Evening Star Grange.

Saturday, July 7th was celebrated as "patriotic day," by Evening Star Grange.

The Worthy Master, in the absence of the lecturer prepared the following excellent program:

Song, "America" by the Grange.
Song, "Flag of the Free," Juvenile Grange.

Recitation, "Best Decoration" by Covell Smith.

Duet, Martha Billiter and Alice Cheeka.

Solo, Miss Grace Rudd.

Patriotic Address by the Rev. C. E. Cline. He gave some very good advice as to how to live during these war times. His talk was very timely and well appreciated.

Solo, Mrs. Ruth Reagan.

Mr. C. C. Thomason, from City Supt. Alderman's office told of the coming session of the N. E. A. and advised as many as possible to be present at some of the meetings some time during the coming week.

Miss Tooley, of the Gillespie School of Expression gave as a reading "Star Spangled Banner," and for an encore she gave "I Know the Four Leaf Clovers Grow."

The reading of these two popular songs was quite an innovation and much appreciated.

County Agent, S. B. Hall was present and told of the good work being done by that department, of the retaining of several thousand acres of the very best land along the Columbia Slough bottoms. Large crops can be raised on this land, thus helping to reduce the present shortage of food stuffs.

Denny Memorial Fund Started.

It has been discovered that the widow of the Honorable N. Denny, who was the first man to ship Chinese game birds to America in 1882, is now living in Portland and in need of funds to save her home. It is estimated that if each sportsman in America would contribute One Dollar or more each the sum of $10,000 would be raised to save Mrs. Denny's home as a living monument to the memory of Judge Denny. Portland began last week to raise her share of this amount. W. R. Schmeier, Cashier U. S. National Bank, Portland, has been appointed treasurer of the Denny Memorial fund.

Slacker acres are owned. Tax them into use.

MRS. FRED DAVIS BUYS WAITING ROOM STORE

On Friday of last week Mrs. Fred Davis and her daughter took over the Waiting Room Confectionery which has been run by J. D. Williams. Mr. Williams will remain here a couple of weeks to enable Mrs. Williams to do some sewing, then they will go back East. Mr. Davis is employed in Portland and will help the other members of the family Saturday afternoons and Sunday. This family has just moved down from Vancouver, British Columbia, and we believe will be an asset to the community. They were formerly in business in Portland at the time of the Lewis & Clarke Fair, and have had a hankering after Portland ever since. Mrs. Davis has had considerable experience in the restaurant, rooming house and confectionery lines and her daughter, Miss Dorothy will render valuable assistance as a business partner.

Another Letter from Dakota.

Battle Mountain Sanitarium, Hot Springs, S. D. July 2, 1917.
To The Editor:—Passing thru Butte, Montana we came to three Forks and there received news of a washout at Musselshell which caused a detour over the Northern Pacific. Morning found us between Bozeman and Livingston in the midst of a snow storm that was prevalent over most of the state. It was an unusual experience to see snow falling on Decoration day. Four or five inches fell and the ground was covered with snow. After passing Billings, Montana the snow began to disappear and when we crossed back to the Milwaukee tracks at Miles City the ground was bare. About sundown as we neared the North Dakota line we saw snow again, but I learned that it disappeared the next day without doing any harm. We crossed the Missouri river at Moberg in the night and reached Aberdeen, S. D. about 6 a. m. seven hours late. I had just time to change cars for a train to Woonsocket, S. D. and reached there at 9:45. The train was crowded as passengers of other trains ahead of ours had come in just ahead of us.

We passed thru a fine farming country and all of the crops were in good condition, but I heard the same story, "the season is three weeks late." Woonsocket is a very pretty town and well.

I was surprised at the way they park the automobiles in those prairie towns, for they are in the middle of the street and crossways also so that it leaves a good driveway next to the curb on each side of the autos. They were planting corn in some of the fields, and since the farmers of that section have gone into diversified farming they have made money. There were good, substantial houses and other buildings on most of the farms and many silos.

I had a long wait for a train to Weston Springs, till after 7 p. m. reaching there in time for part of the commencement exercises of the Free Methodist Seminary. . . was in time to hear an address on "Glimpses of Europe" by Rev. E. L. Olmstead, of Fort Wayne, Indiana, who also delivered the baccalaureate sermon Sunday morning.

On Friday afternoon forty autos, mostly furnished free by the citizens of the town, took the students and visiting friends of the school for a fifty mile ride thru the country. It was a treat to all that went on the ride over gently rolling prairie. We passed thru the towns of Lane, Woonsocket and Alpena, and the change that has come over that Country is wonderful, but indicative of the true American spirit that conquers every obstacle that lies before it.

One of the surprises of my visit to Westington Springs was that in conversation with the man of the home where I was entertained was that he and his sister held the series of meetings in Ontario, Canada that Mrs. Clark was converted in when a girl of thirteen. I was surely an honored guest after that.

The exercises were concluded Monday night with thirty-six graduating from the different departments of the Seminary.

The Seminary will start in as a Junior College with a bright outlook for the future. The president of the Faculty is an old friend of mine, Rev. W. B. Olmstead, and he has made a success of the school work this year, and will continue at its head for another year.

Between Woonsocket and Mitchell, S. D. the crops were farther ahead and corn was up two and three inches in many fields.

I was entertained at the Free Methodist parsonage in Mitchell till after 10 p. m. and at my request the pastor took me to the train at that time as my train for the west did not leave till 1 a. m. It was nearly 2 when we pulled out for the west. My trip thru the bad lands of Dakota I will reserve for my next letter.

The treatments here are helping me in many ways and I walk much easier and farther than when I came.

Happy Valley.

Sunshine and good weather helped the farmers to finish their haying in good shape.

The strawberry season is about over. Prices were good and a good crop makes the growers feel happy.

John Dearthoff has purchased an auto truck. He will use it for hauling wood into the city.

H. C. Ulrich and family motored to Oregon City Sunday evening with the Chevrolet.

Word was received by telegram late Friday that Benjamin Loebner was dangerously ill at the Mare Island hospital. He enlisted a musician from this neighborhood six weeks ago. . . . goes out to the parents.

Cherryville.

The dry season is all right. Fine weather for the hay makers.

We are in the war and we must see it through to a successful conclusion. The government, which is the people, are very much in favor of completing the downfall of the German military power. Brutality and greed must not rule in this enlightened age.

The big prospect for cherries that were made early in the season has been a disappointment as they have mostly fallen off. The crop of pears will also be light.

Miss Helen Arnold has gone to Portland to attend the N. E. A. She will return the last of the week.

A constant stream of autos is going up into the mountains every Saturday and Sunday.

The government cruisers have moved over to Marmot, but will return here next week. It is said they expect to move South as Winter approaches and expect it will take them nearly two years to complete their work.

Mrs. Miller, at the hotel, has a pullet not much over six months old that has a brood of chickens. Can you beat it.

John D. Rockefeller has the high cost of living beat. He takes his lunches at a cheap Japanese restaurant. Nothing like economy.

An epidemic has been raging here among stock on the range. Two different parties have lost six head each, and others have lost one or more. Some think it is a poisonous plant they get in the woods.

We need rain for the gardens and grain, but not for the hay makers.

Cool nights and absence of insect pests make this Summer season delightful.

An all-day session of Lents Grange will be held on Saturday. Work in the third and fourth degree will occupy the time of the morning session, to be followed by dinner at the noon hour, with the usual open lecture hour in the afternoon.
