PUBLISHERS NOTICE

Owing to the H. C. L. and particularly the increase of cost of everything necessary for the publication of a newspaper, we are compelled to insist that subscriptions to the Mt. Scott Herald must, on and after August 10, be paid in advance. While the price is a very insignificant sum to the individual, it means a hardship to the publisher to carry delinquents. While the majority of our subscribers readily respond at the expiration of the year, by investigation we find that there are just enough in arrears to embarrass our bank account if this system of doing business is continued. A prompt response to this gentle reminder will be truly appreciated.

TWENTY-SIXTH ANNIVERSARY Y. P. A. HOLDS MEETING

The report of delegates from the convention will be a special feature of next Sunday evening's service. All y uoneogpreuotu Y A service. All young people are invited to meet with us in all our meetings.

"Turkey in the Straw."

The editor Along Broadway was once present at a recital in a small New Jersey town, where a celebrated violinist was the principal performer. As we were waiting at the station, to go to New York, a station lounge sauntered up and, noticing the violin case under the artist's arm, said unto him: "Say, pardner, kin you play "Turkey in the straw?"

The violinists shrugged his shoulders.

"What did he say? asked the lo-music lover.

"He said 'No,'" I replied.

"Why, that gink told don't know nothin," was hee comment as he walked away in disgust.

Perhaps some day when the phonograph has raised our standards of real musical appreciation.

"Turkey in the Straw" will be almost a forgotten melody. But just now you will scarcely find a youngster who hasn't heard "Turkey in the Straw" and essayed it on the harmonica. It has never been rendered with more snap and sparkle than in an Edison Re-Creation by an old favorite, Billy Golden.

Beauty and a River.

There are a thousand things to remember and to say about the river, which seems to be of little use in the half-dozen miles I know best, after it has made itself of great consequence by serving to carry perhaps a dozen or 20 mills, of one kind and another. Between its dam it has a civilized and subjected look, but below the last falls, at the Landing, it apparently feels itself to be its own master, and serves in no public capacity except to carry a boat now and then. * * * I think its chief use is its beauty, and that has never been as widely appreciated as it ought to be.—S. O. Jewett

HARKEN TO THE SLOGAN

Recently the Mt. Scott Herald printed handsomely, in two colors, and distributed gratuitously to the various business houses of Lents and vicinity a placard suitable for hanging on the wall or placing in the window, containing the following:

I BUY AT HOME

Because—my interests are here.

Because—the community that is good enough for me to live in is good enough for me to buy in.

Because—every dollar spent at home stays at home and works for the benefit of the community.

Because—the man I buy from pays his part of the city and county taxes.

Because—the man I buy from helps support the school, my church, my lodge, my home.

Because—I believe in transacting business with my friends.

Because—the man I stand back of stands back of the goods he sells.

Because—I get what I pay for.
Because—I want to see the goods before I buy.

Because—I sell what I produce here at home.

Because—this is the place where I make my money and this is the place to spend it.

When doling the cards the writer naturally observed the response to his endeavors and is pleased to relate that, with one or two exceptions he was given a cordial greeting, and the slogan "I trade at home" hangs on the wall or is displayed in the windows of many of our various business establishments. If all will practice what this little placard preacheth, soon a desirable change for the better in business conditions in this locality is assured.

Apropos of the subject, at this time the publisher of this newspaper wishes to say a few words: Having recently purchased the Mt. Scott Herald and its splendid equipment and added thereto an up-to-date, first-class typesetting machine, representing as well as new faces of type and other printing material galore, a cash investment well up in the four figures, we believe we are entitled to the patronage of this community (not as an act of charity) but purely from a business viewpoint.

We shall endeavor to do business on business principles—minus the profiteering prices, and via, parenthesis conduct the Mt. Scott Herald in a manner that it may prove of material benefit, not only to its publisher but prove a prime factor in the business and social circles of Lents and country tributary thereto.

It is now up to the patrons of this paper, who are interested in this community to organize and patronize home industries to the last cent possible. Otherwise, prepare for Portland proper to swallow us up in the near future—body, boots and breeches.
