New Year resolutions are now in order. The fewer made, the fewer there will be to break.

A man may deserve success but he's got to advertise to get it.—Exchange.

Walsh has a stock of good gasoline all the time at prices as good as can be found anywhere. tf

Mrs. A. M. Green reports herself and family well. They now live at Broadway, Mont.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Aspaas are back in Lents again after eight months spent near Mt. Hood Lodge above Parkdale, Oregon.

Phone in your news items and personals. Pacific phone, Tabor 7824; Home, D. 6L.

The Fire Boys of Grays Crossing gave a most delightful dancing party on Saturday evening to a number of their friends.

LOST: A Golden Pheasant escaped from my yard one week ago. Finder please return to me and receive reward. MILTON KATSKY.

Mrs. Meyers, of Lents Junction, died this morning. She leaves a husband, one son and one daughter. Funeral services will be delayed pending the arrival of a brother from the East. A more extended notice will appear in our next issue.

TO EXCHANGE—Have good 7 room residence in Albany, Oregon, would exchange for House of equal value on Mt. Scott or St. Johns car line. Address George King, Albany, Oregon.

With the suffrage amendment and the prohibition amendment both out of committee and ready for a vote, some nervous congressmen are facing the horrible certainty that they will have to put themselves on record. Exchange.

Mrs. L. A. Reed of Berkley, Ore., who came to Portland a few weeks ago to undergo an operation is convalescing at the home of her sister-in-law, Mrs. Della Young.

The Yeager Theatre, the popular playhouse of Lents, will run a continuous performance on the afternoon and evening of New Year's. A dramatization of the thrilling story, "Whispering Smith" will be shown. This is a strong, clean story of Western life, full of interest from beginning to end.

H. H. Cole, a resident of Lents for ten years, who left here over a year ago for Cape Horn, Wash., arrived in town the first of the week for a few days visit with old friends. Lents looks good to him after his year of "hibernating," but he likes his farm and philosophically concludes that one cannot have everything all at once in this world.

Mr. and Mrs. Murray Hunt, of 9751 Woodstock Ave., entertained the following on Christmas day: Mrs. Matilda Hoskins, Messrs Frank, Vivian, John and Miss Eva Hadley, of Springbrook; Mr. Marion George and family, Mr. Lewis Hoskins and Miss Cora Hadley, of Newberg, and Alberry George and family of Portland. A family Christmas provided most delightful after-dinner entertainment, the host acting as Santa Claus, while little Lucy Hunt assisted in the distribution of the gifts.

Portland finds itself in the grasp of Winter—the genuine article—which arrived in the night Tuesday and still lingers. After last year's experience people are not so easily swept off their feet at sight of Jack Frost in stern and angry mood. However, the great majority are willing that the visit should be of short duration. The small boy is improving his golden opportunity for a try-out of the new sled, entirely oblivious of "cold noses and toes."

Far sighted Mt. Scott folks get their printing done at The Herald office and keep their money at home.

Mighty cold weather to crawl down into the basement the last thing at night to turn off the water, but it beats thawing it out before breakfast next morning.

L. A. Copeland of Bozeman, Mont., brother of J. W. Copeland of the Copeland Lumber Company is in the city spending the Christmas holidays with his brother. Mr. Copeland is manager of the company's Montana yards.

This is the season that is so hard on our feathered friends. Those who love the birds can get a great deal of enjoyment out of a systematic supplying of their needs. A sheltered place kept well supplied with crumbs and frequent fresh water will draw dozens of grateful visitors.

The office force at the Herald has been augmented by the securing of L. C. Hinman to preside over its job department. Mr. Hinman has recently come to the coast from Boston and has been connected with some of the largest job printing plants in that city and also in Cleveland, Ohio, having had fifteen years' experience in fine job printing. He is a college man and was chosen from among 29 applicants for the position. For the benefit of our patrons we are glad to announce this valued acquisition to our staff.

GILBERT

Mr. and Mrs. John Brandt have just returned from Baker, where they have been for several months past.

Mr. Ed. Woodman expects to leave for his home in Hood River on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. E. Shotwell, of Forest Grove, spent Christmas at the home of the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Davis.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Mann and family spent Christmas at The Dalles with relatives.

A Christmas entertainment was given at the school house during the past week for the purpose of raising funds for beautifying the school grounds. Christmas songs and recitations comprised the program. A pantomime given by the 7th grade pupils and a reading by Miss Rhewold were much enjoyed. Home made candies were sold to augment the proceeds of the evening.

KENDALL

Many readers were sorry when they heard Mr. Darnall had sold the Herald, but were glad after seeing the last issue that it had fallen into good hands. From the appearance it looks as though we have as good or even a better paper than ever. All join in wishing the Herald a successful future and also Mr. Darnall, its former editor, success in whatever undertaking he goes into.

The Ladies' Aid met last Thursday at the home of Mrs. Miles. It was decided to meet each first and third Friday in future. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Thomson, the president.

The Parent-Teacher Association, which has not been meeting regularly for some time, are to have a meeting on Saturday evening, Jan. 6th. An interesting program has been arranged including a minstrel show composed mostly of the younger parents and the teachers.

Most of the families in this vicinity spent their Christmas at home, enjoying themselves fully. The Christmas dinners included a great variety of good things which abound in this favored region. Rabbit pot pie and roast pig with dressing formed the piece de resistance of many dinners.

Mr. and Mrs. Carson have moved into their new home, recently acquired, and will remain with us.

Mr. Olson is home again from an extended trip into Eastern Oregon.

The beautiful snow is with us. It is pretty cold to get around after news. We are hoping the weather may moderate before the next issue is due.

PLEASANT VALLEY

We wish the "Herald" and all its readers a happy and prosperous New Year.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Long and daughter, Miss Florence, of Portland, were guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. U. Moore Sunday.

Miss Gladys Richey, of Clatskanie, came up to spend Christmas with relatives and friends at this place. Miss Richey is a teacher in the Clatskanie high school.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Richey and family were visitors at the home of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Richey, of Boring, on Sunday.

Jas. Springer, of Portland, was a recent guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Will Richey. He has just returned from an extensive tour of California.

Grandma Sager, of Lents, visited with relatives in the valley for a couple of days this week. She has just returned from Alberta, Canada, where she has spent several months with relatives, her daughter, Mrs. Lewis Kemp, of Hutton Alto, accompanied her home.

Mr. and Mrs. W. U. Moore and family were entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Liner, of Portland, on Christmas day.

Christmas was fittingly observed at this place when the largest and most appreciative audience which has been brought together in this community in a long time assembled at the Grange hall last Saturday evening to participate in the festivities of the occasion. A beautifully decorated Christmas tree was the delight of old and young alike. A splendid program was rendered by the school children. All were remembered with a package of Christmas good-will. Charles R. Hunt, of Tillamook, died Dec. 23rd, while visiting at the home of his son, A. C. Hunt, of this place. He was eighty-five years of age and leaves a large circle of relatives and friends to mourn his loss.

Pleasant Valley Grange held its regular monthly session last Saturday. Notwithstanding the inclemency of the weather there was the usual attendance and a profitable day was spent. The annual election of officers was held, resulting in the election of the following: Master, G. N. Sager; Overseer, Miss Hazel Berke; Lecturer, Mrs. Kate Poppleton; Chaplain, Mrs. J. L. Johnson; Secretary, Mrs. Anna Lehman; Steward, Mrs. Isabel Masters; Assistant Steward, Lloyd Giese; Lady Assistant Steward, Mrs. Effie Sager; Ceres, Mrs. M. E. Donley; Pomona, Mrs. W. U. Moore; Flora, Miss Edith Butler; Gate Keeper, Albert Troge; Musician, Miss Hazel Stradley; Assistant, Miss Margaret Kersting; Trustee, H. E. Poppleton; T. P. Campbell was elected to fill the unexpired term of J. W. Frost Sr., who resigned as trustee.

WAS HORSE INTOXICATED?

Judge "Passes It Up" in a Suit For Damages.

Milwaukee, Wis.—Whether or not a horse was intoxicated was made a part of an argument of a case in Judge Otto H. Bredendach's branch of the civil court recently.

Michael Iglinski sued William Koontz for $1,000, charging that the defendant drove an automobile into his buggy, throwing his wife out. Some testimony tended to show that the buggy was zigzagging along the road.

The attorney for the plaintiff in his argument declared that there was no evidence to show that the horse was drunk. The court found for the defendant without deciding the horse's condition.

Chester (Pa.) Highwayman Thorough. Chester, Pa.—Highwaymen do things thoroughly in Chester. James H. Gray, a Village green was attacked by a ruffian at Deshong Memorial park, nine blocks from city hall. The bandit took all Gray's valuables, after beating him to a pulp, and then exchanged shoes. Gray has been in the hospital ever since.

Crows Battle With Hawk. Pittsburgh.—A stiff battle between a chicken hawk and three crows was witnessed near Wingerton, Pa., by David Kauffman of Rouserville. The hawk was being carried away by his foes when Kauffman separated them.

First Shakespeare Festival. The vandal act of Parson Gastrell in cutting down a mulberry tree believed to have been planted in Shakespeare's garden by Shakespeare's own hand led directly to the first of Shakespeare festivals. The mulberry tree, felled by an "act of Gothic barbarity," as Boswell termed it, was bought by a carpenter, who cut it up into "Shakespeare relics" in the form of caskets and tea caddies, snuff boxes and standishes. One of these mulberry tree boxes, including the freedom of the borough, was sent by the corporation of Stratford on Avon to David Garrick with the request that he should in turn forward his own portrait to be "placed near that of his favorite author, in perpetual remembrance of both."

Garrick was immensely flattered by this homage from Shakespeare's town and acknowledged the compliment by undertaking the arrangement of a grand jubilee in honor of the poet. This, the first Stratford commemoration, was held on three September days in 1769. To prepare for it at least 100 fine old trees were cut down "in order to enlarge the prospect."—London Times.

Two Days in One. Chatham Island, lying off the coast of New Zealand, in the south Pacific ocean, is peculiarly situated, as it is one of the few habitable points of the globe where the day of the week changes. It is just on the line of the demarcation between dates. There at 12 noon on Sunday Sunday ceases and instantly Monday meridian begins. Sunday comes into a man's house on the east side and becomes Monday by the time it passes out of the western door. A man sits down to his noonday dinner on Sunday, and it is Monday noon before he finishes it.—London Globe.
