Arleta News Notes

Avoy, with an all-star cast, in "The Truth About Husbands", and episode No. 2, "Velvet Fingers"; Wednesday, Tom Mix in "The Terror". As an added attraction that night the Woodmen's pyramid team will put on a special strong man's acrobatic stunt. This will be a big program and there will be no advance in prices; Thursday, "What Happened to Jones," with Bryant Washburn, also episode No. 2 of "Double Adventure."

Grammar School Track Meet

The city is divided into four sections for the preliminary grammar school track meet on May 13. The sections are west side, northwest, central east and southeast. R. R. Steele is leader of the southeast section and the meet will be on Franklin high grounds, with the following schools participating: Arleta, Clinton Kelly, Brooklyn, Creston, Dunaway, Hosford, Hudson, Joseph Kellogg, Lents, Lewellen, Richmond, Sellwood, Stephens, Woodmere and Woodstock.

The annual grammar school track and field meet will be held on Multnomah field, Friday afternoon, May 20, at 1:30. An admission fee of 10c will be charged. Gates open at 12:30 o'clock. There will be hurdle races for boys and girls, relay races for both, shuttle races for girls and tug of war for boys and various other races.

Little Girls Visit Old Folks Home

The following little girls of the junior department of Millard Ave. Sunday school, under the direction and care of Miss Alma Hollingworth and Miss Thelma Via, their teachers, took joy and pleasure and springtime into the lives of the folks in the old folks' home at Woodmere Monday afternoon. Ravishing, delightful May baskets and ice-cream cones were taken by the fair girls to the aged folk. Those who went: Harriet Weddle, Elizabeth Dillon, Alice Thomas, Margaret Ormandy, Leona Porter, Hazel Cox, Dorothy St. Johns, Francis Zehrunge, Ruth Knox, Margaret Skipworth, Syneva Markley, Dolores Atherton, Doris Denham, Treasa Laman, Bessie Baker, Mildred Robertson, Evelyn Hill, Dorothy Jackson, Leota Jones, Esther Carlson, La Verne Krutinger, Gladys Kuykendall, Jeanette Larsen, Fonda Parrott, Ann Whittelsey, Vera Stockdale.

Mothers' Day Observance

Mothers' Day is May 8--Sunday. It is celebrated on the second Sunday of May each year, in honor of motherhood. The visible manifestation of the event is the wearing of a white carnation, or at any rate, a white flower. Further celebrations are by appropriate services in the churches and Sunday schools and by family reunions.

The day was first suggested by Miss Anna Jarvis of Philadelphia. In a public meeting she voiced these sentiments: "In honor of the best mother that ever lived--your mother."

A special Mothers' Day program will be given at Millard Ave. church under the direction of the Christian Endeavor, Sunday evening at 6:30. Everyone is invited.

Social Circle Meets

The social circle of the Whitney Boy's Chorus met for their usual weekly rehearsal Tuesday night at Anabel Presbyterian church. F. H. Mixsell, who returned from the east this week, resumed his duties as the leader of singing. Forty-five members were present, four new ones being admitted last night. No one else may join the chorus until after the big concert at the auditorium early in June, at which time 500 boys will sing. Friday night of this week our boys will sing at the Methodist Episcopal church South, corner Union Avenue and Multnomah street and Sunday evening at Powell Valley Memorial church. We out here may waken up some day and realize the truth of the matter--that our local boys are the backbone of the big chorus.

Arleta Locals

James, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Ormandy of 7132 1/2 55th Avenue, was threatened with appendicitis last week and later developed a bronchial cough, which is keeping him in bed.

Mrs. Layton of 71st street and Cooper, who has been very ill for the past week, is convalescing nicely.

A man much the worse for booze was seen lying in the gutter on 54th Avenue early Monday evening. There is a "pig"-blind, of course--some where.

Mary, little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Taylor of 4929 78th street is absent from school on account of numps.

Mr. and Mrs. I. N. Woodie, who lived on the corner of 54th Avenue and 72nd street, have moved from there to a farm out in the country, where "grands" will work and care for the place. Mrs. Woodie is in very poor health and the change to farm life will be very beneficial.

Little Esther Ormandy visited Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Zehrunge the latter part of the week and is now enjoying life with her "grands" at 6212 90th street, during her

She Makes Wise Old Gotham Take Notice

NEW YORK.—The woman drove up to one of the biggest Fifth Avenue department stores in a gorgeous limousine, told "James" to wait, and strode straight to one of the department heads. Impressed by her beauty and nonchalant air, he offered to conduct her personally. Her mission was to select $5,000 worth of the most expensive sort of goods.

Having finished her purchases, the "distinguished shopper" suggested that she pay $500 on deposit, and "take the things along in my machine, you know." After a consultation, it was agreed to let one of the store detectives escort her—and the $5,000 worth of goods—to her home, which she said was in Flushing. "Home, James," she commanded the chauffeur. Off whizzed the limousine. But instead of driving to Flushing, the car was taken at top speed to Young's sanitarium, a place where inebriates are cared for.

"He back in a moment with my husband and soon one to carry the things inside," she sobbed out the detective.

Inside, she sobbed out her tale of woe. Her "poor dear husband," she said, was outside in her automobile,

"having one of those horrid fits, when he doesn't know who he is and what he is doing." Indeed, he thought he was a department store detective. She begged that poor hubby be taken inside and kept safe until the "attack" was over.

Out rushed two of the huskiest attendants of the sanitarium. The store sleuth tried to explain. The next moment the detective was carried inside, battling in vain.

No sooner had the trio disappeared behind the sanitarium door than the heroine slipped into the limousine and—that was the last seen of her, and of the sleuth. The detective became so violent that they had to put him in a padded cell. He was finally released at midnight.

mother's illness.

Mt. Scott Camp No. 11650, M. W. A., held its monthly social Wednesday evening at Woodmere hall, corner 77th street and 60th Avenue. The evening was open to all Modern Woodmen and their friends. Cards and dancing were the order of the evening.

Rev. and Mrs. Henry White entertained the following members of the Workers' Conference at their home in Woodmere Tuesday evening: Mrs. Fanny Dawson, Mrs. J. H. Zehrunge, the Misses Ford and the Misses Strang. Plans for children's day were discussed and the work of the Sunday school outlined.

Avon Dean, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Dean, 7719 60th Avenue, is very ill at his home. Reports are to the effect that he will be confined to his bed for several weeks more.

Mrs. E. B. Woodyard of Mt. Tabor, formerly of 7628 57th Avenue,

Woodmere, and very well known in this community, is reported to be very low at a Portland hospital. Her condition is such to cause her many friends grave worry and concern.

May is here. What more beautiful or interesting month? The majority of opinion thinks the month was named for "Maia," the Roman goddess of Spring and of increase. But some scholars believe that May is a shortened form of "Majores," "Majores," and that the month is so called because it was sacred to the older men, as June was sacred to the young men or "Juniores." In our time May is the fifth month of the year, but originally it was the third. When the Romans placed January and February at the beginning of the year it took its present place. The flower of the month is the Hawthorne, in England called the May flower. Its especial gem, the emerald.

Father, Mother, Baby and Mother-in-Law

METUCHEN, N. J.—Mr. and Mrs. George Neun were married less than three years ago. The arrival of the baby 18 months ago increased their happiness. The young husband suggested they live with his mother here until his bride and the baby were stronger. Here is what followed, as she narrated it to Recorder Weber, when she asked for separate maintenance from her husband and the custody of the baby:

"From the day we went there, my mother-in-law never allowed me to touch my child. She would not let me hold the little fellow or bathe him, or care for him in any way. She would not let me caress him once, or even kiss him as he slept.

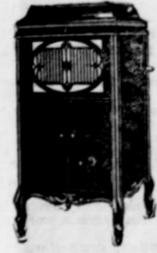

"She thought modern girls were not fit to be mothers and rear children. My mother-in-law had five children of her own. I do not understand why she should envy me my little one. She treats it very kindly, to be sure. "But George, Jr., is my baby, not her's. I do not want him brought up a stranger to his mother. I do not want his love diverted to any other woman. I just had to leave and fight for my son."

The young husband stood beside his wife as she spoke and made no denial. Recorder Weber directed that the baby be returned to its mother and that Neun make sufficient allowance to provide for both. Neun returned to his mother's home. Mrs. Neun looked after him, weeping. She said: "When I find an apartment I will live with my baby. If my husband wishes to come with us, we will be glad to have him; but baby and I will not be separated any longer, no matter what happens."

Don't Let Mother Know This Secret--

May 8th is the day to surprise her with this--

BRUNSWICK

Your mother has heard, no doubt, of the Mothers' Day Club, but she has no idea whether you are one of the members. But a great many mothers are wondering.

We don't intend to give the secret away here. A good many sons and daughters now belong to the Mothers' Day Club and are preparing to give their Mothers a big surprise.

It all centers around a surprise for Mother and an easy way for you to give her that surprise.

It includes numerous features aside from presenting her with a wonderful Brunswick No. 112 and a special collection of Records.

To take part in the advantages of Mothers' Day Club, the first step is to come in and ascertain the details—the secrets we can't publish. As the time is short, we suggest an early visit.
