Arleta Baptist Church.
S. J. Reid, evangelist of the Oregon Baptist state convention, will preach at both services Sunday, and each night of the week at 7:45. Dr. Reid is an interesting speaker and a unique personality. He preaches a simple yet powerful gospel in a winning manner. The pastor of the church, who has had wide experience in singing evangelism, is leading the song services. The great hymns of the church are rediscovered in these praise services. Everybody is invited to hear and participate in these services.

The enlistment campaign in progress at the Arleta Baptist church is meeting with unusual interest and appreciation. The ministers of the city who have spoken this week have found fine congregations awaiting them, and their messages have not been unfruitful. The services have been short and snappy, but every service has accumulated in interest and inspiration. Dr. Reid will find an enthusiastic people next week as he begins a weeks campaign.

Last Sunday was a day of special interest to the church Mrs. Kludas came as announced and told the story of her life and call to the mission field to an interested audience and a well filled house. She won the hearts of her hearers with her simple manner and unaffected story and at the close of the service when the missionary offering was taken, half of it was given to Mrs. Kludas to help buy her outfit for Japan, where she expects to work in the future, expecting to sail in May. The Misses Hudson's Indian girls from Alaska sang a duet, "If it had not been for Jesus I'd not be here today." in a way that touched the congregation. Mrs. Kludas and the Misses Hudsons are all from the North Pacific Evangelistic Institute of Portland. Peter Miller, also a student from the same school and a converted Russian gave an interesting talk at the C. E. meeting.

Baptist Church Notes.
Dr. J. S. Reid state evangelist for the Baptist church is preaching this week at the Lents Baptist church with all his old-time wit, tenderness and power. The interest and attendance is splendid. Sunday morning will be his last service for this time. He will speak next Sunday to the Sunday School.
Baptismal service Sunday evening.
The pastor will preach Sunday night on "The Supreme Moment." There are many friends who through their singing are adding to the tenderness of the meetings.
