der Jackson. "A Matrimonial Mix-up" on the Edison was an appropriate addition to the program. At the wedding supper the wedding cake, containing a ring, a thimble and a dime, was cut by the bride, who got the ring. A green snake decorated the top of the cake. Each guest brought a gift for the bride, which later were given as favors to the men.

The costumes were all fixed up and donned after the arrival of the company. Forty-five were present and all voted it an exceptionally fine evening. The committee in charge was composed of Mesdames R. D. Armstrong, Woodham, LeRoy, Steele and Stout.

Mr. and Mrs. Sanders Entertain
 Sunday Mr. and Mrs. Glen Sanders of 6212 90th street, Lents, entertained at dinner Mr. and Mrs. Ferris and son Russell of the San Francisco apartments and Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Sanders of Vancouver, Wash. There are advantages in all things and the advantage of the apartment house dweller was clearly appreciated by Mrs. Ferris when she went home laden with a gorgeous bouquet of daffodils and hyacinths, which grow out in such abundance.

Prices Write Interestingly
 A very interesting letter was received this week by Mrs. Glen Sanders of 6212 90th street from Mrs. Frank Price of 7132 1/2 55th avenue, who with Mr. Price is traveling all through the south. Mrs. Price says to tell her many friends that Portland is the only place in which to live. For those of us whom fate decrees that we remain in Portland instead of enjoying the pleasures of travel and comparison of other places to our Rose City, it is indeed gratifying to know that Portland usually wins out. We all know it is a grand place, but we would appreciate a chance to prove it. Mrs. Price wrote from Nogales, Arizona, which she says is a healthy place, but almost barren and unbearably dry. When she returns here, which will be some time in the late summer, she would have her home-coming celebration an affair of home cooking. Restaurant fare and especially as cooked in the small places they have passed through, certainly do not add the pleasure of the trip. Mrs. Price will leave about April 1 for her home in Pennsylvania and will return here in early fall. She also spoke of the ignorance, filth, disease and poverty which exists in that district in the south and never again would she hesitate one moment to contribute to home missionary work.

Library Notes
 At the Arleta library is a long list of new books, foremost among them being "The Skins Dale, Pioneer," by John Fox, Jr., believed to be the author of "Little Shepherd of Kingdom Come" and others, though this new book does not in any way resemble his previous writings. Another new arrival at the library and very interesting to old and young, especially those of high school age, is called "Creation," by Edwin Slosson. Next week the Herald will have more good books listed.

Jenkins Family Burned Out
 Five early Friday morning destroyed completely the home owned and occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Jenkins and family. They escaped with only their night clothes. For temporary shelter they are living in a tent house on 72nd street between 62nd and 63rd avenue. A little boy of seven years and two little girls of younger age compose the family, together with the parents. It was reported that friends in the neighborhood would club together and erect a temporary house on the premises. It was not learned how the fire started.

Theater Program
 A good list of attractions await the patrons of Arleta theater beginning Friday, March 25: Mary Miles Minter in "Sweet Lavender"; Rolin comedy, Paramount Magazine; Saturday, Charles Ray in "Paris Green"; two-reel comedy, "The Shuffle Queen"; Burton Holmes travelogue; Sunday, all-star cast in "The White Circle"; Mack Sennett comedy, "Don't Weaken"; Pathé News, Monday and Tuesday, Katherine McDonald in "Curtain"; episode 11, "Fighting Fate"; Wednesday, "Beautifully Trimmed," with Carmel Myers; two-reel comedy, "Uncle Sam's Caboose"; Screen Magazine, Thursday, Dorothy Gish in "Little Miss Rebellion"; episode 3, "Double Adventure"; Star comedy.

Building New Bungalow
 C. W. Wagstaff, 7420 Woodstock avenue, is building a fine looking bungalow on 61st avenue just east of 77th street. Mr. Wagstaff formerly owned the four lots on that corner, including the residence. About a year ago he sold the residence and one lot and the new house he is building will be a welcome addition to Woodmere.

Entertain Workers Conference
 Rev. and Mrs. Henry White of 7614 61st avenue entertained the workers' conference at their home on Wednesday evening, March 16. At the usual business meeting the following officers were elected: Theo. Zehring, secretary-treasurer of the Sunday school; Mrs. White, Bible class; Thelma Via, teacher junior girls; Aimee Hollingworth, Sunday school superintendent; Mrs. Wm. Ormandy, assistant organist; Mrs. Henry White, superintendent of cradle roll; Miss Mildred Moline, superintendent beginners department; Miss Ines Ford, superintendent primary department; Gladys Crum, primary organist; Wm. Worrell, superintendent junior department; Laurence Watts, superintendent of birthday registry; Mrs. W. L. Ormandy, Sunday school registrar. Mrs. White served delicious home made candy, following the business meeting. Those present were: Mesdames Odum, Zehring, Ormandy, Misses Hollingworth, Ford, Strang, and Messrs. White, Worrell, Watts, Theo. Zehring.

Choir practice under direction of Geo. Colvey every Thursday night at 7 o'clock. Prayer meeting at 8 o'clock.

There will be baptism and admission of new members at the morning service.

Siam Lecture
 Following is the program for the Siam lecture to be given at Millard avenue church, April 3, at 7:30 p. m. Prelude; hymn 137; invocation and Lord's prayer; responsive reading, selection 26; hymn 25; scripture; prayer; announcements; offering; solo, "Ninety and Nine," by Colvey; address, "Methods of Approach to the Siamese Heart and How Those Methods Succeeded"; hymn 302; benediction; postlude.

Mr. White has spent seventeen years in Siam and is familiar with the people, their language, habits, customs, religion and modes of life and thought. He will speak out of his rich experience as an itinerant evangelist, pastor of churches and head of the theological seminary. The lecture will be speeded with incidents of people, places and things.

Easter Program
 Mrs. Crum's class of boys and girls—the Swastika class—will contribute a pleasing number to the Easter program Sunday morning at Millard avenue church at 10 o'clock. A group of girls from Miss Aimee Hollingworth's and Miss Thelma Via's class will give a drill. A boys' chorus composed of boys from Mr. Worrell's and Mr. Dean's class, led by Mrs. W. L. Ormandy, will also be a pleasing number. Miss Strang's class of girls have a drill and song and of course the primary and beginners will be out in full force. Miss Helen Parrott, Miss Margaret Ormandy and little Esther Ormandy will recite. William Ormandy will sing a solo. The deacons are in charge. Mr. Sanders and Miss Aimee Hollingworth, which insures a beautiful church for Easter morning.

Miss Hartwell to Speak
 We who live in civilized lands are apt to think we are the only ones who have and enjoy modern and fully equipped educational systems. It comes as a surprise to many to know that in Foo Chow, China, is a modern system of education—kindergartens, grade schools, high schools and colleges. This work is made possible and carried on by the missionaries. A union kindergarten training school is being conducted in which Chinese women are being made kindergarten teachers. Miss Hartwell, whose father began work in Foo Chow seventy years ago and who was herself born there 37 years ago, can tell wonderful and interesting things about the fascinating subject, China. She will speak on Chinese costume Sunday evening at the Laurelwood Congregational church.

Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Volts of the Woodmere store, corner 77th street and 60th avenue, are enjoying a visit from Master Ernest Erville Allen, their first grandchild, who, with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Allen, are visiting from Enterprise, Oregon. Ernest expects to remain with his relatives here about two weeks longer.

The stork has brought new arrivals recently, the following parents being made happy by the bird's visit: Mr. and Mrs. Glen Duer, 7411 54th avenue, on March 3, had a girl arrive at their home.

Mr. and Mrs. Brinkman, 5112 72nd street, welcomed a girl on March 17. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gleier, 5705 72nd street, welcomed the arrival of a nine-pound girl on Friday, March 18. Dr. Hess officiated at this party and Dr. W. T. Stout helped the stork in the other two instances.

Creston parent-teachers gave a very successful dance in the assembly hall of the school March 19. So enjoyable was it that they will give another one on the night of April 2. The committee was as follows: Mesdames Wood, Seston, Douthit, Stambaugh.

"SAFETY FIRST" COUNCIL MEETS
 "Always Be Careful." This is the motto adopted by the National Safety Council and by the Junior Safety Council. The latter will be a permanent part of the organization in the Portland schools. Its purpose is to teach children the methods of preventing accidents of all kinds. To do this a system has been devised whereby a safety council of from one to three pupils from each grade above the third is formed. These committees meet at different times with the heads of the organization in Portland. They are instructed in ways and means of accident prevention and are expected to pass it on to others.

At last month's meeting, held in Washington high school, Prof. H. H. Herdman spoke to them and among the many things he said were:

There are two kinds of accidents—two groups, as it were—the industrial accidents, which includes sawmills, logging camps, factories, etc. These are taken care of by the workmen's compensation act.

Then there are public accidents, such as happen on the street, in the playground, in the home, etc. The city government is doing all in its power to prevent this kind, but it is in need of help. Mr. Herdman gave these figures, to impress upon their minds the vital necessity of carefulness. During the 19 months America was at war, 50,000 of our boys were killed, in round numbers. And war is a killing business—that is its business. Now, during those same 19 months, over here, in peaceful pursuits, 126,000 were killed. The wounded in war numbered 200,000—here, 2,000,000, men, women and children.

Last year 15,000 boys and girls lost their lives in accidents.

The instruction will take up the work in four groups: First month, traffic accidents; second month, home accidents; third month, fire accidents; fourth month, playground and vacation accidents.

Special emphasis was laid upon "jay-walking." Follow the rule; look first to the left, then to the right, when crossing a street; it will prevent many accidents. Woodlums, parked machines and street cars form blind corners and should be avoided.

Another good thing to remember, especially in this country of umbrellas, is to always hold your umbrella above your line of vision, particularly when crossing the street.

About 25 schools were represented at the first meeting. Arleta having six Lents three and Woodmere three delegates present. Arleta's junior safety first committee is as follows: Eighth grade—Donald Whittier, Raymond Kindorf, Elaine Stokes. Seventh grade—Ralph Elie James Fitzwater, Helen Parrott. Sixth grade—Clara Wilker, Daisy Miller, Harvey Hunt. Fifth grade—Harold Hildreth, Orville Steele, Carl Roland. Fourth grade—William Doht, Margaret Ormandy, Warren Fitch.

Arleta Personals
 Mrs. John Jahler, 5627 77th street, enjoyed the program given by the Whitney boys' chorus at the White Temple last week.

J. J. Handsaker, of the Near East relief, left Tuesday to visit his mother at Eugene. Mrs. Handsaker is 83 years old, and when the "grippe" attacks one of that age it is a serious matter. Mr. Handsaker hoped to get to her bedside before she passed away.

Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Clarke, who live on 54th avenue, near 72nd street, are selling their place and are moving next month to Oak Grove Beach, where Mr. Clarke has purchased a log cabin. They have a most delightful site, among other things of beauty and convenience being a 150-foot beach in front of their cottage.

Mr. and Mrs. Peterson of 7132 53rd avenue have rented their home and are moving into the country. Mr. Peterson has been out of employment for some time and thinks the country is the place to raise a family in the summer.

The patrons of the Arleta theater will be pleased to know that Mr. White's family are all very much improved and recovering rapidly from their recent illness.

Mr. White made a flying trip to Seattle Monday evening, returning Wednesday evening.

Mrs. J. McMillan Muir sang "The Palms Sunday morning at Millard avenue church. Mrs. Ethel Woods Lewellen accompanied her.

Mrs. Ella Orton of Lents wrote the beautiful words to a song sung by George Colvey Sunday evening at Millard avenue church. Mrs. Orton displays talent and all who heard the song hope to have the pleasure of hearing more of her work soon.
