Leland Moore came home from Corvallis Friday evening to spend the week end with the home folks, returning Sunday evening to his studies at the O. A. C.

Miss Laura Moore, who is teaching at Timber Grove, was home over Saturday and Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hill, of Portland, were out Sunday and spent the day at the ranch.

Miss Edna Berke, who is teaching school near Barton, came home Friday evening for a visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Berke. She returned to Barton Sunday afternoon.

Pleasant Valley Grange held an all-day session Saturday. The attendance was small, owing no doubt to the fine weather, which many of the members felt they could not afford to lose on the farm at this time. However, a good program was rendered. Several timely topics were discussed. The visitors present were J. D. Lee, of Portland; Mrs. Minnie Goodenough Hyde, news editor of the Mt. Scott Herald, and Mrs. W. J. McNeil, of Lents.

F. M. Trask was a business caller in Lents on Monday.

Happy Valley.

The few days of sunshine last week has started the farmers to seeding and planting, but more good weather is needed to finish.

The Happy Valley school will close on Thursday, May 3, after a successful term of eight months.

Chas. Betz underwent a painful operation on the spine last week. He is gaining in strength as rapidly as could be expected.

The contract for the new school house has been let and work will start at once.

Bellrose-Gilbert.

Elwin Anderson took down with the measles Friday, which was the reason the Needle Club meeting Monday at that home was postponed.

Pat Lenth and the Rennys went to Forest Grove Saturday on a fishing trip to be gone over the week-end.

O. McBee, of Powell Valley Road and Buckley avenue, who recently married, is building himself a new home.

MAY DAY PAGEANT.

About 150 attended the May Day program given by the pupils of Gilrose school. The parents joined with the children in singing patriotic songs. The program consisted of folk dances, drills and a demonstration of Robin Hood.

The May Pole Dance by twenty-six little girls was a most delightful feature of the program.

Kendall.

(Too late for last issue.)

Everybody is busy trying to get their gardens planted. So much rainy weather makes everything late.

The younger school children are mourning over the loss of their teacher, Miss Champain, who has recently married and is now known as Mrs. Howe. She is the only teacher some of the kiddies have known and she is very popular.

School will soon be out so the children will have some time to help in gardening.

Mr. Olson is able to be out once more, but is obliged to use a cane.

Mr. Hickey, who has been ill for some time, is slowly improving, but has not fully recovered as yet.

Mr. Mundin is preparing for quite a garden, having rented two acres in addition to his home tract.

Farm and Grange Notes

Pleasant Valley Grange.

Pleasant Valley Grange held a very interesting session on Saturday last. The attendance was small owing to many of the men taking advantage of the beautiful day to put in the belated garden.

The morning session was devoted to routine business and degree work. A regular good old-fashioned country feed was partaken of during the noon hour.

In the afternoon an open lecture session was held. Although the program was almost entirely impromptu, owing to the absence of the regular lecturer, Mrs. Lehman who filled in the gap, succeeded in presenting a program which was instructive as well as entertaining. The question, "Resolved that the women of this generation have more to do than the women of One Hundred years ago," was discussed by nearly all present. The opinion seemed to prevail that the lives of women had always been full, but while those of the past may have accomplished more physical labor, the women of this generation worked under a greater nervous tension and because of the greater field covered by the activities of women these days they actually accomplished more work than the women of the past.

Mr. Campbell gave a short talk on "Successful Salesmanship," agreeing to prove his theories by practical demonstration by selling Mr. Henderson a second-hand automobile.

Mr. Moore, one of the younger men of the Grange was present, being home from the O. A. C. for a visit. He gave a very interesting talk, upholding the honors of that institution, which he said was being given a black eye just at present by the press of the State owing to the fact that the faculty were not encouraging enlistments from the student body. Mr. Moore stated that early next week 200 students from the engineering department of the college would leave for California to enter more active training for service to their country, but that it was the opinion of the faculty that until a future contingency arose the agricultural students could render a greater service to their country by continuing at their post, since the Nation's food supply was most vital in the present crises, especially as these students were receiving regular military training each day.

Mr. Lee, of Evening Star Grange, Powell Valley, was present and gave a brief address on a few of the measures to be voted upon at the coming election. He has represented his State in the Legislature several terms and his remarks showed careful research and a grasp of the political situation of the State, at the same time he takes a very conservative stand upon all questions. Regarding the $6,000,000 Bond Issue he stated that he was not fully committed to its opposition, although he did not like the manner in which the bill was drawn nor the interests which were backing it; that it was a fact that the people of the State would be obliged to take a good deal that they did not want in order to get what they did want—good roads. He also referred to the bill calling for an appropriation to build a new State Penitentiary, which he conceded was badly needed, as he was in a position to state, having been Superintendent of that institution for several years. One clause of this bill he objected to very strenuously, viz: that a site be procured in the same county as occupied by the present building. As a matter of fact Mr. Lee contended that desirable sites were few and that undoubtedly right across the river in Polk county, just as easy of access to the State House, better sites could be obtained for from seventy-five to one hundred thousand dollars less, and why should the taxpayers of the State pay that difference when nothing would be gained in so doing.

Mrs. W. J. McNeil, of the Lents Grange, and Minnie G. Hyde, of the Mt. Scott Publishing Co., were present at the afternoon session and were treated right royally by the whole-souled people of Pleasant Valley, which they conceded to have been rightly named, as no more beautiful scene could be found than that which is presented by the neat, well-kept, small-tract rural homes which comprise this section.

A HOME VS AN AUTO

A TALE OF TWO MEN (Not a Fable)

I had a friend,—a good friend too,—some four years ago he talked home building to me,—got me to thinking—and Mary too—Well we built a home—the "cutest" little home,—and my—we were happy—Mary and Me—but as I was saying that my friend, a good friend too—was thinking of home building—but he didn't—he bought an auto instead,—and My—he lorded it over Mary and Me. But it—the auto I mean—didn't last long—it's gone two years ago—and I lost a friend,—a good friend too,—for in running that whirl, he didn't have time to visit Mary and Me. I see him just once in a while,—all worried looking—over the money that's gone—gasoline, tires and garage man,—he barely speaks—it's his conscience I guess,—cause—Mary and Me—we're so happy,—for I don't tell it loud,—we've most paid for our home—Mary and Me—

Moral—We believe that all stories should have a moral. Don't lose your good friends,—good nature, and a home. Look at our display of "cute" homes—they are actual photographs.

Be a "Mary and Me"—build a "Ye Planry" home.
