CHERRYVILLE

Still dry and warm. Everybody seemingly coming into the mountains.

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Miller have gone over to their ranch on the Lewis River, in Washington.

Mrs. J. T. Fried, Jr., and daughter Nola are running the hotel here, and will keep it open the rest of the season.

Who is there among us, even the poorest and humblest, who would exchange places with the Kaiser and the fearful day of reckoning ahead of him both in this present life and throughout all eternity?

England overcame the greatest military genius who ever appeared in any age, Napoleon, and also defeated Paul Kruger, who was as stubborn as old Hindenburg, and with the help of her allies she will humiliate and utterly defeat the Kaiser.

The mail driver now makes this place, going up from Sandy into the mountains at 9 o'clock in the morning and coming back at 1 o'clock. Consequently he has to make his "fliver" fly. One day last week he ran over a covey of pheasants dusting themselves in the road. He says he is sorry, as this is the closed season for pheasants. The next day a wildcat deliberately crossed the road ahead of him and he missed it by only a few feet. He says it was about as big as his "tin Lizzie," and as it is the open season for wildcats he would chance a mix-up with it.

BELROSE - GILBERT

E. Gale is painting his store.
E. J. Mahony is busy with his new auto.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Blatchford have leased their store at Shelborn and bought a place near Mrs. Blatchford's father, Mr. Lenox, of Lenox avenue. Blatch will be welcomed back by her girlhood friends.

J. L. Johnson is working in the ship yards. He received a letter lately from Cortes Valentine of Gilbert, who is now in active service in England. He sends his most kind regards to all and asks to be remembered, which he certainly will be.

Several families from this district met in a basket picnic at the Oaks last Thursday afternoon. The families represented: Rindle, Bateman, Johnson, Anderson, Southers and Casey. It was a matter of regret that Mr. and Mrs. Hinebean could not attend. A jolly good time was had. Oregon may be dry—very dry—but breathing spells of this kind help to make life enjoyable.

PREPARE TO RECEIVE GRAND ARMY GUESTS

In view of the fact that accommodations in the city are already at a premium, it is urged upon those having rooms that they can rent to list them early for the accommodation of the crowds that will be here at the national encampment of the Grand Army of the Republic August 19. A price of 75 cents for one person in a room, or $1 for two persons, has been fixed. Mrs. J. W. Moffet, 6335 Ninetieth street, will receive listings, or you can send to the Liberty Temple.

Let Oregon be first in this, as she has been in everything else, and furnish a cordial western welcome to old soldiers and their families, and let Mt. Scott people not be slow in doing their part.

A letter has been sent to every City Commissioner by Mayor Baker, asking that all department heads make an immediate canvass among the employes of the city for available rooms.

Several hundred park benches will be placed on downtown streets of Portland for the use of Civil War veterans and their wives during the convention. The act that they are for the exclusive use of the veterans and their wives will be painted on the benches.

In knitting socks, it is stiches on heels are picked instead of 16 and the other stitch taken from the sock leg, there will be no hole in ankle; closes tight. This is worth a lot to sock knitters.

When Baking Apples

Try putting a couple of raw cranberries in the middle of each one. It gives a fine flavor and is especially good if the apples are insipid.

Conserve Your Eyesight

MANY people who take alarm at the first symptoms of other physical ailments, and hurry off to the doctor or dentist, fail to give second thought to the warning of distress occasioned by defective eyesight. This seems inexcusable in view of the easy access to the services of an eye specialist.

You may have the mistaken idea that your eyes are strong and clear-sighted as they used to be, but you will perhaps be surprised as to the extent to which properly fitted glasses will improve your vision and help improve your vision and help your appearance.

A Great Net of Mercy drawn through an Ocean of Unspeaking Pain
The American Red Cross

Out of the Trenches for a Breathing Space

Contributed by James Montgomery Flagg.

"They Are Our Boys; Get Ready, Everyone, for a Rush!"

The long train of freight cars whined and grumbled as it strove to stop. In the doorway of a great low building a white capped and gowned woman released a sunny smile and, turning so her voice carried into the building, called out, "They are ours; get ready for a rush."

Just how she could tell they were "ours" would be hard to explain, for at the moment she spoke hundreds of the dirtiest, grizzliest men a woman ever saw came fairly tumbling out of the freight cars. A moment more she was welcoming this muddy rabble with a laugh and cheering words.

Inside the building there were more women, all spick and span in white, with faces beaming, handing out good "home cooked" food over spotless tiled counters. Some of the boys fairly ran for the food; others went into the long batteries of baths, throwing out their vermin ridden clothes to be sterilized while they scrubbed their bodies back to a healthy glow.

What luxury it all was—food, tables, chairs, things to read, games to play, paper for writing, a barber shop, a movie theater and good, clean beds! No one ever thought that these happy, smiling women might be tired, nor were they tired then, even though all day long they had been serving train after train of French and English troops, literally thousands of them. Yet what did that matter? For these boys that came at the end of a long day—these boys are "ours."

If your boy is in France you may be sure he has a song of praise for the fine women at work in the railway canteens of our own Red Cross, for at every important railway junction there is one of our Red Cross canteens and at each canteen there are 18 women—real, true American women.

shirts to send to the American soldiers in France. It has been found, the officers of the organization say, that these shirts are vermin proof, because the vermin or "goats" object to the odor of the silk.

Winnie couldn't get her doll to sit up as she wanted it, and after many vain attempts she banged it down, exclaiming:
