LODGE ENTERTAIN GRANDMASTER

Rebekahs and Their Families Participate in Reception Tendered To Their Chief.

FINE PROGRAM RENDERED

Tableaux Cap Climax of Splendid Entertainment--Westbrook Presented With Ple.

Tuesday evening the Odd Fellows and Rebekahs of Lents, their families and friends entertained the Grand Master, Henry Westbrook, this being his last official visit previous to the convening of the State Assembly at Eugene the coming month. Grand Warden Weed was also present.

A splendid program was presented, being almost entirely patriotic in character. Musical selections were contributed by Miss Myrtle McNeil pianist and a violin solo by Donald McNeil, accompanied by Miss Myrtle. A vocal solo entitled "When the Boys Come Back," was rendered by Mrs. F. M. Jasper, accompanied by her daughter, Miss Grace. "Old Glory," by James Whitcomb Riley, was given by Elizabeth Hyde. Little Miss Margaret McCulloch, of Gilbert, danced the Highland Fling, dressed in costume. Her execution of this historic dance is dainty and charming. She was accompanied by her mother, Miss Roberta Downing, of the Gillespie School of Expression, gave two readings which were enthusiastically received. Miss Downing has appeared before Lents audiences before and is rapidly becoming a popular entertainer throughout Portland. Her rendering of the character sketch illustrating "The Feelings of a Foreigner at Sight of the Statue of Liberty" was inimitable and brought down the house.

The address of the Grand Master was greatly enjoyed. Mr. Westbrook is very popular throughout his jurisdiction, the reason for which is not hard to find. On this occasion he dealt out the usual number of complimentary (?) tributes, Mr. Peterson being his chief target. He gave a brief historical sketch of the I. O. O. F., referring to the anniversary celebration of the founding of the Order to be observed in Portland Thursday evening. He complimented the local lodge upon their progress and growth. In conclusion he gave a stirring patriotic appeal which was heartily applauded. Grand Warden Weed gave a brief address, complimenting the lodge on its growth and development and the number of young men belonging to it. He turned the tables very neatly on Mr. Westbrook, to the delight of the audience, for however much they love their chief they like to see him get a dose of his own medicine.

The "Star Spangled Banner" and "America" were sung by the audience, one at the beginning and the other at the conclusion of the program.

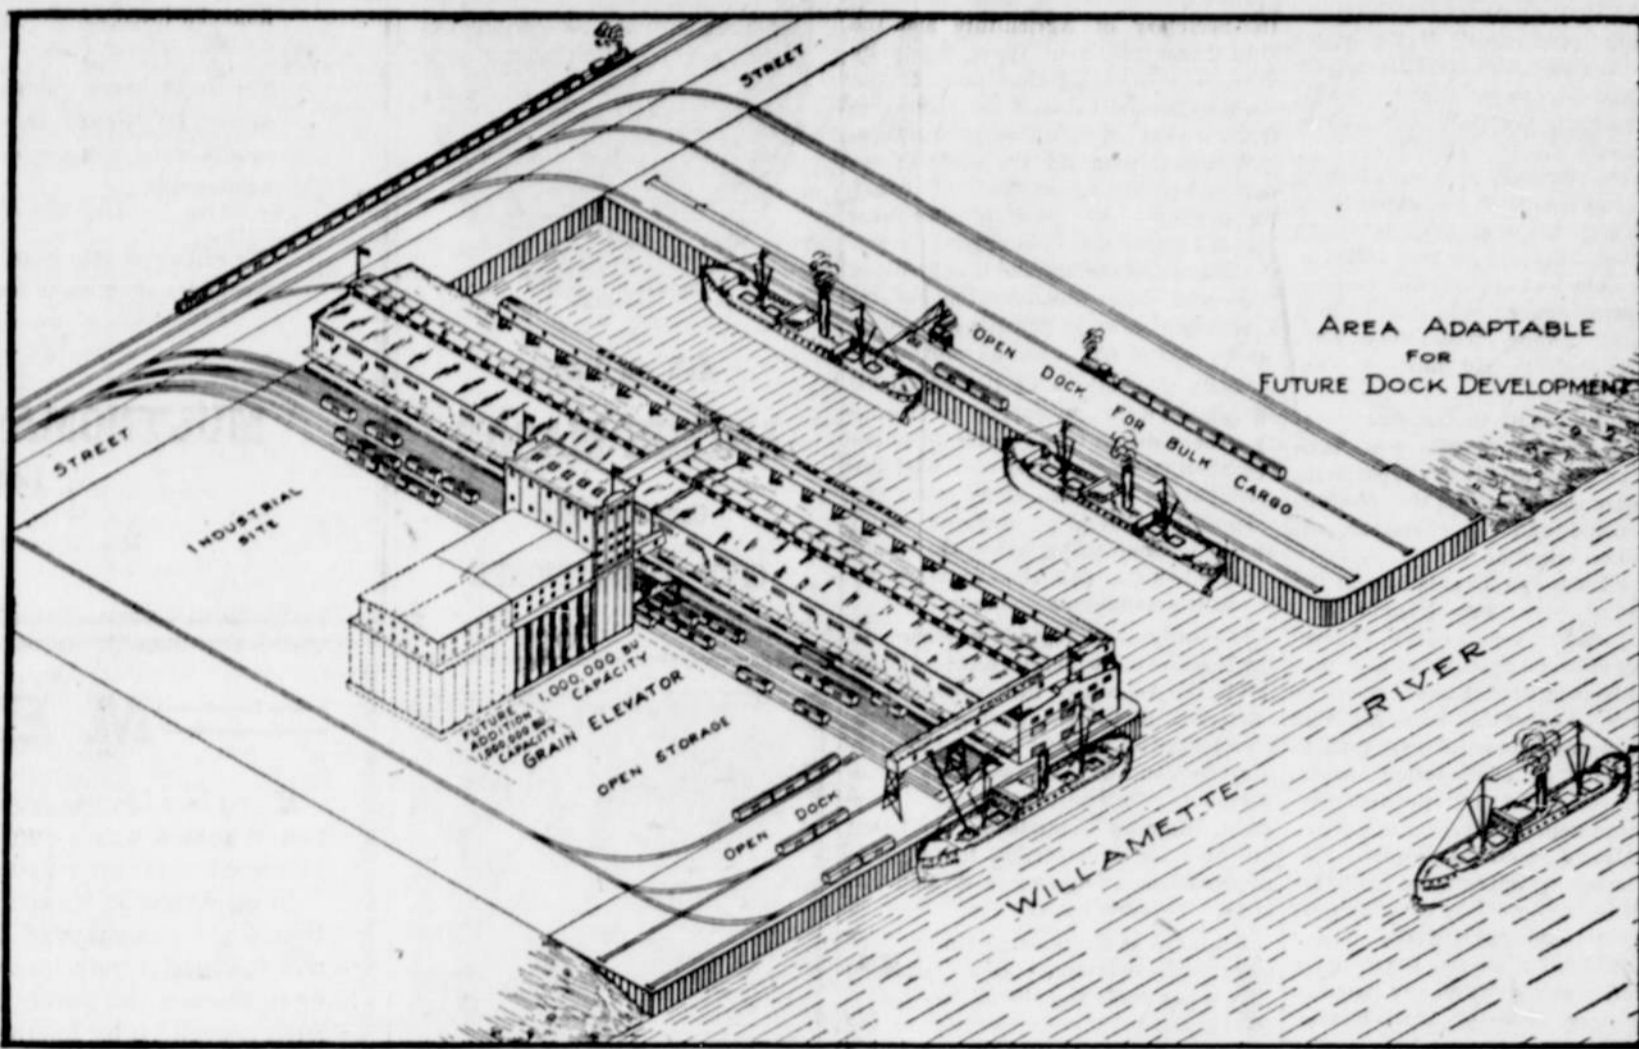

Perhaps the winning number of the program was the presentation in two tableaux of the song, "Don't Bite the Hand That's Feeding You," the music of which was rendered by Mrs. McNaught, of Portland. Thunderous applause greeted this realistic patriotic demonstration.

An amusing episode was provided at the close of the program by the presentation of a huge pie to the Grand Master, a humorous little spell accompanying the gift. For once Mr. Westbrook was taken completely off his feet and left high and dry with no words to reply.

A banquet served in the dining hall above terminated the evening's festivities. John D. was on hand to make the coffee, which was nectar fit for the gods. The ladies especially enjoyed the "cents" as they had not been asked to assist in their preparation. The cake was a dream, and was concocted by J. C. Kennedy. The committee on arrangements headed by Mr. Kennedy, and the committee on program headed by Mrs. McNeil are deserving of great credit, as well as all who co-operated with them for the success of the evening.

Mr. Dilly made a very stately Uncle Sam, looking very dignified as he led in the Grand March. A little Spitz dog however, of evident pro-German sympathies, took great exceptions to the presence of Uncle Sam, barking furiously at his heels. Or perhaps, he thought the tableaux were not yet finished and it was his turn to "bite the hand that gave him food."

The Women of Woodcraft will give one of their enjoyable 500 parties Friday evening in the Odd Fellows hall.

HELP PUT THE PORT IN PORTLAND.

The accompanying aeroplane drawing illustrates the Dock Commission's proposed elevator and shipping terminal for this port. The terminal will provide the means for the expeditious handling and storage of grain in bulk, and it also provides a large space and other facilities for the handling and storage of lumber, rails, structural steel and other bulk material and freight.

It is proposed to make the first unit of the elevator of 1,000,000 bushels capacity, the work house to be equipped with machinery for the handling of an additional 1,000,000 bushels. The elevator would be a combined bulk and sack elevator, and provisions are made for handling grain in sacks also.

The open storage space which will be provided is considered a valuable adjunct to the port's shipping facilities, as it furnishes the means of accommodating special and heavy bulk freight, which heretofore has not been practicable at this port.

The proposed elevator and shipping terminal has been carefully planned for possible future enlargement and extensions and, at a comparatively small cost, more shed room for general and special cargo can be provided whenever the shipping of the port requires such additional space. The slip will be of ample width not only to accommodate the vessels berthed at the piers, but will also permit of coaling and other barges to tie up along the vessels moored there.

The proposed bond issue of $3,000,000 is not for elevator construction alone but includes the other structures and facilities needed. It is the purpose of the Dock Commission to spend only so much money as is needed to proceed with construction to meet the demands required by shipping.

The Dock Commission believes that the port must either be prepared to accept any and all business offered when normal and increased shipping is restored, or face the necessity of losing it, because the city cannot afford to allow shipping after the war to resume without having the facilities the port's competitors provide. Portland must be prepared to meet very strong competition.

The Dock Commission is endeavoring to protect the future of the port in asking the vote of $3,000,000 at the June election. No part of the authorized bond issue will be sold until money is actually needed for purchase of property or construction work. The unsold portion of the bonds, of course, would draw no interest and would be held in reserve for future requirements.

CLUB TO MEET MONDAY NIGHT

Improvement Club Session Monday At Kenworthy's Chapel Will Help Put Port in Portland.

STEREOPTICON LECTURE

Figures On Foster Road And Figures On 88th St., Improvements Will Probably Be Presented.

Monday night's meeting of the Lents Improvement Club promises to be of unusual interest. Besides the regular reports of committees there will probably be presented the revised figures on the improvements to 88th street, and possibly also the figures on Foster Road, which have been so long anticipated.

In addition, there will be a free stereopticon lecture showing the various ports of the world, and how their development should be an inspiration for Portland's development as a port. The lecturer will be G. B. Hegardt, Chief Engineer of the Dock Commission, and those who have heard him say that he is both entertaining and interesting. He advocates the construction of a modern grain elevator, and proper terminal facilities as a means of developing Portland. This subject is of vital interest to all residents of any part of Portland. All Lents people are urged to attend. The meeting is open and free, not even a collection.

Ladies Of Shiloh Circle To Meet.

The ladies of Shiloh Circle G. A. R., will give their monthly silver tea at the home of Mrs. L. E. Russell, 8800 49th avenue, between 82nd and 83rd streets, Thursday afternoon of next week, May 3rd.

This event was to have been held on Thursday of last week, but was postponed because of the Patriotic Parade. Let all friends of the Circle rally and give them a good crowd, and a consequent amount of dimes.

Mrs. Lula Schermerhorn, President.

Attend Quarterly Conference.

Rev. and Mrs. Robt. H. Clark were in Gresham on Saturday attending the district quarterly conference of the Free Methodist Church which was held in that place.

EVANGELICAL MEETINGS ARE NOW IN PROGRESS

Rev. Graham and Rev. Harvey, are conducting a series of evangelistic services under the auspices of the Wesleyan Methodist Church, in the little German chapel at Gray's Crossing. The meetings have been in progress for the past three weeks. Four missionaries, who expect soon to sail for India, have been in attendance and have added to the interest of the meetings. The company consists of Misses Stella and Grace Wood, Miss Frances and Miss Green, the former having spent six years in India, but the others are now going out for their first experience in missionary work. The service this (Thursday) evening will be of unusual interest. It will be missionary in character with a musical program preceding the regular service. At the close of the service a large delegation will accompany the outgoing missionaries to the station where they will take the midnight train for Seattle, from which city they will sail the last of the week. Mrs. Hoy, of 84th street, will accompany them to Seattle.

The meetings will be continued for some time yet. Rev. Hampe, pastor of the Wesleyan Methodist church of the city is assisting in the services.

ANNUAL SCHOOL EXHIBIT TO BE GIVEN FRIDAY

Parents and Friends Urged to Attend the School Exhibit From Eleven to Four O'Clock.

This is "visiting week" for the Lents school. Nothing gives more pleasure to a child than for the parents to visit the school, and if this is done at no other time in the year it should receive attention during the week especially set aside for that purpose by the school faculty. At this time teachers and pupils make special effort to act the part of courteous hosts and take great pleasure in informing friends and patrons of the school of the progress which has been made during the school year.

On Friday will occur the 6th Annual Exhibit. There will be on exhibition school work, sewing, cooking, manual training, home industry work and domestic art. Nearly every pupil will have something to contribute to the exhibit. From eleven o'clock a. m. until four o'clock p. m. will be devoted to this display and the general public is invited to attend.

FUN AND FANCY FRIDAY EVENING

Lents M. E. Church Has Secured Well-Known Interpreter Of Whitcomb Riley Poetry.

O. V. BADLEY, READER

Splendid Entertainment to Be Given at Lents School Auditorium Friday Evening

The entertainment to be given under the auspices of the Epworth League of the Lents Methodist Church in the school auditorium Friday evening of this week, the 27th inst., will be one of exceptional merit. O. V. Badley, Impersonator and Reader, who has been connected with lyceum bureaus and is an entertainer of recognized ability is the chief attraction. He is in constant demand and to secure his services is an assurance of an evening of rare pleasure. The very modest prices of 10 cents and 15 cents which is all that is asked, does not by any means represent the value of the entertainment. The proceeds are to be devoted to the Church Improvement Fund. Tickets can be obtained from members of the Epworth League. The program will commence at eight o'clock.

J. HENDERSON OF LENTS RECEIVES APPOINTMENT

J. Henderson, of 94th street, who for the past two years has been employed as postal clerk at the Portland postoffice, has received an appointment for a like position in the Lents office, his duties to commence the first of the month with the beginning of free delivery. Mr. Henderson is deserving of the advancement as he has applied himself and faithfully discharged the duties which have devolved upon him in the position which he has occupied.

Spends Week End With Relatives.

S. M. Smith, of Pennawawa, Wash., spent the week-end in town, the guest of Rev. and Mrs. Robt. H. Clark, he being a brother-in-law of the latter. He left the first of the week for Salem where he will visit other relatives before returning to his home.

GIBBINS-KELLY WEDDING OCCURS AT VANCOUVER

On Thursday of last week, the 19th inst., at Vancouver, Wash., occurred the marriage of Mrs. Belle Rosada Kelly, of Lents, and Charles Fiske Gibbins, of Portland, Justice W. S. T. Derr performing the nuptial rites. The bride was accompanied by her mother, Mrs. A. L. MacFarlan.

Mr. and Mrs. Gibbins will reside at 90 E. 29th street, near Stark.

The bride has been a resident of Lents for over a year past, having conducted a rooming house on 92nd street, just south of the car tracks. She is a granddaughter of Capt. Lewis Love, a pioneer statesman of Oregon, having been a member of the Legislature and identified with the earlier history of the State. Also, a niece of Rev. G. C. Love, of Love's Addition, Portland. Mr. Gibbins is a railroad engineer, and had the honor of running a mail train over a section of the Santa Fe at the time the contest for the carrying of the mails was on between the different railroads.

Their many friends extend best wishes for happiness and prosperity to attend them in their journey of life together.

HOFFMAN P. T. A. TO GIVE PROGRAM.

Address on Food Values--Com. Daly Will Present Municipal Light Measure.

The Parent-Teacher Association of the Hoffman school have arranged a splendid program for their next meeting which will be held in the school auditorium on Saturday evening of next week, May 5th, at 7:30.

At this meeting Mrs. J. D. Spencer will give an address on "How to Nourish a Family in These Days of High Prices." Will Daly will speak on the "Municipal Light" bill which will be submitted to the voters of the city at the coming election.

Mrs. F. H. Whitfield will sing a group of patriotic songs, supplementing them with a brief history of their origin.

These are topics of vital interest to all and should draw a full house. Come and bring your note books.

Mrs. Lewis McKinley returned from the hospital the last of the week and is rapidly convalescing from her recent illness.

PLANNING FOR WORLD PEACE

Hamilton Holt, Editor Of The Independent, Inspires With Vision Of World Citizenship.

AUDIENCE WAS ENTHUSED

Oregon Civic League Provides Treat For Nearly Four-Hundred Diners--World Peace Propheesied.

Over a hundred years ago the German philosopher, Kant, said that before world peace becomes an accomplished reality three things must happen; racial hatred must be dissolved, the people must rule in place of the kings, and the world must be politically organized. This was the text of Hamilton Holt's discourse before the Oregon Civic League Saturday noon. Mr. Holt is editor of The Independent, New York, and is one of the founders and directors of the League to Enforce Peace of which ex-President Taft is the President.

Mr. Holt stated that Kant's first condition is being met by the schools, colleges and churches of every nation, and that rapidly personal animosity of one race of people for another is disappearing. The second condition is being met by the nations themselves in struggles for democracy; Russia is the glaring example just now, and this war will probably hasten all such endeavors. The third condition is the one that the League to Enforce Peace has set itself to bring to pass. Their aim will be to solve the paradox, which is absolutely correct from either side, armaments do afford protection to a nation, but armaments do often prove to be the reason for getting a nation into trouble with another nation. He said that force was expressed in three ways: Police force, wholly good, Aggression, usually bad, Defense, usually a glorious duty, but at best a necessary evil. They aim to put Aggression into an International Police force, and thus do away at the same time with the need for Defense.

There have been three theories advanced as to possibilities for world disarmament. By force, a foolish suggestion, by conference, hitherto unpracticable, but now startling the world with its possibilities which every day grow brighter, and co-operation on a plan identical with the union of the separate states into this glorious United States of America. America leads the way.

In a masterful way Mr. Holt carried his large audience in breathless attention as he showed how it would be possible and practical to commence at once combining nations together, their combined strength to be just a little greater than the largest nation outside of their confederation. He showed how, with the access of each new nation into the union, the total police force could be reduced, and the taxes be consequently less the greater the confederation grew, as it was when New York State and Virginia came into the Union and pooled their standing armies and reduced taxation. An International Court would have to be made having the same relation to each nation that our Federal Government has to each State, with Legislative, Judicial and Executive branches. He stated that President Wilson, A. J. Balfour of England, the Premier of France, and the leading Statesmen in Russia are all heartily in favor of this plan already. He stated that the President secured a rider to the Navy Appropriation bill which gives him power to cease building the ships authorized to be built, if such a world combination be successfully gotten under way, thus showing President Wilson's belief in the imminence of the political organizing of the world.

Mr. Holt stated that the League to Enforce Peace was born in June 1916 in Independence Hall, Philadelphia, with ex-President Taft as its leader. He said that the great test before the world today is as to whether America is to become Europeanized or Europe is to become Americanized. With a magnificent tribute to Woodrow Wilson he suggested that just as Washington signed the Declaration of Independence so Wilson might have the privilege of signing the Declaration of Interdependence.

Mrs. Blake Visits Lents.

Mrs. J. Blake, formerly of Lents, but now of Camas, Wash., was in town the last of the week. She attended the Rebekah lodge on Friday evening and enjoyed meeting old friends once more. While in town she was the guest of Mrs. W. J. McNeil, of Foster Road.
