MRS. BLOYD RECEIVES REPORT OF SON'S DEATH

Brother of H. E. Boyd, of the Multnomah State Bank, Killed in Action.

The following letter received by Mrs. Flora E. Boyd, of Kelso, Wash., from a Red Cross worker, is the first authentic information received in regard to the death of Sergeant Harry B. Boyd, brother of H. E. Boyd, of the Multnomah State Bank, who was killed in action in France.

My Dear Mrs. Boyd:
We have just received a report about the death of Sergeant Harry B. Boyd, Co. C, 5th F Signal Bn., who was killed in action July 15.

Private Ralph O. Gebhart, of the same company, says:

"Harry was killed up in Argonne Forest about the middle of July. I saw it when it happened. He and Master Signal Electrician Terry were both hit by the same shell, and died instantly. The boys from company B carried him back. I buried him myself up near Madelon Farm. It was an old German cantonment. I wrapped him in a blanket and laid him away right beside Terry. We were under heavy shell fire every minute of the time. We were attacking but the Boches were offering us pretty stiff resistance."

We are told that Private Gebhart seemed to be an exceptionally intelligent young fellow and we believe you can rely upon his statement. His home address is 209 Wellemer avenue, Dayton, Ohio.

The Red Cross is glad to be of service to you and if we get any further details we will let you know.
