EVANGELICAL CHURCH

The losing side in the Y. P. A. contests entertained the winning side with a wienie and marshmallow roast on Friday night. About 45 young people met on the vacant lot on the corner of 90th street and Woodstock avenue, where they passed the time playing lively outdoor games and consuming the good things.

A very impressive baptismal service was conducted Sunday afternoon by the pastor about four miles from Lents on Johnson Creek.

Our Sunday school is planning to join all the other Evangelical Sunday schools of the city in a picnic at Jennings Lodge July 4. It was agreed at the picnic last year that this should be an annual affair, so it is expected that there will be a large attendance.

The annual campmeeting of the Holiness association will be held at E. 33rd and E. Mason streets from July 21 to 31. The principal speakers will be Dave Hill and Chas. Stalker. Immediately following this meeting, from Aug. 2 to 12th the annual campmeeting of the Evangelical association will be held at Jennings Lodge. The first two days will be given to the W. M. S. for a convention.

The annual children's day program will be held Sunday night at eight o'clock. The program is being arranged by Mrs. Heddin with the assistance of the teachers of the school.

ST. PETER'S CATHOLIC

Beginning next Sunday masses on Sundays will be at 7 and 9 o'clock. The American Association for the Recognition of the Irish Republic, was formally established by the state organizer on May 26th, with a charter membership of 33. Dr. P. J. O'Donnell was unanimously elected president. Chester Cieslinski vice president, George Burns secretary and W. Bohland treasurer. Meetings nights will be the first and third Thursdays.

A goodly number of men and women met Tuesday night to formulate a program for the Fourth of July, when the annual dinner will be given by the parish.

The Rev. P. Beutgen passed away Monday morning after an illness of 18 months. Rev. Beutgen's missionary labors had taken him all over the state and the last was the establishment of St. Peter's parish, Lents. Funeral arrangements were not made at time of writing.

Father O'Flynn returned from the headquarters of Deep Creep Thursday after three days fishing, with a fish basket, after catching the legal limit each day. Dr. O'Donnell is showing a photograph of himself in fishing attire with a long line of fish in his hand, which fish he got, not caught, at the parish rectory.

SEVENTH DAY ADVENTISTS CRESTON CAMP MEETING

The annual camp meeting of Seventh-Day Adventists opened Saturday to continue until June 19 at Creston park. Favorable weather conditions made the speedy completion of accommodations at the park possible, and all was in readiness for the opening Electric lights, grocery, cafeteria, book store, telephone booths, public reception and rest tents were installed for the many visitors attending from different parts of the state and Washington.

Preaching services are held three times daily in the pavilion pitched in the center of the camp, said to seat comfortably about 2500 people.

In addition to this main pavilion there are a number of smaller meeting pavilions for the different kinds of work to be conducted. Speakers of national reputation from the east, middle west and south are attending this meeting. Arthur G. Daniels, world president of Seventh-Day Adventists, preacher and author of great ability, will be in Portland and will bring a most interesting series of messages dealing with problems of national and international interest. He will describe from his own personal observation the conditions which he has found in Europe and other parts of the world.

Ministers and gospel workers from the northwest and local fields are also in attendance to take a leading part in the speaking. The music is featured at each preaching service, directed by Professor I. C. Coleord of Portland.

LIMITATIONS DO NOT LIMIT

We all have our limitations, but few of us realize when we have reached them.

The average American is a peculiar individual. An obstacle may seem mountain high to him, but he has an inherent objection to acknowledging that it is insurmountable. The apparently impossible only whets his determination to conquer.

G. A. R. EXPRESS THANKS

In behalf of Reuben Wilson post, I wish to thank all those who assisted us in decorating the G. A. R. graves on Memorial Day, also thank those who furnished autos to and from the graves. We are too feeble to walk that distance, so we feel very thankful to those who so kindly provided transportation. In behalf of the post I wish to thank the principals and scholars of Lents and Woodmere schools for the fine and patriotic entertainment they gave the post and circle on May 26 and 27. What the schools did then and the patriotic recitations they gave will never be forgotten.

Again thanking you all. John Walrod, Commander.

HERE AND THERE ABOUT THE CITY

Little Items of Interest to Herald Readers Called From All Over the Rose City.

The city ministerial association met Monday at the Y. M. C. A. in regular monthly meeting. It was decided to leave it with the churches as to whether or not Billy Sunday should be called to hold a series of meetings in the near future. Rev. Constance, of the Highland Congregational, was elected president of the association for the ensuing year.

Rev. McLaren of Portland Commons was threatened with a ducking at McMinnville Sunday night, when he endeavored to express his views at a public meeting on the dance question, which was to be voted on Tuesday. Mr. McLaren was rescued by the town marshal and others and given an opportunity to leave town. Later the election decided by a vote of over two to one to regulate public dances rather than forbid them, as Mr. McLaren and others advocated. The peppery little Scotchman has a heart as big as an ox but sometimes his zeal gets off on the wrong foot and by his indiscrete remarks overshoots the mark and makes enemies, with the result that the work of the more practical workers for good are handicapped in their efforts.

Complete returns from 238 precincts out of 413 in Multnomah county show that the soldiers' bonus and loan bill is carrying by more than three to one. Notwithstanding the widespread effect this measure will have upon the taxpayers of the state and all of the former service men, there was approximately only 40 per cent of the registered vote cast.

The fire apparatus bond proposition on the city ballot was defeated by a vote of almost three to one. For the terminal measure, providing for the vacating of certain streets, the vote was three to one in favor.

From returns available to the Herald when we go to press this week, a little earlier than usual because of the Rose Festival, it appears that the veterans bonus and loan amendment and emergency veto measure easily carried; the sixty-day legislative proposition and the hygienic marriage bill have lost and the women's jury bill, a reasonable measure, is in doubt.

Alexander Miller, a gypsy swain, is alleged to have decamped with a daughter of "Gypsy George" and $500 belonging to the father of the young gypsy girl and the police of Portland are searching for the elopers. According to the father, the money was to have paid for ten licenses at $50 each permitting the women of the tribe to tell fortunes in the city. After getting the money he found the city hall to be closed and went back to the camp with the cash in his pocket. The money, girl and Miller disappeared simultaneously, George said.

Miss Esther Carlson, a stenographer, 34 years old, died Tuesday morning at St. Vincent's hospital as a result of a self-inflicted gunshot wound directly below the heart. Miss Carlson shot herself, apparently with suicidal intent, last Friday night in a Portland law office, where she was employed as a stenographer. No reason for her act could be given by friends of the young woman. The body was removed to the morgue and officials are seeking to communicate with relatives in Colorado.

Prowlers who broke into the Fifth Scientist church, 4224 62nd street, Monday night, procured nothing more valuable than an old typewriter, according to a report filed with the police Tuesday. A desk was broken open and an effort made to get into a strong box, without success.

The "Gladway" is the name of the American Legion carnival which opened this week in Portland. It occupies three blocks on Eleventh street, starting at the armory. The streets have been roped off and there is plenty of room for everyone to walk about and view the concessions. Electric lights have been strung in attractive colors. There are many attractions, including a country store.

Police searching for a gambling den under North Fourth street were forced to wade ankle-deep through the Willamette's overflow but their search under No. 35 of that street was rewarded by the finding of Nick Lee and ten followers of the fickle goddess of chance. Fantan was the game and the men played back of barred doors.

Ed Wickham, a farmer, drove up to the police station Tuesday and invited the officers out to see what he had in his farm wagon parked outside the door. The surprised police found in the wagon, hog-tied and helpless, one of the genus 'hobo' captured by Mr. Wickham and his hired man early Tuesday morning and tied up for safe keeping. The captive is said to have been helping himself to milk and cream when taken.

Triel of the sensational suit of the board of school trustees of the Episcopal diocese of Oregon against Dr. A. A. Morrison, rector of the Trinity Episcopal church, started in the circuit court Wednesday morning, after two years delay in the local temples of justice. The charge is that Dr. Morrison, through another, sold to the board of which he was at the time a member land worth not more than $10,000 for $25,000.

William Welch, son of County Assessor Welch, captured a burglar at work when he returned home late on Monday night. When Welch ordered the prowler to come downstairs the latter complied but showed a gun in Welch's face and locked him up. Then the bold bad man beat it, without, however, getting away with anything.

Strong opposition to the proposed ordinance to license and regulate fortune telling, palmistry, phrenology, spiritualists and other practices has developed, it is said, from the First Spiritualist church. The ordinance interferes with religious liberty, it is claimed. The spiritualists have no objection to curbing the fakery but believe that as the measure is drawn it will curb the freedom of the church.

"Mysterious" Billy Smith, ex-weight champion pugilist of the world, who conducts a soft drink parlor on Third street, was shot through the hand in a brawl in a cafe on Russell street Tuesday night. No one in the place would tell how the wound was caused or who inflicted it. The injured man claimed that he had lost a watch and some money in the affair.

E. Waldorf, member of a Southern Pacific construction crew, stationed at Third and Miles streets, engaged a prowler in a desperate struggle in front of a railroad toolhouse in that district early Tuesday morning after he had surprised the burglar in the act of robbing the place. Waldorf told the police he cut his unidentified assailant badly about the face and hands during the course of the struggle. It is said the combatants rolled down two 50-foot embankments before the crook tore loose and made his escape. Police believe the man was after tools with which to burglarize buildings.

CLARENCE O'NEIL WINS FIVE DOLLARS MORE

Williamson Bros. is the name selected for next week's missing letter contest. The business firm mentioned recently moved to 7004 82nd street, where they are engaged in furnishing the people of that locality with high-class merchandise at reasonable prices. Find the missing letters which go to make up the name and send it in with your votes.
