LENTS BRIEFS

Rev. E. A. Smith has found a home for his family in the Peterson house at 6185 Eighty-eighth street.

George W. Day made a short stay at the cranberry marshes at Long Beach, the damp air not seeming to agree with him this year.

T. C. Cox left for Idaho Falls last night, where he was summoned on account of the death of his father. He will take the body to Nebraska City, Neb., for burial.

Mrs. Emma Griffin was here from St.
Johns yesterday visiting her old-time Lents neighbor, Mrs. Susie Morgan.
She was accompanied by her son's wife and little grandson.

Services at the Baptist church Sunday, September 22. Morning service at 11 o'clock. Sermon by the pastor, Rev.
E. A. Smith, "How Much Shall I Give My Country?" Evening service at 8 o'clock. "The Sequel of a Godless" will be the theme.

NEED OF EARLY COAL BUYING.

At the bottom of the coal shortage last winter was the lack of sufficient cars and locomotives. Coal mined could not be shipped, quickly and surely, to the places where it was most urgently needed. That condition may come again. It certainly will if the weather proves very severe and there is general delay in buying fuel for next winter's consumption.

There are cars enough to distribute properly all the coal the country burns, if they can be kept steadily in use.
There are not enough to carry the supply of a year if they must move too much of it in a few months.

Coal is bulky and much room is required to store it in large quantities.
Thousands of retail dealers cannot be expected to provide yard and shed room for all the fuel which will be needed next winter, months in advance. They must be able to make deliveries through the spring and summer, and get their pay for the coal they sell.

Is it not plain that the need of early buying of coal is real and urgent?
There is no other way to make sure of adequate supplies of fuel for next winter.

Mr. N. Buckner, secretary of the Ashville Chamber of Commerce, is making a vigorous fight on the dog. He wants a federal tax on the canine for war purposes. The theory on which the war is being financed is that those who have the means shall foot the bill.
Surely a man who owns a dog in these times of high prices of foodstuffs can be styled a man of means. There is this to be said, however, many a man who owns a dog knows that he cannot afford to keep him and would like to be without him. But getting rid of him is no easy task. Mr. Buckner says that a dog in the run of a year will eat as much as a hog, and a hog born in March is worth $50 by Christmas. Government free electrocution of the dog would be one of the most useful government services that could be imagined.

The woman spy bill is now a law, which is right and just, although it is a wrench to American chivalry, which, however, has been too much abused, and which can no longer afford to run the risks of allowing feminine ingenuity and duplicity free play solely out of consideration for sex. Alien women enemies must learn they have no longer immunity from punishment when they constitute themselves a danger to the state.

Admiral Jellicoe said that U-boats would cease to be a menace by August 1, and the blocking of the ports of Zebrugge and Ostend may bring the date even a little nearer. At least the British are making better time on their program than the kaiser and Von Hindenburg on the date for that dinner in Paris.

It is a waste of time to berate Germany for her brutality. There is only one way: Discard sentimentality and gush, put in more man power, hold on until you get him, then cut the cables and give Germany such a touch of high life that forty generations hence men will vomit at the very mention of war.
