Motion-picture films now figure conspicuously in the present campaign. From being an amusement novelty the movies have rapidly increased in importance till now they have taken a prominent part in the life of the nation. There is scarcely any propaganda which does not seek their aid, and it is only a question of time when their educational possibilities will take them into the school room as an integral part of its equipment. The poet long ago, as poets do, discovered their value, although he did not know of their coming existence. In the pregnant lines: "Things seen are mightier than things heard."

The future of America hangs in the balance every day in every American schoolhouse. In the widespread discussion of better methods of promoting the more perfect understanding of American ideals by all the people, we recur constantly to the school-teacher. Here is a public servant whose work is essentially constructive. Pay the teachers a wage commensurate with their great responsibility to the nation.

Hungary wants to send profiteers to the lash. Of course, the sentimentalism of the age will reject such a suggestion, but if there could be a temporary revival of the old primitive way of dealing with apparently insuperable obstacles, Hungary's suggestion would put a stop to profiteering after the first practical application of the system.

A former Belgian officer at Spa gave a demonstration of "how to do it now." He recognized among the German representatives a man who had occupied his house during the war and promptly beat him up. He did not wait for any diplomatic negotiations about satisfaction, but took it on the spot.

WOMEN'S COLLEGE. The woman who has graduated from college, looking back to her four years of academic life with a non-sentimental eye, can generally find a good deal of specific fault with it. Here and there it failed; it was too bookish, perhaps, too cloistered, too detached from the real world. But, on the whole, whether gained at Smith or Holyoke or Bryn Mawr, it did prepare her for life. It taught her scientific method. It set her free of certain feminine inhibitions. It gave her something like an equal chance in the world of men. It gave her practical weapons with which to achieve economic independence, and, on the side of spirit and intellect, an entry into a world whose treasure is not to be measured in dollars and cents, says New Republic. That is why Smith and Barnard and Bryn Mawr and Holyoke, and Vassar and Wellesley and all the other women's colleges as well, each of which has an individual and special contribution to make, should be liberally endowed by the whole American community.

Portland has been rather quiescent in the general eruption of the nation, but it comes out into the spotlight with a woman bullfighter who has both courage and beauty. Any thing these days to attract attention.

The NEW EDISON "The Phonograph with a Soul"

Let us show you
How exquisite a phonograph cabinet can be

A CHRISTMAS gift to the family should be beautiful in every sense. See, at our store, the Edison Phonograph Cabinets.

Mr. Edison decided that his phonograph of supreme Realism should be housed in cabinets of supreme artistry.

The result is—that you may choose your Christmas Phonograph in any one of 17 Period Models. The New Edison designs are adapted from the furniture masterpieces of the 16th, 17th and 18th Centuries. Even the lowest priced New Edison is an authentic adaptation out of the Golden Age of Furniture.

Ask how to get your New Edison Christmas present now, on our Budget Plan. You will find the New Edison the best before-the-war value you can buy,—for an after-the-war dollar. The price of the New Edison has increased less than 15% since 1914. Part of this increase is War Tax.

We'll give you "Edison and Music," the book that makes it easy for you to choose your Christmas New Edison. Every New Edison is illustrated and fully described in it.
