

ARLETA LIBRARIAN OUTLINES READINGS

Miss Wil Hutchinson of the Arleta branch library has outlined some interesting reading, which may be had from the library bookshelves, as follows: "Your National Parks," by Enos A. Mills. This is the complete and authoritative book on American national parks which tourists and nature lovers have long been waiting for. It comes with special appropriateness from Mr. Mills, who has devoted so large a share of his time and energy to the cause of extending, improving and popularizing these playgrounds of the people, and who knows as no other living man their beauties as well as their history.

"The Assurance of Immortality," by Harry Emerson Fosdick. This book will be welcomed by those who are asking the question and who need to be shown how much it means to the world to have a belief that this life is but a part of a vast forever.—Boston Transcript.

"Pieces of Eight," by Richard Le Gallienne. A modern tale of buried treasure in the West Indies—of brave men and perils encountered in glamorous quest for doubloons, in moonlit caverns of the tropic sea.

"The Man Who Lost Himself," by H. De Vere Stacpole. For originality, whimsicality and sheer bubbling humor, this novel has no equal even among Mr. Stacpole's previous entertaining books.

The special meetings at the Friends church are increasing in number and interest. The children's meetings at 4 o'clock on Wednesday and Friday are proving a blessing.

MRS. T. C. CONNELL IS GIVEN SURPRISE

Thursday, September 25 a number of Mrs. T. C. Connell's friends gave her a very pleasant surprise, the occasion being a welcome home. Mrs. Connell has been in Curry Co. on a homestead for the past three years, and came home a short time ago after proving up on it. The guests carried well filled baskets and served lunch at 1 o'clock. Those present were, Mesdames Foster, Sweet, York, Sager, Droste, Hanken, Gesell Hess, C. P. McGrew, and F. O. McGrew and Messers Foster and Sweet.
