LEWIS IS CANDIDATE FOR STATE SENATOR

D. C. Lewis, who served in the 1915, 1917 and 1919 sessions of the legislature, has announced his candidacy for state senator.

Mr. Lewis favors legislation that will aid in bringing the nation and state back to its normal condition; will aid in lowering the cost of living and in promoting our industries and commerce. He wants to make Portland the biggest and best port on the Pacific coast, because Portland is the logical point of distribution. He believes that our schools should be the best and instructed by the ablest teachers; that disloyalty to our nation should be wiped out and must not find a resting place to sow the seeds of discontent; that in the expenditure of public moneys there should be conservative economy practiced in every department of the state.

Legislation in favor of the few and against the many should not be tolerated and that all laws that are detrimental to the public interests and of doubtful expediency be repealed at once.

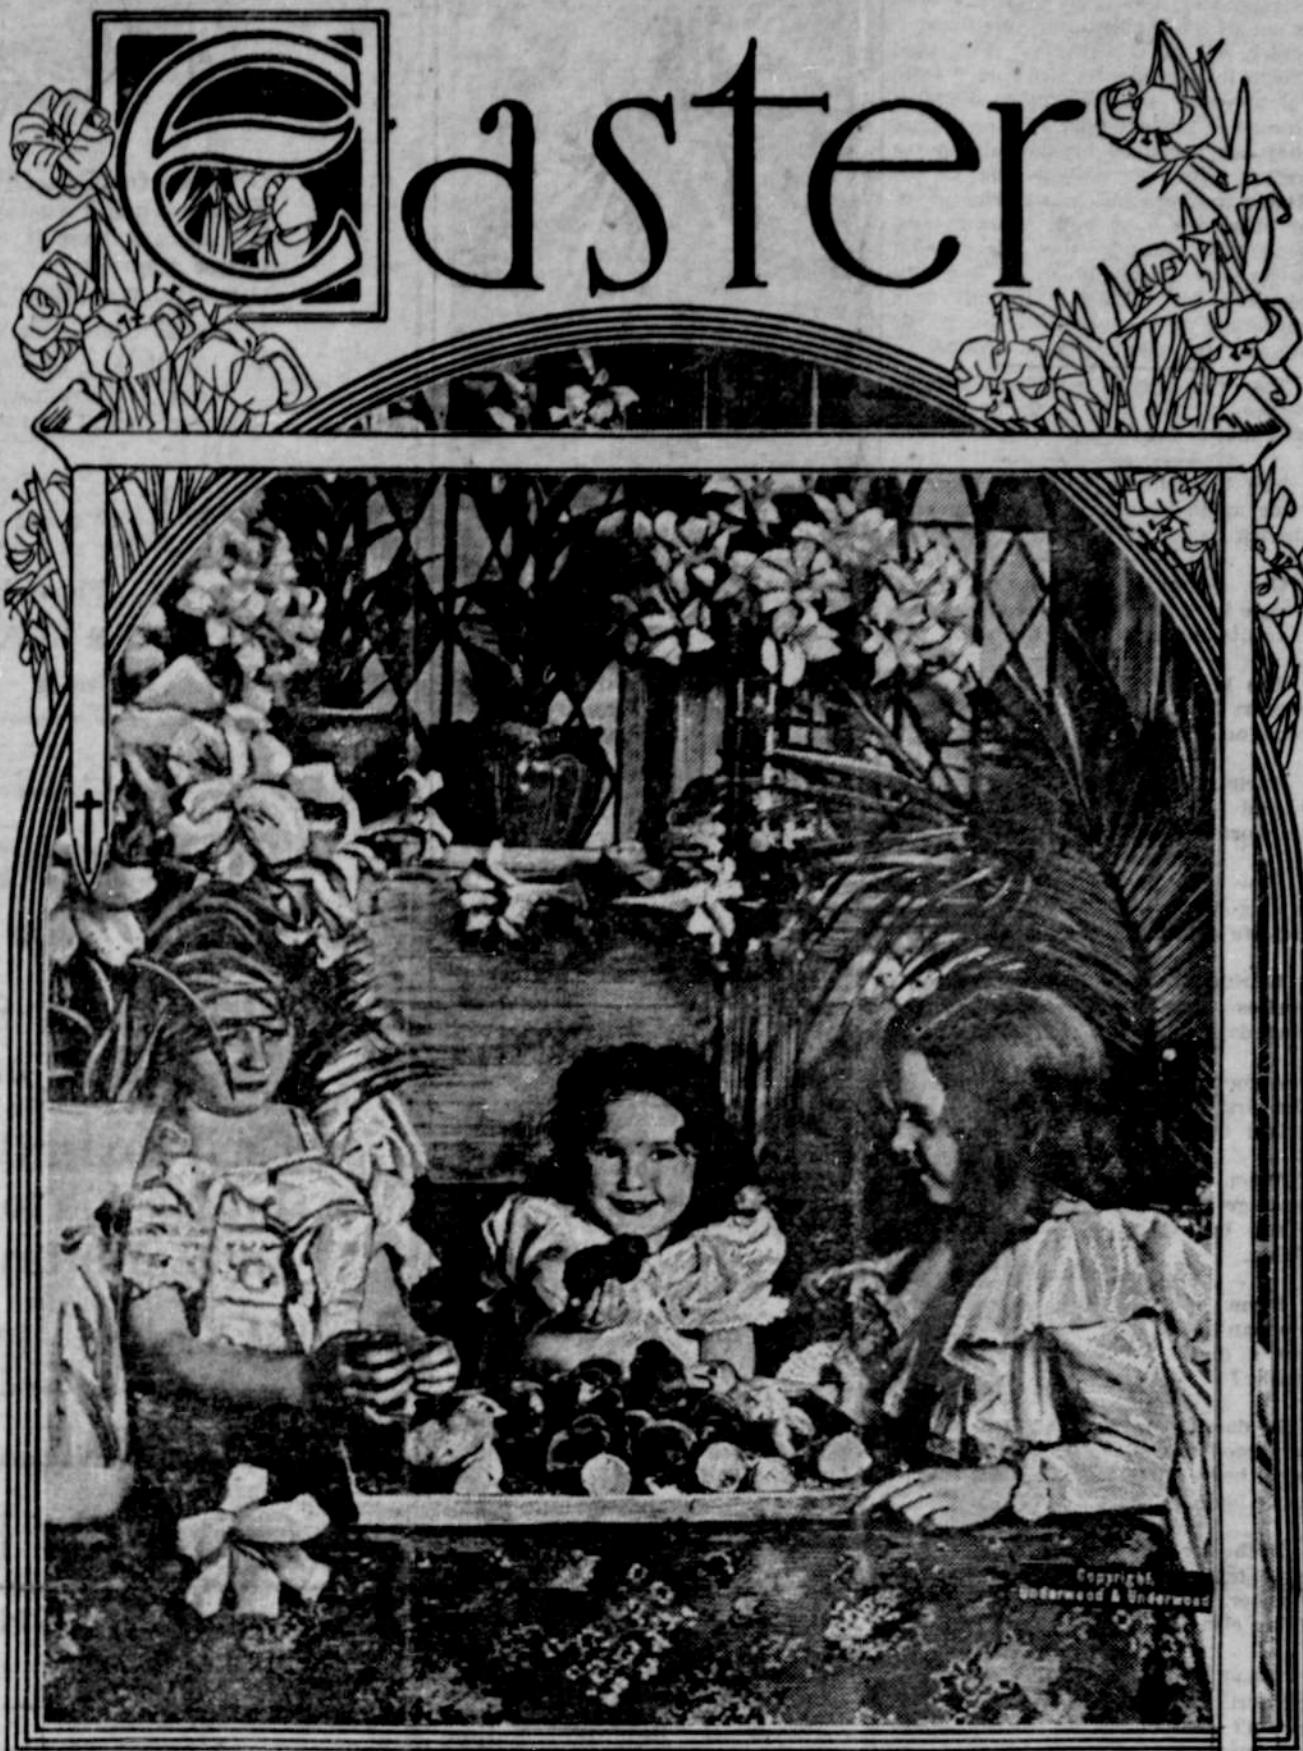

In a nutshell, he believes in doing what's right and fair to his fellow man and to improve conditions as they exist.

NEW LATH MILL NOW RUNNING TWO SHIFTS

A new enterprise, a lath mill, has recently begun operating at Kern Park in the P. R. L. & P. company buildings back of the old gravel pit. A day and night shift is employed with about 10 men on each shift. The mill has a capacity for using up two carloads of material daily and at the rate it is now running it will soon be shipping lath by the carload. A spur track gives the plant an outlet to the main line of the P. R. L. & P. company. The men work nine hours a day except on Saturday, when the shift is only three hours. The men in charge are Messrs. Conn and Howard.

Tuesday of this week friends of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Townsend, of Buckley avenue, between Gilbert and Powell Valley roads, surprised the worthy couple by a unique celebration in honor of their fiftieth wedding anniversary. To Mrs. Townsend they presented a purse converted into a twenty-dollar goldpiece and an Easter lily. Mrs. Crowe made the presentation on behalf of the friends. Mountain View Rebekah Lodge members recently gathered at the home of Mr. Ormsdorf, of 77th street and 58th avenue, for a farewell party to Mrs. Wilton, Mrs. Ormsdorf's sister, as she is going to San Pedro, Cal., where Mr. Wilton is employed and where they expect to make their home. Mountain View lodge is losing a good and faithful member who was ever ready to do good for the order. The friends all wish them good luck, health and happiness in their new home. Last Monday afternoon Mrs. Geo. Reynolds, of 4904 64th street, entertained in honor of her mother-in-law, Mrs. M. L. Reynolds, of Ponca, Neb., with an afternoon surprise to which several ladies of the neighborhood were invited. Mrs. Reynolds Sr. has been visiting in the home of her son for several months, she not having previously seen him for 20 years. Mrs. Reynolds left Wednesday for her home by way of Indianola and Omaha, in each of which places she will visit. Those present at the very delightful affair were Mesdames N. E. Chambliss, M. A. Loehr, L. H. Whitman, D. L. Leavens, D. C. Leavens, M. A. Richardson, Fred W. Brown, H. S. Conn, Geo. Beckhart, G. W. Foote, Sarah Cauthorn and George Reynolds.

LADIES OF G. A. R. ENJOY FINE BIRTHDAY DINNER

On Monday Winslow Mead Circle, Ladies of G. A. R., gave a birthday dinner to 21 of their members, the oldest one being 82 years old. Each one who had had a birthday in January, February or March was entertained and fined one cent for each year of her age. The dining created quite a lot of amusement as well as netted a nice bit for the circle.

The tables were beautifully decorated and the cakes were lovely, one very large birthday cake especially made for the occasion being crowned with candles, which gave to the table a beautiful appearance. The bouquets were also most beautiful. There were a hundred served at dinner. After some time spent in social diversion, Mrs. Benson gave a few selections on the piano.

Kenworthy Lowest Bidder

The A. D. Kenworthy Undertaking company was lowest bidder for the burial of unclaimed bodies at the county farm, at the county hospital and the morgue, their bid being one-half cent for each body. The next lowest bidder was F. S. Dunning, Inc., who bid one cent for each body. The real profit in the business for the undertakers is said to be in the fact that most of the bodies are claimed by relatives, and the usual funeral charges are then made.

On Wednesday afternoon, March 24, a short business meeting and a social tea was held at the residence of Mrs. H. L. Fishburn, 4715 71st street, under the auspices of the Loyal Workers of the Kern Park Christian church.

Woodard Tells Lents P.-T. A. Objects of Community Service

At the last meeting of the Lents P.-T.A., a most interesting talk on community service by Wm. F. Woodard of Woodard, Clarke and company was given.

The general purpose and plans of community service as presented by Mr. Woodard, president of the Portland Community Service Bureau, include the following ideas:

Community service is the outgrowth of war camp community service which through the war cared for the social life of thousands of our soldier and sailor boys in and about the cities near the camps. At the close of the war it became evident that the work which had been so well done might properly be continued and bear the same relation to the young men and women in civil life that it had borne to the soldiers and sailors. It is the belief of the community service workers that the army of young men and women in the city away from the influences of home are just as much in need of community service as those who have worn the uniform. It is to these people, forming so large a part of our cities, who will become the eventual makers of our cities, that the community service bureau will direct its energies.

It seeks to give to each of these young men and women that proper sense of civic and social relationships and of the proper place of recreational activities.

The plans include instruction in athletics, dramatics, hiking, singing, song leadership, play leadership, and the use of any worthy agency already in existence through lack of acquaintance with which they fail to enter into.

Parents and citizens are asked to help so that the stranger within our gates will be made to feel that there is a city-wide yet personal interest in him.

The work is now being carried on by a small class of regular workers, aided by a large class of volunteers. Drill classes for women are held every evening except Sunday and Monday evenings.

Social affairs, held in the heart of the city and in the suburbs, are presided over by voluntary workers, men and women, citizens of Portland, aided by the young men and women themselves. The Community Service Bureau, which has its office at 436 Northwestern Bank Bldg., telephone Main 649, is open at all hours of the day to those who wish song leaders or organizers. It is ready to extend to any factory or industrial plant, however small, whatever aid it can give in making the leisure hours of the workers more helpful and happy. Mr. Woodard desires that in Lents there may be arrangements made for a local committee which will co-operate with the central committee. As president of the social service committee he realizes how large is the field and how great is the need; and he asserts that the door of opportunity is open to every man or woman who desires to make this a more attractive and socially safe Portland.

J. L. JOHNSON WRITES FROM DENVER HOME

The following letter was received this week from Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Johnson, former well-known residents of the Gilbert-Bellrose neighborhood: Denver, Colo., March 23, 1920. Mt. Scott Herald:

Just one week ago we started for the trip to our old home, and parted from the friends we loved so well, who came with us to the depot. If we tried we could not tell what their love will mean to us for years to come. It represents the church back there, the club, yes, and the Grange, and friends that we have loved for many years. We are so glad we landed safely across the Rocky range and we send back to them all our loving greeting.

Sincerely yours,
MR. AND MRS. J. L. JOHNSON.

Born, to Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Adamson, 5412 85th street, on March 29, an eight-pound girl. Mother and baby are doing nicely.

CITY CONSIDERING PAVING OF FOSTER

The matter of the Foster road paving from 82nd street west is still in abeyance, the last move being that of the city council in passing official resolutions asking the city attorney to investigate the feasibility of the improvements and also asking the city engineer to prepare estimates. The question will come up again some time this month for the second reading before the council. This is the first time in all the negotiations for these improvements that the council has taken any definite official action.

The local promoters of the plans are hoping that the county will see its way to put up $80,000 instead of the $42,000 previously understood as the county's contribution to the work.

WAGSTAFF RESIDENCE SOLD TO HALLDORSON

Mrs. C. W. Wagstaff, of 7732 Woodstock avenue, has sold a strip of ground 50x200 feet, including the house and extending through from Woodstock to 61st avenue. The new owner is J. L. Halldorson, a former North Dakota man, who has been in Portland about two years, and who is connected with the Owl Drug Store. For years the Wagstaff place has been one of the most attractive of the Woodmere residences on account of the spacious grounds and the beauty of the wildwood setting. Mrs. Wagstaff will take up a temporary residence at 74th and Woodstock avenue.

LAYING OF SIDEWALKS PROGRESSING RAPIDLY

Curbing and sidewalks have been laid from Firland on 72nd street to Millard Avenue, omitting one little stretch by the fuel company's buildings on account of the need for removing the P. R. L. and P. switch there. This will be attended to later. The corner by Burke's garage and that by the Millard Avenue Pharmacy have been curbed and definitely aligned. The sidewalk on 72nd street in front of the Crum and Raebuck building had been made under instructions from a former engineer but since the measurements did not correspond with those of the present surveying corps the sidewalk was cut narrower and the curb reset, all of which correction error costs the tax payers just so much more. From the Crum and Raebuck building on the South, ground has been cut down where had been a rock and dirt walk and the planks and cement walks have been destroyed as far as 57th avenue. Last Saturday afternoon the grades shifted the surplus gravel from 72nd street to 57th avenue, laying the foundation for a better roadway there.

WORK TO COMMENCE ON NEW FIRE HOUSE

A part of the material is on the ground for the new fire house to ground for the new fire house to be built on 58th avenue alongside Katzky's warehouse. The building will be of sheet iron construction and will be built by firemen from the city department.

Mrs. C. O. Wainscott, of Hermiston, is visiting at the home of her sister, Mrs. H. T. Blakeslee, of 7521 59th avenue. Mrs. Wainscott arrived Monday of last week and will return home the end of this week unless joined here by her husband, Wm. Wainscott, in which event they will remain over the week-end.

Mrs. Miller, of east of town, who fell and broke her hip some time ago, is in a very critical condition, little hopes of her recovery being entertained.
