OREGON breaks into magazine print in Popular Mechanics two times this month. One of these is a whole page story with cuts, of the Celilo canal. The other is an illustrated notice about the fine lighting on Third street. And both of these are deserving. Of course Third street is not to be compared to Celilo, from a business standpoint, yet it will undoubtedly be commented upon a hundred times to Celilo's once. It attracts the tourists and casual attention, while neither of these people see or think about the Canal.

Then Technical World devotes two whole pages in the July issue to Oregon Logan Berry business. It is one of the best advertisements for Oregon fruit that ever went into print.

Besides this not the least by any way is the fact that Oregon is taking more of the prizes on horticultural products at the Panama Pacific Fair than any other state, which is bound to get some publicity and help boost the agricultural and horticultural interests of the state.

THE proposition advanced by certain cold-blooded hygienic extremists to eliminate the most approved osculatory expression of sentiment and divine passion will not be popular in Oregon. It is doubtful if it will be popular anywhere in the West, but in Oregon, never. Evidence seems to indicate that Oregon girls, particularly, will oppose any such limitations being placed upon their right to press their regards home. Mt. Scott girls are no more expressive than other Oregon girls, yet we know quite a few, who, if we are to judge from their previous attitude on the subject, will vigorously oppose any social or hygienic reform that excludes the kiss from their collection of attractions. And they are right.

The Herald has received several complimentary remarks on the truthful and outspoken stand it has taken in regard to the letting of the paving contracts. The letting of over a million of dollars in contracts at a loss to the county of nearly $250,000 will not be forgotten at once, and the dissatisfaction of the people who must travel over some of these roads will not be improved when they have suffered several dangerous accidents due to the defects in the material.

We want to say just one thing for the "Oregon Voter." Altho C. C. is undoubtedly an ally of the bithulitic promoters, it played the fairest hand of any of the Portland publications except the Labor Press, that participated in the recent road surfacing argument. Chapman has got the brains to run a mighty helpful paper if he will, but can he run one that is strictly on the square? We doubt it, if it is to run in Portland.

One of the glaring samples of bitulithic pavement may be seen any day on Council Crest Drive. Here is a street that has had practically no wear, put down in 1912, and yet is actually porous with holes. If it lasts another two years it will be a wonder. It cost about $1.85 to put it down and it will be in ruins long before the assessments are paid.

GILBERT

The 11th of last April the eldest sister of Mrs. R. Rindle, Mrs. Louisa Jacobs, came from North Freedom, Wis., to visit and regain her health. She appeared to make improvement for a time but was suddenly taken ill and died the 11th of June. Her farewell to earth and friends was the conclusion of a noble life and her death was marked with peace and trust in God. While Mrs. Rindle mourns for the oldest sister it is not without a well-grounded hope of meeting again. Another sister, Mrs. Roxie Farnum, whose home is also in Wisconsin and who has been staying with Mrs. Rindle, returned to her home, leaving Portland Wednesday of this week. Since she has been here she has won the respect and love of all who knew her. The kindly good will of Mrs. Rindle's friends will be with her many days.

Mrs. Maybee, who has been sick is improving.

School District No. 45 held a meeting Monday for election of officers, but decided to retain all the old ones as they were best posted in the work. The mechanics on the building remain unpaid to this date.

PLEASANT VALLEY

Geo. Flynn of Cherryville visited with N. D. Kesterson a few days last week. A. G. Sager and family of Lents were Sunday visitors at the home of G. N. Sager.

G. H. Richey of Corvallis is spending a few days in the Valley calling on friends and relatives. Mr. and Mrs. Richey and son Lester are making preparations to spend a few months traveling in California this summer.

B. W. Stewart of Portland was a Valley visitor Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. A. O. Smith of Portland, who have the Uhlig place leased, were out Tuesday.

Mrs. Park Combs of Clatskanie is spending a few weeks with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Kesterson.

Mrs. W. H. Crawford returned Monday from a trip to Molalla where she has been visiting at the home of her brother, W. N. Chilcote.

Mr. Aleen has invested in a new Ford roadster.

Mrs. B. W. Matthews of Gresham visited over Sunday at the home of her mother, Mrs. Henry Trage.

TO REMOVE TARNISH FROM SILVERWARE

Since the extensive introduction of aluminum ware, the housewife has consigned the silver polishing kit of grandmother's to the scrap heap, having found that silver is more easily whitened by boiling the ware in an aluminum vessel.

As the brightening does not take place in pure water, it is necessary to add a small amount of salt or soda to the water used. The removing of the tarnish is a chemical process and results from galvanic action.

Before cleaning, the silver and aluminum must be thoroughly cleansed of grease by the use of warm soap suds.

A small amount of aluminum is dissolved during the process and the vessel will be darkened, tho this coloration is easily removed by scouring, or by cooking fruit in the vessel.

This method of whitening silverware is accompanied by no loss of silver and is therefore preferable to the silver polish method which should never be used on plated ware. Many polishes contain material detrimental to silver and scouring will not brighten the indentations, engraving, etc., which when free from grease, will be thoroughly whitened by this process.

Equally as good results may be obtained by boiling the silver with a piece of zinc in dilute salt water using any available container, the only precaution necessary is that the silver must be in contact with the zinc, as is also necessary when aluminum is used. For this reason, a piece of sheet zinc large enough to nearly cover the bottom of the containing vessel is desirable.

The size of article cleaned is limited only by the depth of water. After whitening, the silver may be brightened by rubbing with a suitable cloth.—Roy G. Coffin.

Men are wishing today that they had started a bank account ten years ago. A bank account started ten years ago would mean a substantial fortune today when property values are at a minimum. Almost any bank account could be traded for a good sized farm now.

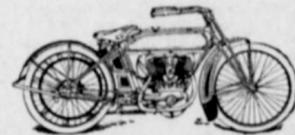

But there will be other chances,—if you have the bank account. Begin in a small way now and as times improve, increase your savings. A few years will swell your reserve capital into a substantial fortune.
