HUSTON STANDS FOR THE EIGHT HOUR DAY

Senator Huston stands squarely for the 8-hour day. He stood squarely against the anti-picketing law. He stood for the law to protect children. He has stood for laws favoring women, and now stands for universal suffrage. Listen to a plank of his platform:

. The recognition of the justice of the basic eight-hour day in mines, mills and factories of the United States allows little argument. The short workday has already been voluntarily established among millions of workingmen. National legislation is required to compel its uniform adoption and observance. The wage worker and the lumbering and shipbuilding industries of the Pacific Coast especially, should not be asked to compete unfairly either in hours or wages, with the cheap labor in the southern mills and factories which now work ten and twelve hours a

And this plank, too: UNIVERSAL SUFFRAGE I will support measures which will give women the full use of the ballot. If facts were needed to convince the voters of the country that extended suffrage would be simple justice to the
