

HAPPY VALLEY

Joe Spady has been dangerously ill with influenza, but is now recovering all O. K.

Louis Spady was taken to Portland Sanitarium Tuesday morning suffering from a severe attack of influenza.

Another car has been added to the Happy Valley jitney line. Earl and Jack Deardorff make the round trip to the city each day.

Wake up, you farmers, and take notice: Mr. Blanchard, of Happy Valley, sold his registered Guernsey bull for $500 for shipment to England. Don't you think it would pay to have more registered stock?

GILBERT-BELLROSE

NEIGHBORS

By J. L. Johnson

There is always an E. Gale here, But no one is Hurle'd around; And the Sloper walks straight; that's queer, Though 77, he is well and sound.

You can't catch a Trout here by day For they're busy down town at work, Like Haygarth and Steigers, but say, This is no place for loungers or shirks.

Now think how you'd catch a Swede When Johnson is Irish clear thru; Like Reidy, McHoney—agreed Are "Melican" Irish true blue.

Then the Bush farm is not gone to seed, But do not Easlip easy on that. VanBlaricom's now are not tressed, But Calkins is just standing pat.

There is Gates you cannot get thru, And Barricks you can not live in; While Updike is dry as a flue— Oh, think what a Furey we're in.

Our old friend Lenox is sick; We all hope he soon will be well. Little Bates girl is not span or spick —We're so sorry for both we can't tell.

The Byers family, on Gilbert Road, has been entertaining the "flu" this week.

The Dahl family is recovering from a very bad attack of influenza. The nurse is still attending them.

Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Douglas received word that their two sons, Virgil, of Starr, Idaho, and Claude, of Boise, Idaho, have been very low with influenza, but are improving. Mr. and Mrs. Douglas' oldest son, Harry, died about two months ago of the same malady.

LARGE SUM RAISED AT LENTS CHURCH FOR THE ARMENIANS

Evangelical Sunday School Succeeded in Their Efforts on Behalf of Destitute War Orphans.

The drive at the Lents Evangelical church last Sunday for the relief of the Armenian and Bible land sufferers was a complete success.

H. R. Scheuerman, the superintendent, kept the matter in a live manner before the Sunday school, making strong appeals for good contributions. This was seconded by the pastor, Rev. N. Shupp, from the pulpit and otherwise. All joined in the movement as one heart. Rev. J. J. Handsaker, district superintendent of Oregon, Idaho and Washington, gave a stirring address on the subject, making strong appeals for the relief of the starving children. The beginners and primary schools were assembled with the main school in the church auditorium. The school enmasse, with their individual offerings in envelopes, came to the altar and laid their offerings upon the communion table and received their buttons. This was indeed a rare sight. It seemed that one could hear the angelic song, "Glory to God in the Highest, Peace on Earth, Good Will to Man."

Three signed adoption cards at $5 a month for one year, to take care of an orphan child. The offering, with a few dollars yet to follow, exceeds $250. Thank God.

Rev. T. T. Handsaker then preached a stirring sermon on the same subject, after which the pastor dedicated the new communion set to the service of the gospel ministry and communion of saints. This was followed by the communion of the Lord's supper.

FRIENDS CHURCH NOTES

Six of the main families of the church have been quarantined with influenza, consequently the attendance was smaller than usual. Interesting sessions were held, however, the pastor preaching with the same earnestness and zeal she always manifests whether the audience is great or small.

The theme of the morning message was "The Hope of the Church," and was an exhortation to zeal and devotion and determination on the part of the church in spite of obstacles in whatever service we may be engaged.

The church was specially urged to do its part in making the coming ministerial conference of Oregon yearly meeting a success in every sense of the word.

The C. E.'s are conducting a mission study class during the Sunday evening prayer meeting hour. The book used is called "Ancient People at New Tasks."

Last Sunday evening the lesson was given in the form of a debate. The subject was "Resolved, that civilization has done more harm than good to South Africa." Although no votes were appointed we believe the judge of the class would have been for the negative. Certainly their sympathies went that way.

Next Sunday the topic will be "Preachers of the Flow." Sounds interesting, doesn't it?

The regular monthly business session and social of the Endeavor was held at the pastor's home. An enjoyable evening was spent. Emil Swanson was present for the first time since leaving for camp some five months ago. His presence was much appreciated, especially as he may not meet with us again for a year or more, expecting soon to start for France to engage in reconstruction work under the church.

The social part of the evening was in charge of Dorris Mann, the social chairman not being able to be present.

JAMES KNEW IT WAS COMING

So, Contrary to All Precedent, He Pleaded With His Mother to Administer the "Dose."

James, his mother called him, but he preferred the name of Jimmie, by which the neighborhood knew him. He also preferred rough-and-tumble clothes to starched clean apparel—the movies to Sunday school—and almost anything to grade school, although he had given it only a few weeks' trial, the Kansas City Star says.

While his father is overseas with a government permit to hunt the Hun, the mother adds to the family income by working in an office close to home. James had made it a custom to meet his mother at the closing hour and accompany her home.

Early one morning James started for school dressed in a clean new suit. That evening an almost unrecognizable six-year-old youngster awaited his mother at the office. Immediately upon her appearance he stepped forth with the explanation, forestalling anything that might be said or done on her part. "I didn't go to school. I went riding with the coal man. I expect you're going to whip me." Placing a smudgy hand upon his mother's arm, he continued: "Come on, let's hurry home and get it over with."

PROBLEM FOR ART EXPERTS

How to Save Masterpieces of Painting Is Matter Which Puzzles Authorities in Italy.

A heating apparatus powerful enough to force heat through a pile of sandbags 12 feet thick and to dry without scorching the wall behind is needed to preserve one of the world's masterpieces, "The Last Supper," of Leonardo da Vinci, which is painted on the wall of the Church of Santa Maria delle Grazie at Milan, Italy. The dampness which accumulates in the sand necessary as a protection from air raids is fast fading the colors of the picture, already damaged by time. The restoration necessary for Leonardo's picture is unsuited to the frescoes of Luini and other masters painted on the same wall. How to give each set of masterpieces the treatment required is the problem. So far the experts of the Italian ministry of the arts have been unable to find a solution.

Hereditary Hay Fever.

Dr. W. Scheppgrell, president of the American Hay Fever Prevention association, has recently made an analysis of 415 cases treated in the hay fever clinic of the Charity hospital at New Orleans and elsewhere in that city in order to determine the influence of heredity on this disease. He finds that in more than one-third of the cases the patients had a father, mother, brother or sister who was a victim of the disease. Probably the influence of heredity is even greater than indicated by these figures, as specific susceptibility may exist indefinitely without developing hay fever, by reason of insufficient exposure to the pollens that cause the malady. The question of the development of a natural immunity from continued exposure to the specific pollens is, says Doctor Scheppgrell, a difficult one to settle, on account of the difficulty of eliminating the question of decreased exposure.—Scientific American.

Japan Larger Than Germany.

In the World's Work there is a chart which shows a comparison of Germany and the Japanese empire. Japan is the greater of the two both in territory and population. Germany's area (exclusive of colonies) is 208,780 square miles, while that of Japanese empire is 260,786 square miles. This includes the peninsula of Korea, which is a part of the Japanese nation, but it does not include Manchuria and other Asiatic territory in which Japan has secured ninety-nine-year leases of ports and railroads as well as business advantages of all sorts and mining rights. Germany's population at the beginning of the great war was about 67,000,000. There are now 71,000,000 people living under the Japanese flag, and there are also great numbers of them scattered over the islands of the Pacific and in foreign countries.

YOU may have noticed that optometrists talk more about "EYES" and "EYESIGHT" and "SERVICE" than they do about glasses.

This because optometrists have something more important than glasses to talk about.

Any optical place is supposed to have eyeglasses and not carpets or furniture.

Optometrists naturally attach more importance to what you want when your eyes trouble you—which is comfort and satisfaction and quality and service.

That's what you get from competent optometrists. Glasses are the tools, and the frames and the mountings, the mechanical contrivances, which properly and scientifically handled, bring comfort and satisfaction.
