

20th Century Grocers 16 STORES

.....Tremendously Important Facts.....

Unemployment, lowering of value of farm and manufactured products, loss of business confidence, high taxes, high rentals—these and many other conditions have brought about situations that vitally affect everyone. It might be called a "profitless age" through which we are passing.

The greatest care in the handling of family and individual finance should be used now. 20th CENTURY methods are individual. They are alone in the fact that the 20th CENTURY is the only institution of any importance in this section that have priced all their goods on an f.o.b. store basis. No guessing is ever done about adding cost of delivery service or charge service. Each and every dollar spent at these stores buys merchandise. This, in our mind, is the fair way to cash buyers.

Arleta News Notes

Mrs. McCarty of Gresham was run down by a tourist car recently. She received a cut above the knee which required sixteen stitches to close. Her daughter, Mrs. Nellie Coffin of 8815 67th avenue, was called to attend her.

Mrs. Ward Swope, state general secretary of the Christian church, delivered a missionary address at McMinnville Sunday, in the First Christian church of that place.

Mrs. C. P. Blanchard will speak at the lecture hour of Lents Grange on Saturday, on the political, economic, educational and religious observations on their trip over the continent this last spring.

Mrs. S. E. Crum and daughter Gladys, together with her brother, Frank Tubandt, of Airlie, Oregon, has gone to Redfield, South Dakota, to visit her father and mother. They went by auto. Mr. Crum received a letter from them saying that they had arrived at their destination and that it took a week to drive through. They reported fairly good roads, except in Montana.

On July 31 Miss Florence Marie came to make her home with Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Fishburn of 42nd avenue and 63rd street. It goes without saying that she was quite welcome.

The Arleta W. C. T. U. held their picnic Tuesday at Kennilworth park. After luncheon they visited the Odd-fellows cemetery, where they laid to rest each inmate, of which there were 70, a buttonhole bouquet and a treat of home-made candy.

Born, to Mr. and Mrs. O. W. Layson, of 7311 53rd avenue, on July 7, a son, with Dr. Nelson in attendance. The Herald is a little late with this item, but better late than never.

Born, to Mr. and Mrs. Fred Reese, on July 20th, a baby girl, Dr. W. T. Stout in attendance.

Mrs. V. V. Cantrell of Aahland, Oregon, is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Fred Reese, of 7125 64th avenue.

Quite a little excitement in our community Tuesday. The house of Mrs. Carrie Foland of 3319 61st street, caught fire from the stove, after she had left for Simon's store, where she is an employee, and before the fire company could get on the scene the house was gutted. McKin, sister of Mrs. Foland, who is visiting her from Fresno, Cal., was in the house when the fire started. The furniture was saved but the bedding and clothing was ruined by smoke and water. There was a small amount of insurance.

The Evening Star grange held their regular meeting last Saturday. Col. "Bob" Miller delivered the principal address; topic: "Republic or Empire—Which?" He is an impressive speaker and hits the nail on the head in every sentence. Mrs. Miller of Fairview grange gave two interesting readings. Miss Gladys Johnson played on the violin. There were others on the program but we were unable to learn their names.

PACIFIC COAST RESCUE SOCIETY NEEDS HELP

The following communication is self-explanatory:

To the Editor: For many years, through the kindly offices of the press, we have been able to make an appeal to the public for canned fruit and vegetables to be sent to the Louise Home for girls, and for the older children at the Albertina Kerr Nursery.

We have now 144 mouths to feed three times a day. It is a big task. Inasmuch as we answer calls from girls and babies in distress from every part of the state, it calls for state-wide interest. The allowance made us by state aid provision does not begin to meet the expenses of the upkeep of the homes in our care.

It is our aim to give these girls and babies, who often come to us in a run-down and under-nourished condition, wholesome food, of which fruit and vegetables form a large part.

Will you kindly make a strong appeal through your paper to the women of church organizations, women's clubs, canning clubs, Junior Red Cross societies, Camp Fire girls, as well as interested individuals, to get together and send us a shipment. Fruit, vegetables, potatoes and eggs are needed. We use fourteen dozen eggs a week for the babies alone.

Address, Pacific Coast Rescue and Protective Society, 195 Burnside St., Portland, Oregon.

We will gladly pay the freight and will also send jars, rubbers, tops, etc., upon request.

With much appreciation for your kindness and interest, I am, respectfully,
W. G. McLAREN,
General Supt.

LITTLE-CAMPBELL

An item which the Herald missed inadvertently was the Little Campbell wedding, an account of which follows:

On Saturday evening, July 9, at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Effie Campbell, 6827 55th avenue, Myrtle Effie Campbell became the bride of Hubert Wm. Little of McMinnville. Dr. White of the Millard Avenue Presbyterian church was the officiating clergyman.

The bride wore a white satin dress, the overdress being of hand embroidered silk net, brought from Manila, P. I., by her brother, Capt. J. C. Campbell, who was stationed there during the world war in the dental service.

Mrs. Little was for two years a student at Eugene, and for some time prior to her marriage an employe of Ladd & Tilton bank, in the transit department.

Mr. Little was a student at O. A. C., and served in the flash and sound division of the 116th Engineers in France. He is now engaged in business with an uncle at McMinnville, where the young couple are making their home.

The best wishes of their many friends go with them for a happy and prosperous married life.

House of Historic Interest.

One of the features of the twenty-first anniversary of the landing of the Pilgrims, to be held at Plymouth, will be the opening to the public of the William Harlowe house, built in 1677. This is one of the few buildings now remaining which stood within the lifetime of any of those who came on the Mayflower, and it has a particular interest owing to the fact that it was framed with oak timbers from the old fort, which, as Winslow relates, "was built in 1622 on the top of the hill under which the town was located."

After King Philip's war, when danger from Indian depredations had passed, the fort was dismantled and the timbers sold to Sergt. William Harlowe, a man of prominence in the colony, who used them in the construction of his house on the ancient highway where it still stands.

Attention!

An "information" table has been set up in the east end of the corridor of the federal building, relates the Indianapolis News. M. P. Bonham, assistant custodian, has placed the table there with a watchman in attendance, in order that the patrons of the post office and other offices in the building may be directed with the least possible delay.

John C. Peters, watchman, was the first to take charge of the table. The first person who stopped at the table pointed to the sign "information," and asked:

"Does that mean what it says?"

"Sure," said Peters.

"Well, then, will you please tell me where I can get a good grade of 'white mule'?"

"Right here in this building," said Peters, "if you have the proper credentials."

Mines Still Causing Disaster.

It is said that about twenty English and French fishing boats have mysteriously disappeared during the time since the ending of the war, and it is thought that these disappearances may be accounted for by unwittingly bringing up a mine with their haul. It is said to be impossible to detect the presence of a mine in the net, for the reason that it is covered with the fish and seaweed, but when it is dumped out on the deck or in the hold of the vessel, there is likely to be an explosion that will send all on board to eternity.

FLY CASTERS TO MEET: LOCAL MAN RANKS HIGH

The Multnomah Anglers' club team entered in the national bait and fly casters' tournament to be staged at the Sellwood pool August 19, 20, 21 and 22 gathered Sunday morning at 9 a.m. for practice in preparation for the national events. Marvin K. Hedge of the Lents Hardware Co. finished second in five events, which gave him the high average.

Although peerless fly and bait casters are entered from the various sections of the United States in the local tournament, members of the Multnomah Anglers' club team are optimistic. Some of the prizes may find a home in Portland. It is believed that Black, McFarland and Hedge will be among those contesting for final honors in the accuracy bait and fly events.

Arrangements for the tournament are now about complete, according to Jack Herman, who is chairman of the committee in charge and captain of the M. A. club's team. The grounds and targets are now ready for the first event of the tournament. Programs containing a complete list of prizes and events will be ready for distribution in a few days.

Plans are under way, it is said, for the organization of a fly casters' club in Lents next year.

STATE FAIR GROUNDS TO BE POPULAR SPOT

The programme for the Oregon state fair for 1921, September 26-October 1, will be largely influenced by the fact that this year marks the 16th anniversary of the annual event. More than ever before the week's gathering will partake of the nature of a big homecoming, with pioneers and sons and daughters of pioneers meeting on the old camp ground that adjoins the state fair grounds in the capital city. This famous camping spot has almost become hallowed ground, through its years of service as a reunion place of the men and women who helped to make Oregon and western history.

Everything concerning the forthcoming event points to the largest and best state fair in the state's history. Already nearly every foot of space in the old and new buildings have been taken by exhibitors and it is anticipated that the eleventh hour demand will find the buildings inadequate to handle all the exhibits.

CLEAN LOTS DEMANDED BY CITY AUTHORITIES

Chief of Police Jenkins has issued strict orders to all patrolmen to arrest citizens who do not clean the grass and rubbish from vacant lots. Fully a dozen fires were extinguished during Saturday afternoon by firemen. Two of them were of considerable size. One was on 60th street between East Taylor and East Salmon streets, where the full block was burned off. The second was at Denver avenue and Columbia boulevard.

MIRACLE DRAWS FINE

Arrested for reckless driving, H. E. Miracle of south 92nd street, was fined $15 in police court Tuesday afternoon. Miracle was steering a car which was being towed, and struck and injured Mrs. Edith M. Barker at 88th street and Foster Road, on July 29. An account of the accident was published in the Herald last week. Miracle, it is said, became confused when the woman appeared in the street in front of his car and steered it into her.

MT. SCOTT FOLK WERE WRECKED STEAMER ALASKA

When the big steamer "Alaska" foundered after striking the jagged rocks of Bluffs reef, she had on board several Mt. Scott folk. As news as can be learned, none were lost, although one was reported early in the week as missing.

Douglas Martin, second assistant engineer, lives at 5627 87th street. He has served in the same capacity on several shipping board steamers and in the privately-owned fleet of the Northwest Fisheries company, operating between Seattle and Alaska. He had been a shipmate of Captain Hovey of the Alaska on several vessels. Martin is unmarried.

H. W. Erickson, 6531 62nd avenue, was listed among the missing in earlier reports of the disaster. Since then nothing has been published and as his name does not appear on the list of known dead or missing, it is presumed he is safe.

Michael Maher, 7330 Powell Valley road, was among those saved. So was Forrest Sutsie of 6422 60th St. It is believed that these four comprised all of the Mt. Scott people on board. One family had contemplated traveling on her for a trip to California, but changed their plans, and left at an earlier date, for which they are now very thankful.

BONUS BONDS TO BE READY IN LATE OCTOBER

Oregon bonds, with which to derive funds to meet the demands of a service men under the so-called bonus act passed at the last session of the legislature and approved by the vote of a special election held last May, probably will be ready for solicitation of bids late in October. This was announced last week by Captain Brumbach, who has charge of the Salem offices of the bonus commission. Mr. Brumbach said the commission had not yet determined the amount of the initial issue of bonds, but that the total securities to be sold would aggregate approximately $30,000,000. Under the legislative act, approved by the voters, these bonds may be voted in an amount not to exceed 3 per cent of the assessed valuation of all taxable property in the state. Reports received by the commission recently indicate that the bond market is steadily improving, and that by October the demand for these securities will be even greater than at the present time. The rate of interest to be paid on these bonds will be determined by the bonus commission, and probably will fluctuate in conformity with general financial market conditions.

RECOMMENDED JACKSON; PETITION IS REJECTED

A petition signed by 166 well known persons, including judges, business men and attorneys, recommending the appointment of D. D. Jackson as superintendent of Multnomah county farm, was rejected by the county commissioners this week. Jackson has served as superintendent of the farm for about ten years. The petition, which was presented by James F. Alexander, said that the undersigned "understood that the board is contemplating a change in management for Multnomah farm, one reason for which being the heavy increase in the cost of operating the farm—94 per cent since 1913."

HOUSE BURNS WHILE OWNER ATTENDS CHURCH

The five-room house on 55th avenue near 110th street, owned by Mrs. Eva Clark, burned to the ground Sunday at about noon. The dwelling, which is about a half-mile outside of the city limits, was recently moved from up on the 92nd street hill to the location at which it was destroyed.

Mrs. Clark, who is a widow, was at church, and her son was away on business. The fire probably originated around the chimney, and the gable was in flames when the fire was discovered. A call was sent to Station 31, at Kern Park, it is said, but they failed to respond.

Neighbors formed a bucket brigade and carried water from nearby houses. A small hose was secured and everything possible done to save the home, without avail. John Rausch, who was injured in a runaway accident some time ago, lives next door, and 50 cords of wood were piled in close proximity to his place. The flames seriously menaced his home, but by strenuous labor, loss to him was averted.

When Mrs. Clark returned her home was in ashes. The neighbors saved most of her furniture and personal effects and she will rebuild at once. The property was insured, it is said. Mrs. Clark came here from Idaho about a year ago.

FOSTER ROAD SEWER TO BE STARTED IN A WEEK

Actual construction work on the Foster Road sewer—famous because of the size of the project and the long and spirited contest over it—will be started within a week or ten days. J. F. Shea, the contractor, states that all the material has been ordered and the first deliveries will be made along the sewer route by the end of this week.

A period of seven months is allowed in the contract for the completion of the work, and Shea states that he is certain he will be able to finish it well within that time, as he expects to keep crews working right through the winter.

The earth is of such formation, he says, that it will be possible to continue work even in the rainy weather and without much discomfort to the men.

Lumber deliveries are due to begin at once. A clamshell digger is also supposed to be ready now and a second will follow soon thereafter, while a steam shovel from the east is due to arrive in a week. All these will be used constantly on the construction work, which is to extend from 62nd street to 92nd street. After the work is well under way a crew of at least 200 men will be used.

The contract price for this work is $319,911.49, or $18,723 less than the original bid of Mr. Shea on the job, and approximately $91,000 less than the original estimate of the city auditor, made when prices of materials and labor were much higher than at present. The saving to the assessed property of the $18,723 on the original bid was made when Mr. Shea agreed to meet the offer of a supplementary bid made by another contractor.

CARD OF THANKS

We desire to extend our sincere and heartfelt thanks to the many friends who so kindly assisted us at the time of our bereavement and for the many floral tributes at the funeral of our beloved son and brother, Reuben A. Morterud.
