A most enjoyable evening was spent by those present, the fine birthday dinner being especially enjoyed. The after part of the evening was spent in playing cards and other games. One of the players confesses that he cheated shamefully while the ladies were discussing "hats," but inasmuch as he was not caught at it his conscience does not bother him. Those present included Mr. Geisler's father and mother, his brother, Fred, and family, Mr. and Mrs. Guy Robinson, Miss Adena Morterud and C. W. Smith.

ROSCOE WILLIAMS VISITS PARENTS ON FURLOUGH

Two Brothers Gassed at Fismes in the Second Battle of the Marne.

Roscoe Williams visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. D. Williams, of 5025 Eighty-second street, Sunday and Monday of this week on a furlough from Camp Lewis. He returned to Camp Lewis Monday evening and expects his discharge within a month.

Mr. Williams has been convalescing from the effects of gas poisoning, having been a victim of gas on two occasions, the first time at Fismes during the second battle of the Marne, and the second time at Soissons. His brother, Leslie Williams, was also gassed at Fismes and is now at the military hospital at Des Moines, Iowa. Both boys were members of the 128th infantry, 32nd division.

Roscoe Williams says that at Fismes enemy airplanes appeared over the town and gave the range to their artillery, which began a heavy bombardment. While the Yanks were hugging the ground a shell exploded near Leslie, covering him with dust and debris, and he was thought to have been killed. On going to look for him, however, he was found to be uninjured except from the effects of the gas.

Mr. Williams was sent to Biltmore, N. C., on reaching America, and arrived at Camp Lewis a week ago to be mustered out.

Richardson Home.

C. L. Richardson, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Richardson, of 5817 Eighty-eighth street, has received his discharge and is home, having been mustered out at Camp Lewis. He was a member of the 27th coast artillery, receiving part of his training at Benson and part at Fort Stevens. From there the battery was sent to Camp Eustis, Va., where they were located when the armistice was signed.

John Howe is able to be out now after his severe seige with pneumonia.

COUNTY ROAD CREW IS REPAIRING GILBERT RD.

New Macadam Surface Will Put This Thoroughfare in Good Shape.

A gang of road workers employed by Multnomah county is engaged in resurfacing the Gilbert road (Fifty-fifth avenue) from Ninety-second street to Puckley avenue. The work is about 90 per cent completed.

The road was macadamized about seven years ago and for the past year or two has been in bad condition; motorists going around whenever possible, rather than drive over it. It will again be in first-class condition after a few days.

The old roadbed was "spiked" up, the holes filled with rock, then a covering of crushed rock put down and rolled, and finished with a binder of dirt. The crew is using a Holt caterpillar tractor and two steam rollers.

Corvallis Boy Visits Here.

Arthur Bowersox, of Corvallis, visited a few days last week with his aunt, Mrs. I. E. Allen, of 9112 Fifty-sixth avenue. Mr. Bowersox has been in the navy the past year, enlisting before his eighteenth birthday, and has been cruising on the battleship South Dakota. He has received his discharge and was en route home. Mrs. Allen has two other nephews in the service, one in the marines and one in the artillery, the latter having been on the battle front for several months, but came through without a scratch.

Sorenson Files Demurrer

N. P. Sorenson, who is under indictment for involuntary manslaughter in connection with the death of Mrs. Mina Smith, of Lents, appeared in court last Monday morning and filed a demurrer. The demurrer states that the facts set forth in the indictment do not constitute a crime.

B. F. Miller, of 5212 Eighty-eighth street, entertained his brother and family last Sunday.

CHURCH APPOINTS LARGE RECEPTION COMMITTEE

The Lents Evangelical church appointed a committee of 15 representing the church society, the Sunday school and the Y. P. A. as a reception committee to welcome and receive the soldier boys returning from the front in France, and homeland camps. This committee is to co-operate with the city general reception committee, with a local reception committee of the Lents community and a church welcome reception. Forty-nine young men who had been connected with the church, Sunday school and Young People's Alliance, went into the service. This church has a warm place for the returning boys. She appreciates the fact that the soldier boys have laid their lives upon the nation's altar to be sacrificed if fate should so determine. In this they not only stood for the defense of this great nation; her gospel democratic principles; the propagations of the same in the nations of the earth, but that they stood between the church and country and her enemies, fighting her battles and defending her personal interests. She believes that too much can not be done for the boys returning. The soldier boys have the church's warmest, deepest sympathies, profound respect, and pledge to aid in any way possible. Two of the boys are not so fortunate as to be among the returning boys. They have paid the highest price and deserve the first place in the honor roll of the church. DeWolf and Wm. Knecht. For these the church has expressed her profound respect and her deepest sympathies in holding special memorial services.

Mrs. Etta Larson, of Lents, returned Friday night from San Francisco with the ashes of her daughter, Jessie G. Mallory, who died of pneumonia January 11. The remains were cremated at San Francisco and placed in the Sellwood crematorium. No services were held here.

FRUIT GROWERS BUY TRACT OF 116 ACRES

Lents Men Interested in one of Largest Real Estate Deals Closed in this County.

S. A. Douglas, who has lived a mile and a quarter east of Lents on the Gilbert road the past 10 years, has bought 116 acres of the Sun Dial ranch, on the Columbia Highway, near Fairview. C. M. La Follette, the founder of the loganberry industry in Oregon, is associated with Mr. Douglas in the purchase. This is one of the largest ranch sales recorded in this county for some time, $49,000 being paid for the land.

The ranch fronts on the Columbia Highway and the southwest corner of the place is just across the road from Fairview.

Both Mr. Douglas and Mr. La Follette have had extensive experience in fruit growing and will this spring begin setting the acreage to small fruit and trees. About 55 acres will be planted to peaches, apples, cherries and English walnuts this year and next spring 50 acres of loganberries will be planted. The apples will be mostly of the Delicious variety and the cherries Royal Anns and Lamberts.

Vegetables will be grown between the tree rows for two or three years. The owners expect to plant a large acreage to muskmelons.

The proprietors of the Sun Dial ranch also announce they will plant several hundred acres of loganberries within two or three years and that a cannery will be established to take care of the fruit.

Mr. Douglas' home place on Gilbert road, which was one of the finest and best cared-for berry farms in Multnomah county, was acquired by the Sun Dial ranch in the deal and will be either sold or rented. Mr. Douglas will move out to the new place some time the first of next month and will have active charge of the enterprise.
