The Trigon Oil company, recently organized to drill for oil in the Rogue river valley, has received a drilling outfit and will start operations in a few days. The company has made an exhaustive survey of the territory on the east side of Bear creek, near Ashland.

The clerks of the several national forests in this state ended a two days' meeting at Eugene with the adoption of resolutions asking that they be granted an advance in salary and that they be designated hereafter deputy supervisors or administrative assistants instead of clerks.

Sensational allegations to the effect that the fish and game commission acquired the Reddish farm in Lane county to pay a political debt incurred during the last legislature are contained in a suit instituted in the circuit court at Salem against the commission by H. A. Holmes.

Senator Huston's bill providing for the establishment of a court of domestic relations in each county of the state which now has or shall hereafter attain a population of 200,000 inhabitants or more, and prescribing jurisdiction, duties and powers of such court, passed the legislature.

By an overwhelming vote the people of Astoria at a special election adopted two amendments to the city charter. One creates a civic center commission and authorizes expenditure of $250,000 in establishing playgrounds and a civic center and the erection of an auditorium. The other amendment authorizes a $500,000 bond issue to carry out reclamation work along the city water front.

The Ashland Fruit and Produce association, a co-operative marketing association of which most of the growers of Ashland and vicinity are members, has closed by far the most successful year in its history. D. F. Fisher, government plant pathologist at Wenatchee, Wash., has been directed by the secretary of agriculture to make an investigation of the frozen orchards in the Willamette valley and ascertain if there is not a possibility of saving many trees. A request for the investigation was made by Senator McNary, who has been informed of serious damage to the walnut and prune orchards around Salem by reason of the December cold spell.

Announcement was made at Portland by W. K. Newell, federal food administrator for Oregon, that the price of 18 cents per pound, retail, for cane sugar will be permitted at this time, owing to the prevailing high rate wholesale. Mr. Newell also made public a decision of himself and of United States District Attorney Humphreys that dealers will not be allowed to compel patrons to accept at the higher figure cane sugar of a certain quantity in order to obtain beet sugar at the 13-cent rate.

The rabbit poisoning campaign in the west end of Umatilla county under the direction of the county agricultural agent, Fred Benton, has proved a big success. Colonel J. F. McNaught, county farm bureau project leader, secured the cooperation of 106 ranchers who prepared six tons of alfalfa poisoned with strychnine and scattered it over the snow over a front of nearly 100 miles, to protect 20,000 acres of cultivated land. Counts were made on six representative lots of poison totaling 90 pounds and 1237 dead rabbits were found. Using this as a basis it is safe to say that at least 200,000 rabbits were exterminated in this campaign.
