purifier are just as essential to well balanced health as the nutritious elements of the meats, grains, fats and sugars of our daily food.
Not only this, but if from the presence of some disturbing poison there is a local or general interference of nutrition to cause boils, carbuncles, abscesses and kindred troubles, S. S. S. so directs the local cells that this poison is rejected and eliminated from their presence.
Then, too, S. S. S. has such specific stimulation on these local cells as to preserve their mutual welfare and a proper relative assistance to each other.
In a very brief time S. S. S. has the reconstructive process so under control that remarkable changes are observed. All eruptive places heal, mysterious pains and aches have disappeared, and from head to foot there is a conscious sensation of renewed health.
From the fact that S. S. S. is purely a botanical preparation, it is accepted by the weakest stomach and has great tonic influence. Not one drop of drugs or minerals is used in its preparation. Ask for S. S. S. and insist upon having it.
And if you desire skillful advice upon any matter concerning the blood and skin write to The Swift Specific Co., 305 Swift Bldg., Atlanta, Ga. Do not allow some zealous clerk to jarrup the atmosphere in eloquence over something "just as good" as S. S. S. Beware of all counterfeits.
