E. R. Bradley of Hood River is in the city on business, also visiting his daughter, Mrs. Carl Hollingworth at the home of her husband's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Hollingworth.

Mrs. Ella Fletcher has moved back into her home of Fifty-fifth avenue, having spent most of the fall visiting relatives, also her son at Camp Lewis. Her daughter Bertha is still teaching school.

OBITUARIES

Mrs. Nellie R. Gilman, Eighty-second street and Powell Valley road, died Monday after five days' illness of influenza. Mrs. Gilman had nursed her husband and children through a siege of influenza and when they were well on the road to recovery she was attacked by the disease and lowered vitality made her an easy victim.

As Helen Rose Gibbs, Mrs. Gilman was well known in the neighborhood of Eighty-second street and Powell Valley road, where her father maintained a mercantile business for 18 years. Twelve years ago she married Ansel Gilman, who survives. Two sons, Chester and Stanley, are recovering from an attack of influenza. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ezra F. Gibbs, reside on Powell Valley road. A sister, Miss Anna, is at the family home, and another sister, Mrs. John Abram, resides in Portland.

Mrs. Gilman was born in Weston, England, in 1886, and was brought to the United States during infancy. For 24 years she had resided in Portland. She was active in social work and had long been a member of Evening Star Grange. She had an unusually large circle of friends.

Despite the fact that death due to influenza is usually accompanied by intense suffering, the death of Mrs. Gilman was peaceful, the end coming without a struggle.

An added sadness comes to Mr. and Mrs. Gibbs in the loss of their daughter. A son was killed in France January 20, last, he having enlisted in the Canadian army.

Private funeral services were held this forenoon at the Kenworthy parlors, Lents, Rev. Jones officiating.

A friend offers this bit of verse as a tribute to the beautiful life of the dead woman:

"Within the shadow of the great Hereafter,

When earthly lights burn dim,
A mother's memory, like a tomb-hung garland,

Makes death less dark and grim,
And, looking back, the love that never faltered,

Whatever might betide,
We feel is waiting, hopeful, longing,
praying,

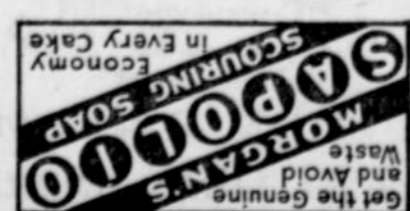

Upon the other side."

For Rent.

Nice room, one block from Lents school; board if desired. Call 9408 Fifty-sixth avenue S. E. Tabor 8104.

TREATMENT FOR STORED BEANS

Every season I have several letters asking me how to treat beans and peas to keep them free from insects when held over for winter use or for seed. I treat my beans and peas and, in fact, all seeds with carbon bisulphide. This is a heavy volatile liquid. The fumes are very inflammable and caution must be taken to keep the liquid away from a flame or even a lighted pipe. The fumes of the liquid should be placed in a shallow dish on top of the seed being treated. I put the seed in an air-tight box which I had made for this special purpose. To each peck of seed I use one ounce of the liquid. This kills any insect there may be in the seed, also any insect egg. The seed thus treated germinate when planted as well as untreated seed. Neither does this treatment spoil any grain or vegetable for eating. Any box may be used in treating seeds, but care should be taken to have it as near air-tight as possible.—Thos. F. Rigg, in American Poultry Journal.

THE YOUTH'S COMPANION

is worth more to family life today than ever before. Today, those who are responsible for the welfare of the family realize the imperative need of worth-while reading and what it means to individual character, the home life and the state. Everywhere the waste and chaff, the worthless and inferior, are going to the discard.

The Youth's Companion stands first, last and continually for the best there is for all ages. It has character and creates like character. That is why, in these sifting times, the family turns to its 52 issues a year full of entertainment and suggestion and information, and is never disappointed.

It costs only $2.00 a year to provide your family with the very best reading matter published. In both quantity and quality as well as in variety The Youth's Companion excels.

Don't miss Grace Richmond's great serial, Anne Exeter, 10 chapters, beginning December 12.

The following special offer is made to new subscribers:

1. The Youth's Companion—52 issues of 1919.

2. All the remaining weekly issues of 1918.

3. The Companion Home Calendar for 1919.

All the above for only $2.00, or you may include

4. McCall's Magazine—12 fashion numbers. All for only $2.50. The two magazines may be sent to separate addresses if desired.

JURY PAYS FINE

First Convicts Him and Then Settles His Troubles.

A jury before City Recorder J. J. Dowd in San Francisco recently, after finding J. T. Page guilty of disturbing the peace, paid his fine of $25. According to Page's story, he was in a saloon owned by Charles Sturman when C. C. Lind, the bartender, he said, insulted the flag. Page sought to make Lind kiss the flag in apology. Lind refused and Page struck him. Sturman caused Page's arrest on a charge of disturbing the peace.

D. E. Curley, foreman of the jury, asked the court if it would be logical for the jury to pay Page's fine. When the court said it would, the jurors took up a collection. One of the jurors found himself without funds and Sturman loaned him the money.
